Thomas Farmer, John Cook, 2013-01-12 An introduction to the principles of climate change science with an emphasis on the empirical evidence for climate change and a warming world Additional readings are given at the end of each chapter A list of Things to Know opens each chapter Chapters are arranged so that the student is first introduced to the scientific method s examples of the use of the scientific method from other sciences drawn from the history of science with an emphasis on climate science Climate science is treated in each chapter based on the premise of global warming Chapter treatments on the atmosphere biosphere geosphere hydrosphere and anthroposphere and their inter relationships are given The Cognitive Psychology of Climate Change Patrik Sörqvist, John E. Marsh, 2019-09-19 Climate change is one of society s great challenges The scientific community agrees that human activity is to a large degree responsible for these changes and efforts to promote more sustainable behaviors and lifestyles often backfire People travel for longer distances when driving a vehicle that uses a sustainable energy source they purchase organic food as a means to be environmentally friendly without necessarily reducing other means of consumption and those who deliberately change their behavior to be more environmentally friendly in one area often start behaving environmentally irresponsibly in another Environmentally harmful behavior and decision making often have their roots in cognitive biases and cognitive inabilities to properly understand climate change issues to understand the effects of one s own behavior on the environment and other means by which thinking and reasoning about climate change issues are biased Climate Change 1995: The Science of Climate Change Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, 1996-06-06 Climatic changes air pollution greenhouse gas emissions Estimating Climate Change Impacts from Atmospheric Circulation Patterns and Air Masses Scott Christopher Sheridan, 2009 Boreal Forest and Climate Change Pertti Hari, Liisa Kulmala, 2008-09-24 The Forest Primary Production Research Group was born in the Department of Silviculture University of Helsinki in the early 1970s Intensive field measurements of photosynthesis and growth of forest vegetation and use of dynamic models in the interpretation of the results were characteristic of the research in the group Electric instrumentation was based on analogue techniques and the analysis of the obtained measurements was based on self written programs Joint research projects with the Research Group of Environmental Physics at the Department of Physics lead by Taisto Raunemaa 1939 2006 started in the late 1970s The two research groups shared the same quantitative methodology which made the co operation fruitful Since 1980 until the collapse of the Soviet Union the Academy of Finland and the Soviet Academy of Sciences had a co operation program which included our team The research groups in Tartu Estonia lead by Juhan Ross 1925 2002 and in Petrozavodsk lead by Leo Kaipiainen 1932 2004 were involved on the Soviet side We had annual field measuring campaigns in Finland and in Soviet Union and research seminars The main emphasis was on developing forest growth models The research of Chernobyl fallout started a new era in the co operation between forest ecologists and physicists in Helsinki

The importance of material fluxes was realized and introduced explicitly in the theoretical thinking and measurements

One Million Years of Anthropogenic Global Environmental Change J. E. van Hinte, 1997 Effects of Climate Change on Birds Peter O. Dunn, Anders Pape Møller, 2019 This new edition provides an exhaustive and up to date synthesis of the rapidly expanding literature on birds and climate change The Impact of Climatic Variations on Agriculture M.L. Parry, T.R. Carter, N.T. Konijn, 2013-11-27 Three important studies were initiated in the 1970s to investigate the relationship between climatic variations and agriculture by the National Defense University 1980 on Crop Yields and Climate Change to the Year 2000 by the U.S. Department of Transportation 1975 on Impacts of Climatic Change on the Biosphere and by the U.S. Department of Energy 1980 on Environmental and Societal Consequences of a Possible CO₂ Induced Climatic Change the CLAP 2 study These were pioneering projects in a young field Their emphasis was on measuring likely impacts of climatic variations rather than on evaluating possible responses and they focused on first order impacts e.g. on crop yields rather than on higher order effects on society A logical next step was to look at higher order effects and potential responses as part of a more integrated approach to impact assessment This was undertaken by the World Climate Impact Program WCIP which is directed by the United Nations Environment Program UNEP The WCIP is one of four aspects of the World Climate Program that was initiated in 1979 At a meeting in 1982 the Scientific Advisory Committee of WCIP accepted in broad terms a proposal from the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis IIASA for an integrated climate impact assessment with the proviso that the emphasis be on impacts in the agricultural sector Martin Parry was asked to design and direct the project at IIASA Funding was provided by UNEP IIASA the Austrian Government and the United Nations University

Global Climate Change David Kitchen, 2023-09-29 Earth's climate is changing This book investigates the scientific environmental social political and economic aspects of climate change It enables students to reach an informed opinion and encourages active engagement in finding solutions It begins with a strong introduction to the scientific factors that drive natural and anthropogenic climate change and expands over three chapters to explore the impact of greenhouse gases on the distribution of solar energy across land sea ice and air The author examines geologically ancient climates in order to highlight possible future scenarios and case studies from around the world highlight the impact of climate change on the physical and human environment The final chapters investigate how society can respond to the challenges of climate change and overcome the political social and economic factors that are barriers to progress focusing on the role of energy policy fiscal policy and risk assessment as a means to stimulate discussion about science society and the role of the media Science is the foundation of any solution but to turn this knowledge into action requires the application of a broad set of skills that are rooted in the liberal arts experience such as critical thinking analytical thinking problem solving and communication This textbook will be an essential resource for students taking courses in environmental geography climate change natural hazards climatology and meteorology Remote Sensing Land Surface Changes Felix Kogan, 2023-02-22 This book discusses the detrimental consequences of climate related land changes over a 40 year period between 1981 and 2020 and focuses on how climate warming is deteriorating the agricultural system due to excessive heat lack of moisture and more intensive and widespread droughts leading to a reduction of agricultural production Most of the existing literature on the unfavourable consequences of global warming for land are based on a relatively short period of weather station data covering local land areas with limited networks and monitoring parameters These concerns have led to the use of satellite data whose measurements are controlled by such vegetation characteristics as chlorophyll carotenoids moisture contents in the plants and temperature inside the vegetation community Therefore the discussion of this book is completely based on high resolution global land surface measurements by the sensors on the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration s NOAA operational afternoon polar orbiting satellites The book also focuses on understanding climate change impacts on land changes where humans are living and combines biophysically grounded methods and the 40 year data to develop models for monitoring large scale Earth warming impacts on land and for timely prediction of climate consequences for humans These 40 year trends in land characteristics will help to better inform the assessment of potential changes in the future and how to reach human sustainability The book will of interest to scientists using satellite remote sensing to track climate change impacts on land over time as well as students and researchers in climatology and environmental sustainability
