Deep Reading Rachel B. Griffiths, Julie Ooms, Rachel M. De Smith Roberts, 2024-05-28 This book helps readers develop practices that will result in deep formative and faithful reading so they can contribute to the flourishing of their communities and cultivate their own spiritual and intellectual depth The authors present reading as a remedy for three prevalent cultural vices distraction hostility and consumerism that impact the possibility of formative reading Informed by James K A Smith's work on the spiritual power of habit Deep Reading provides resources for engaging in formative and culturally subversive reading practices that teach readers how to resist vices love virtue and desire the good Rather than emphasizing the spiritual benefits of reading specific texts such as Dante's Divine Comedy or Adventures of Huckleberry Finn the authors focus on the practice of reading itself They examine practices many teachers students and avid readers employ such as reading lists reading logs and discussion and demonstrate how such practices can be more effectively and intentionally harnessed to result in deep reading The practices apply to any work that is meant to be read deeply

The Critical Response to Erskine Caldwell Robert McDonald, 1997-08-26 Author of such classics of 20th century popular American literature as Tobacco Road 1932 and God's Little Acre 1933 Erskine Caldwell was something of a celebrity nearly all his life But he was also a serious writer one whose merits are as considerable as they remain underexplored In the 1930s he startled the literary world with his frank portrayals of the poor whites of the South Beginning in the early 1940s critics grew suspicious that he had exhausted his originality and his talent In the late 1960s some scholars began an effort which continues intermittently today to reconsider Caldwell's achievement This collection of reviews critical essays and book excerpts provides a chronological portrait of the often contradictory and unfailingly colorful critical response to Caldwell from 1931 to the present The 57 pieces collected in this volume were chosen to represent all sides and perspectives in the evolving critical opinion of Caldwell's work The items are grouped in sections representing three chronological periods that encompass the prevailing critical moods concerning his writings the 1930s when readers of many persuasions found him promising and held out great hopes for his development 1940 to 1968 when increasing critical scrutiny led to his dismissal as a writer of significance and 1969 to the present when there have been several substantial efforts to reconsider Caldwell's achievement An introductory essay argues that Caldwell remains largely absent from our critical consciousness today because of a prevailing willingness among academics to rely on largely negative received opinions about his books in place of primary experience with them The introduction is followed by a chronology and the volume concludes with an extensive selected bibliography
