Jejak Langkah By Pramoedya Ananta Toer:

Footsteps Pramoedya Ananta Toer, 1996-05-01 As the world moves into the twentieth century Minke one of the few European educated Javanese optimistically starts a new life in a new town Betawi With his enrollment in medical school and the opportunity to meet new people there is every reason to believe that he can leave behind the tragedies of the past But Minke can no more escape his past than he can escape his situation as part of an oppressed people under a foreign power As his world begins to fall apart Minke draws a small but fervent group around him to fight back against colonial exploitation During the struggle Minke finds love friendship and betrayal with tragic consequences And he goes from wanting to understand his world to wanting to change it Pramoedya's full literary genius is again evident in the remarkable characters that populate the novel and in his depiction of a people's painful emergence from colonial domination and the shackles of tradition

The Long Space Peter Hitchcock, 2009-12-01 The resurgence of world literature as a category of study seems to coincide with what we understand as globalization but how does postcolonial writing fit into this picture Beyond the content of this novel or that what elements of postcolonial fiction might challenge the assumption that its main aim is to circulate native information globally The Long Space provides a fresh look at the importance of postcolonial writing by examining how it articulates history and place both in content and form Not only does it offer a new theoretical model for understanding decolonization's impact on duration in writing but through a series of case studies of Guyanese Somali Indonesian and Algerian writers it urges a more protracted engagement with time and space in postcolonial narrative Although each writer Wilson Harris Nuruddin Farah Pramoedya Ananta Toer and Assia Djebar explores a unique understanding of postcoloniality each also makes a more general assertion about the difference of time and space in decolonization Taken together they herald a transnationalism beyond the contaminated coordinates of globalization as currently construed

Sacred Language, Vernacular Difference Annette Damayanti Lienau, 2024-01-09 How Arabic influenced the evolution of vernacular literatures and anticolonial thought in Egypt Indonesia and Senegal Sacred Language Vernacular Difference offers a new understanding of Arabic's global position as the basis for comparing cultural and literary histories in countries separated by vast distances By tracing controversies over the use of Arabic in three countries with distinct colonial legacies Egypt Indonesia and Senegal the book presents a new approach to the study of postcolonial literatures anticolonial nationalisms and the global circulation of pluralist ideas Annette Damayanti Lienau presents the largely untold story of how Arabic often understood in Africa and Asia as a language of Islamic ritual and precolonial commerce assumed a transregional role as an anticolonial literary medium in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries By examining how major writers and intellectuals across several generations grappled with the cultural asymmetries imposed by imperial Europe Lienau shows that Arabic as a cosmopolitan interethnic and interreligious language complicated debates over questions of indigeneity religious pluralism counter imperial nationalisms and emerging nation states Unearthing parallels from West Africa to

Southeast Asia Sacred Language Vernacular Difference argues that debates comparing the status of Arabic to other languages challenged not only Eurocentric but Arabocentric forms of ethnolinguistic and racial prejudice in both local and global terms Producing Indonesia Eric Tagliacozzo, 2014-02-26 The 26 scholars contributing to this volume have helped shape the field of Indonesian studies over the last three decades They represent a broad geographic background Indonesia the Netherlands the United Kingdom Australia the United States Canada and have studied in a wide array of key disciplines anthropology history linguistics and literature government and politics art history and ethnomusicology Together they reflect on the arc of our field the development of Indonesian studies over recent tumultuous decades They consider what has been achieved and what still needs to be accomplished as they interpret the groundbreaking works of their predecessors and colleagues This volume is the product of a lively conference sponsored by Cornell University with contributions revised following those interactions Not everyone sees the development of Indonesian studies in the same way Yet one senses and this collection confirms that disagreements among its practitioners have fostered a vibrant resilient intellectual community Contributors discuss photography and the creation of identity the power of ethnic pop music cross border influences on Indonesian contemporary art violence in the margins and the shadows inherent in Indonesian literature These various perspectives illuminate a diverse nation in flux and provide direction for its future exploration

Writing the Past,

Inscribing the Future Nancy K. Florida, 1995 Located at the juncture of literature history and anthropology Writing the Past Inscribing the Future charts a strategy of how one might read a traditional text of non Western historical literature in order to generate with it an opening for the future This book does so by taking seriously a haunting work of historical prophecy inscribed in the nineteenth century by a royal Javanese exile working through this writing of a colonized past to suggest the reconfiguration of the postcolonial future that this history itself apparently intends After introducing the colonial and postcolonial orientalist projects that would fix the meaning of traditional writing in Java Nancy K Florida provides a nuanced translation of this particular traditional history a history composed in poetry as the dream of a mysterious exile She then undertakes a richly textured reading of the poem that discloses how it manages to escape the fixing of tradition Adopting a dialogic strategy of reading Florida writes to extend as the work s Javanese author demands this history s prophetic potential into a more global register Babad Jaka Tingkir the historical prophecy that Writing the Past Inscribing the Future translates and reads is uniquely suited for such a study Composing an engaging history of the emergence of Islamic power in central Java around the turn of the sixteenth century Babad Jaka Tingkir was written from the vantage of colonial exile to contest the more dominant dynastic historical traditions of nineteenth century court literature Florida reveals how this history s episodic form and focus on characters at the margins of the social order work to disrupt the genealogical claims of conventional royal historiography thus prophetically to open the possibility of an alternative future

Literature as Translation/Translation as Literature Christopher

Conti,James Gourley,2014-03-17 Broadly conceived literature consists of aesthetic and cultural processes that can be thought of as forms of translation By the same token translation requires the sort of creative or interpretive understanding usually associated with literature Literature as Translation Translation as Literature explores a number of themes centred on this shared identity of literature and translation as creative acts of interpretation and understanding The metaphor or motif of translation is the touchstone of this volume which looks at how an expanded idea of translation sheds light not just on features of literary composition and reception but also on modes of intercultural communication at a time when the pressures of globalization threaten local cultures with extinction The theory of ethical translation that has emerged in this context which fosters the practice of preserving the foreignness of the text at the risk of its misunderstanding bears relevance beyond current debates about world literature to the framing of contemporary social issues by dominant discourses like medicine as one contributor's study of the growing autism rights movement reveals The systematizing imperatives of translation that forcibly assimilate the foreign to the familiar like the systematizing imperatives of globalization are resisted in acts of creative understanding in which the particular or different finds sanctuary The overlooked role that the foreign word plays in the discourses that constitute subjectivity and national culture comes to light across the variegated concerns of this volume Contributions range from case studies of the emancipatory role translation has played in various historical and cultural contexts to the study of specific literary works that understand their own aesthetic processes and the interpretive and communicative processes of meaning more generally as forms of translation Several contributors including the English translators of Roberto Bolaño and Hans Blumenberg were prompted in their reflections on the creative and interpretive process of translation by their own accomplished work as translators All are animated by the conviction that translation whether regarded as the creative act of understanding of one culture by another as the agent of political and social transformation as the source of new truths in foreign linguistic environments and not just the bearer of established ones or as the limit of conceptuality outlined in the silhouette of the untranslatable is a creative cultural force of the first importance
