narratives and highlights their potential to universalise the refugee experience It argues that while contemporary refugee literature challenges dominant representations and reclaims subjectivity it is also shaped by the Western literary marketplace which refashions displacement into marketable narratives of resilience and redemption tempering its radical potential and framing it within apolitical humanitarian discourse that prioritises empathy over structural critique The book calls for refugee narratives to resist market driven expectations and engage in epistemic disobedience challenging dominant frameworks that dictate how refugee experiences should be represented understood and consumed

Transcultural Identities in Contemporary Literature Irene Gilsenan Nordin, Julie Hansen, Carmen Zamorano Llena, 2013-10-01 In recent decades globalization has led to increased mobility and interconnectedness For a growing number of people contemporary life entails new local and transnational interdependencies which transform individual and collective allegiances

Contemporary literature often reflects these changes through its exploration of migrant experiences and transcultural identities Calling into question traditional definitions of culture many recent works of poetry and prose fiction go beyond the spatial boundaries of a given state emphasizing instead the mixing and collision of languages cultures and identities In doing so they also challenge recent and contemporary discourses about cultural identities fostering a more nuanced understanding of the complexities of identity formation processes in diverse transcultural frameworks This volume analyses how traditional understandings of culture as well as literary representations of identity constructs can be reconceptualized from a transcultural perspective In four thematic sections focusing on migration cosmopolitanism multiculturalism and literary translingualism the twelve essays included in this volume explore various facets of transculturality in contemporary poetry and fiction from around the world Contributors Malin Lidström Brock Katherina Dodou Pilar Cuder Domínguez Stefan Helgesson Christoph Houswitschka Carly McLaughlin Kristin Rebien J B Rollins Karen L Ryan Eric Sellin Mats Tegmark Carmen Zamorano Llena Irene Gilsenan Nordin is Professor of English Literature at Dalarna University Sweden She is founder and director of DUCIS Dalarna University Centre for Irish Studies and leads Dalarna University's Transcultural Identities research group Julie Hansen is Research Fellow at the Uppsala Centre for Russian and Eurasian Studies and teaches Russian literature in the Department of Modern Languages at Uppsala University Sweden Carmen Zamorano Llena is Associate Professor of English Literature at Dalarna University Sweden and member of Dalarna University's Transcultural Identities research group

The Poetics and Ethics of Attention in Contemporary British Narrative Jean-Michel Ganteau, 2022-12-27 This book uses attention as a prism through which to interrogate the literary text. It starts from analyses of the changes that the mediasphere and communication technologies have brought for the contemporary subject submitting him/her to the tyranny of a new attention economy. My point is that the contemporary novel and memoir resist such influences and evince a great deal of resilience by promoting an ecology of attention. Cited based on poetic options whose pragmatic effect is to develop an ethics of the particularist type. To do this I draw on critical and theoretical literature hailing from various fields: psychology but also more prominently phenomenology, political philosophy and analytical philosophy essentially Ordinary Language Philosophy alongside the ethics of care and vulnerability. By using a selection of fictional and non-fictional narratives I address such issues as social invisibilities, climate change, AI and cognitive disability and end up drafting a poetics of attention. The Routledge Companion to Literature and Human Rights Sophia McClennen, Alexandra Schultheis Moore, 2018-02-05 The Routledge Companion to Literature and Human Rights provides a comprehensive transnational and interdisciplinary map to this emerging field offering a broad overview of human rights and literature while providing innovative readings on key topics. The first of its kind, this volume covers essential issues and themes necessarily crossing disciplines between the social sciences and humanities. Sections cover subjects with pieces on subjectivity, humanity, identity, gender, universality, the particular, the body, forms, visiting the different ways human rights stories are crafted and formed via the literary, the visual, the performative and the oral contexts, tracing the development of the literature over time and in relation to specific regions and historical events, impacts considering the power and limits of human rights literature, rhetoric and visual culture. Drawn from many different global contexts, the essays offer an ideal introduction for those approaching the study of literature and human rights for the first time, looking for new insights and interdisciplinary perspectives or interested in new directions for future scholarship. Reimagining Intervention in Young Lives Karen R. Foster, Dale C. Spencer, 2012-08-15 Poverty and unemployment are on the rise among Canadian youth Clearly something needs to change but current social assistance models are based on problematic assumptions about the lives and possible trajectories of risky young people Reimagining Intervention in Young Lives explores the difficulties many marginalized young people encounter with the support system available to them as well as the social forces that push them to the margins in the first place Drawn from interviews with forty five patrons of a youth drop in centre this important work resituates the nexus of the problem from the identification of individual risk factors to the recognition of the contradictions and barriers contained in the very social aid structures that are meant to bring their target populations back in to the fold of normal society Intervention is indeed necessary but more to challenge the prevailing structures that incorrectly presume how youth themselves interpret risk poverty and most important of all their own potential
