Aegean Strategies Studies Of Culture And Environment On The European Fringe:

Aegean Strategies P. Nick Kardulias, Mark T. Shutes, 1997 With a long detailed historical record a large corpus of archaeological data and more recently a number of sophisticated analyses of current and previous environmental conditions the Aegean region of the eastern Mediterranean offers a unique setting to explore the evolution of a landscape through time As expanding world markets continue to encroach upon even the most remote and delicate ecological zones anthropologists across all sub disciplines are beginning to find common theoretical and methodological ground within their own discipline and with other ecologically oriented sciences This volume examines the value of such collaborative research by bringing together archaeologists cultural anthropologists ethnoarchaeologists and ecologists to discuss environmentally related issues that affect the European fringe with an emphasis on the Aegean region The contributors bring to light the subtleties involved in understanding the interactive relationship between humans and their environment over time Students and scholars in a variety of disciplines including anthropology ecology classics and history will find this book to be a valuable and original investigation of a dynamic and complex region additional details and references for the serious researcher and amateur      A Cretan Healer's Handbook in the Byzantine Tradition Patricia Ann Clark, 2016-03-16 In 1930 the Cretan healer Nikolaos Konstantinos Theodorakis of Meronas re copied a notebook containing medical lore passed down through his family over generations The present volume offers an edition of this notebook together with an English translation the first of its kind It belongs to the genre of iatrosophia practical handbooks dating mainly to the 17th to 19th centuries which compiled healing wisdom along with snippets of agricultural meteorological and veterinary advice and admixtures of religion astrology and magic Both fascinating and of critical importance iatrosophia allow glimpses of classical and Byzantine medical sources and illustrate the vitality and resilience of Greek traditional medical and botanical knowledge From years spent exploring local healing customs in Crete s Amari region Patricia Clark is able to present Theodorakis iatrosophion against a rich historical geographical and social background Introductory essays and explanatory notes to the translation give context to the iatrosophion and provide the specialized information necessary for a good understanding of the text The abundant materia medica of the notebook is treated in a substantial appendix Each animal mineral plant or product is provided with an overview of its various names through the millennia Such entries are not only a key to understanding the Greek medical legacy but also a vivid illustration of its usage from antiquity to the present day      The Cave of the Nymphs at Pharsalus Robert S. Wagman, 2015-10-27 Cave of the Nymphs at Pharsalus is the first book length study of one of Greece s most cited nymph sanctuaries The volume includes a revised catalog extensive new commentaries on the cave s famous inscriptions and a first time investigation of the site s topographical and archaeological layout Also known as Alogopati or Karapla cave the Pharsalian shrine holds a special place among ancient nymph caves as the only such site to feature an inscribed poetic chronicle of the shrine s foundation and its founder the mysterious nymph worshipper Pantalces Based on years of fieldwork and archival research Cave of the Nymphs challenges some commonly held views about the origin of this rock cut tale and offers a fresh perspective for understanding the Pharsalian cave in its proper historical context      Archaeology and History in Roman, Medieval and Post-Medieval Greece Linda Jones Hall, 2016-12-05 The essays in Archaeology and History in Roman Medieval and Post Medieval Greece honor the contributions of Timothy E Gregory to our understanding of Greece from the Roman period to modern times Evoking Gregory s diverse interests the volume brings together anthropologists art historians archaeologists historians and philologists to address such contested topics as the end of Antiquity the so called Byzantine Dark Ages the contours of the emerging Byzantine civilization and identity in post Medieval Greece These papers demonstrate the continued vitality of both traditional and innovative approaches to the study of material culture and emphasise that historical interpretation should be the product of methodological self awareness In particular this volume shows how the study of the material culture of post Classical Greece over the last 30 years has made significant contributions to both the larger archaeological and historical discourse The essays in this volume are organized under three headings Archaeology and Method the Archaeology of Identity and the Changing Landscape which highlight three main focuses of Gregory's research. Each essay interlaces new analyses with the contributions Gregory has made to our understanding of Medieval and Post Medieval Greece. Read together these essays not only make a significant contribution to how we understand the post Classical Greek world but also to how we study the material culture of the Mediterranean world more broadly.

Agricultural Sustainability and Environmental Change at Ancient Gordion John M. Marston, 2017-07-05. This book publishes the results of 220 botanical samples from the 1993-2002 Gordion excavations directed by Mary Voigt. Together with Naomi Miller's 2010 volume Gordion Special Studies 5, this book completes the publication of botanical samples from Voigt's excavations. The book aims to reconstruct agricultural decision making using archaeological and paleoenvironmental data from Gordion to describe environmental and agricultural changes at the site. John M. Marston argues that different political and economic systems implemented over time at Gordion resulted in patterns of agricultural decision making that were well adapted to the social setting of farmers in each period but that these practices had divergent environmental impacts with some regimes sponsoring sustainable agricultural practices and others leading to significant environmental change. The implications of this book are twofold: Gordion will now be one of the best published agricultural datasets from the entire Near East and thus serve as a valuable comparable dataset for regional synthesis of agricultural and environmental change and the methods the author developed to reconstruct agricultural change at Gordion serve as tools to engage questions about the relationship between social and environmental change at sites worldwide. Other books address similar themes but none in the Near East address these themes in diachronic perspective such as we have at Gordion. University Museum Monograph 145.

Byzantine Epirus Myrto Veikou, 2012-05-25. This text draws on five years of archaeological and topographical fieldwork in order to attempt a re-reading of Byzantine texts in accordance with recent perceptions of the historicity of space.

