Emil Salim, Ola Ullsten, World Commission on Forests and Sustainable Development, 1999-04-15
Forests are extraordinary in their contribution to the basic human need for environmental stability and security as well as in their contribution to the livelihood of many. The World Commission on Forests and Sustainable Development (WCFS) through its unique makeup and independent nature has been able to address the most significant issues surrounding the world's forests in a manner not possible for any other body or institution. By convening public hearings all over the world to give voice to those who depend on forests and by engaging itself in the politics of the issues at the highest levels, the WCFS has endeavored to address fundamental and serious concerns. This report, representing the culmination of these efforts, discusses forest practices, politics, and policies and the social situations which they create or perpetuate and presents the Commission's findings, conclusions, and recommendations. Journal of the Senate of the United States of America

Atsushi Yoshimoto, Kiyoshi Yukutake, 2013-11-11
This book is a collection of papers presented at the international symposium on forest sector analysis held in Miyazaki, Japan, in 1998. It is structured with three themes: understanding global forest sector issues; discussing the contribution of modeling efforts to forest sector analysis; and discussing the role of Japanese forest policy in a global sense. The most important features are the case studies using various types of forest sector models. From a modeling perspective, changes in modeling efforts include more detail of spatial and multiple market levels, intergenerational welfare concerns, non-market valuation issues, and explicit treatment of the uncertainty inherent in both the policy process and in the biophysical systems. The reader of this book will benefit not only from presentation of forest utilization issues in different nations but also from the interrelatedness of the theory and application of forest sector modeling. Wood Utilization, 2007
Wood utilisation research and product development spans a broad spectrum of activities. These activities fall into five categories: harvesting wood; properties; manufacturing and processing; products and testing; and economics and marketing. This book deals with the US federal input in this field. Federal Funding Sources for Rural Areas
