Where Are Our Boys? Martin Woods, 2016-08-01 In 1914 the newspaper map or newsmap began to supply readers with the geographical backdrop to the Great War an important tool in explaining the progress of the war to the public at home Day by day for every campaign and battle readers across the nation were deluged with maps both in the pages of newspapers and pasted up in town and city streets allowing them to follow

Australian and Allied exploits Drawn from scant news cables out of date cartography and the writer's imagination a semi-fictional war story emerged of ANZAC successes and sometimes disasters Our boys were in Egypt Palestine Gallipoli Belgium Germany and France in towns and villages most Australians had never heard of Soon these places were being discussed with growing expertise over maps in homes pubs churches and clubs Those following the war at home were never allowed too close as censorship rules dictated when maps could be published Yet Where Are Our Boys is not simply about propaganda Maps in newspapers tracked the war's many campaigns and the exploits of our boys but most importantly allowed those at home to feel close to their brothers husbands fathers uncles neighbours and cousins Maps naturally became central to commemorating events people and places The war produced more maps than any time before in history giving us along the way some of the most beautiful and sometimes misleading maps ever published Where Are Our Boys tells the story of how the war was fought and won from the opening salvos in 1914 to Gallipoli and victory on the Western Front In the end though these maps were needed most to help understand the conflict and to comprehend the great human costs

The Global Japanese Restaurant James Farrer, 2023. With more than 120 000 Japanese restaurants around the world Japanese cuisine has become truly global. Through the transnational culinary mobilities of migrant entrepreneurs workers ideas and capital Japanese cuisine spread and adapted to international tastes. But this expansion is also entangled in culinary politics ranging from authenticity claims and status competition among restaurateurs and consumers to societal racism immigration policies and soft power politics that have shaped the transmission and transformation of Japanese cuisine. Such politics has involved appropriation oppression but also cooperation across ethnic lines. Ultimately the restaurant is a continually reinvented imaginary of Japan represented in concrete form to consumers by restaurateurs cooks and servers of varied nationalities and ethnicities who act as cultural intermediaries. The Global Japanese Restaurant Mobilities Imaginaries and Politics uses an innovative global perspective and rich ethnographic data on six continents to fashion a comprehensive account of the creation and reception of the global Japanese restaurant in the modern world. Drawing heavily on untapped primary sources in multiple languages this book centers on the stories of Japanese migrants in the first half of the twentieth century and then on non Japanese chefs and restaurateurs from Asia Africa Europe Australasia and the Americas whose mobilities since the mid 1900s who have been reshaping and spreading Japanese cuisine. The narrative covers a century and a half of transnational mobilities global imaginaries and culinary politics at different scales. It shifts the spotlight of Japanese culinary globalization from the West to refocus the story on Japan's East Asian neighbors and highlights the growing role of non Japanese actors chefs restaurateurs suppliers corporations service staff since the 1980s. These essays explore restaurants as social spaces creating a readable and compelling history that makes original contributions to Japan studies food studies and global studies. The transdisciplinary framework will be a pioneering model for combining fieldwork and archival research to analyze the complexities of culinary globalization.