Maritime Networks in the Mycenaean World Thomas F. Tartaron, 2013-05-27. In this book Thomas F. Tartaron presents a new and original reassessment of the maritime world of the Mycenaean Greeks of the Late Bronze Age. By all accounts a seafaring people, they enjoyed maritime connections with peoples as distant as Egypt and Sicily. These long distance relations have been celebrated and much studied; by contrast the vibrant worlds of local maritime interaction and exploitation of the sea have been virtually ignored. Dr. Tartaron argues that local maritime networks in the form of coastscapes and small worlds are far more representative of the true fabric of Mycenaean life. He offers a complete template of conceptual and methodological tools for recovering small worlds and the communities that inhabited them. Combining archaeological, geoarchaeological and anthropological approaches with ancient texts and network theory, he demonstrates the application of this scheme in several case studies. This book presents new perspectives and challenges for all archaeologists with interests in maritime connectivity.

Mediterranean Archaeological Landscapes Effie F. Athanassopoulou, Luann Wandsnider, 2010-11-24. The Mediterranean landscape record is recognized for its length and richness and the opportunity it offers to study the interaction between humans and their landscape This volume explores a variety of current archaeological issues in the context of specific landscapes from southern Spain through Greece and Cyprus to Jordan and from antiquity to recent times Over the last 25 years researchers have initiated a dramatic expansion in theoretical approaches both anthropological and classical Over the same time span a huge volume of field survey projects has been carried out in the Mediterranean arena The contributors to Mediterranean Archaeological Landscapes take stock of what has been learned identify lacunae and consider new approaches to our understanding of the rich surface landscape record of the Mediterranean Their goal is to explore theoretically diverse interpretative themes and the methods that make those approachable

Environmental Archaeology: Meaning and Purpose Umberto Albarella, 2013-04-17 Despite the fact that the human life of the past cannot be understood without taking into account its ecological relationships environmental studies are often marginalised in archaeology This is the first book that by discussing the meaning and purpose we give to the expression environmental archaeology investigates the reasons for such a problem This is achieved through the use of theoretical considerations and the aid of a number of case studies which by taking us from Anglo Saxon England to pre Columbian Venezuela and from Classical Greece to late Antique Egypt emphasise the potential of an integrated approach The book is written by archaeologists with different backgrounds and is addressed to all researchers who care about the past relationship between people and the rest of Nature Despite the complexity of some of the issues tackled the book is written in an accessible manner and should be of interest to all students who want to understand the essence of archaeology beyond the boundary of the individual sub disciplines

Landscape and Land Use in Postglacial Greece Paul Halstead, Charles Frederick, 2000-12-01 Collaboration between prehistorians and palaeoecologists is radically changing our understanding of the relationship between landscape land use and human settlement in Greece The chapters in this volume include case studies and broader syntheses developments of both on site and off site field methodology explorations of palaeoecological and archaeological evidence and discussions of how the palaeoecological and archaeological records are formed Contributions range geographically over the contrasting natural and cultural landscapes of northern and southern Greece and the lowlands and highlands and chronologically over the whole postglacial period including studies of plant and animal ecology and of palaeoecological formation processes in the present The difficulty of disentangling climatic and anthropogenic causes of palaeoecological change is a recurrent theme

Susan Buck Sutton, Keith W. Adams, Argolid Exploration Project, 2000 The essays in this volume are united by their attention to the many ways in which residents of Greece's southern Argolid peninsula the focus of more ethnographic and ethnohistorical study than any other comparable region of Greece have attempted to shelter feed and advance the economic situation of their families over the last three centuries The Pylos Regional Archaeological Project

John Bennet, Jack L. Davis, 2018-12-31 This volume represents the product of 25 years of study conducted by the Pylos Regional Archaeological Project a multidisciplinary diachronic archaeological expedition formally organized in 1990 to investigate the history of prehistoric and historic settlement in western Messenia in Greece An introduction setting the project in context and an extensive gazetteer of sites precede a collection of eight previously published articles which appeared in Hesperia the journal of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens between 1997 and 2010 Taken together these contributions document a comprehensive methodological approach by an archaeological project that was one of the first to incorporate new technologies such as digital mapping tools and online databases The results of such a long term and multifaceted research program illuminate the shifting relationships between humans their landscapes and historical forces both local and distant The Pylos Regional Archaeological Project A Retrospective provides an invaluable resource not only for those interested in the history and development of southwestern Greece but also for researchers interested in exploring the full range of methodological approaches to archaeological survey     The Archaeology of Mediterranean Landscapes Kevin Walsh, 2014 This volume presents a comprehensive review of palaeoenvironmental evidence and its incorporation with landscape archaeology from across the Mediterranean A fundamental aim of this book is to bridge the intellectual and methodological gaps between those with a background in archaeology and ancient history and those who work in the palaeoenvironmental sciences The aim of this volume is twofold first to provide archaeologists and landscape historians with a comprehensive overview of recent palaeoenvironmental research across the Mediterranean and second to consider ways in which this type of research can be integrated with what might be considered mainstream or cultural archaeology This volume takes a thematic approach assessing the ways in which environmental evidence is employed in different landscape types from coastal zones via rivers and wetlands to islands and mountainous areas This volume also presents analyses of how people have interacted with soils and vegetation and revisits the key questions of human culpability in the creation of so called degraded landscapes in the Mediterranean It covers chronological periods from the Early Neolithic to the end of the Roman period
