Making Black History Dominique Haensell, 2021-10-04 This study proposes that rather than trying to discern the normative value of Afropolitanism as an identificatory concept politics ethics or aesthetics Afropolitanism may be best approached as a distinct historical and cultural moment that is a certain historical constellation that allows us to glimpse the shifting and multiple silhouettes which Africa as signifier as real and imagined locus embodies in the globalized yet predominantly Western cultural landscape of the 21st century As such Making Black History looks at contemporary fictions of the African or Black Diaspora that have been written and received in the moment of Afropolitanism Discursively this moment is very much part of a diasporic conversation that takes place in the US and is thus informed by various negotiations of blackness race class and cultural identity Yet rather than interpreting Afropolitan literatures merely as a rejection of racial solidarity as some commentators have they should be read as ambivalent responses to post racial discourses dominating the first decade of the 21st century particularly in the US which oscillate between moments of intense hope and acute disappointment Please read our interview with Dominique Haensell here <https://blog.degruyter.com/de-gruyters-10th-open-access-book-anniversary-dominique-haensell-and-her-winning-title-making-black-history>

Bodies in the Middle Maya Hislop, 2024-07-11 A probing analysis of Black women s attempts to pursue justice for sexual violence victims within often hostile social and legal systems In Bodies in the Middle Black Women Sexual Violence and Complex Imaginings of Justice Maya Hislop examines the lack of place that Black women experience specifically when they are victims of sexual violence Hislop uses both historical and literary analyses to explore how women in the face of indifference and often hostility have sought to redefine justice for themselves within a framework she calls Afro pessimistic justice Afro pessimism begins from the belief that Black life in America and in turn the American justice system is constrained within a framework of anti Blackness meant to enforce white supremacy Inspired by the work of Black studies luminaries such as Orlando Patterson Sylvia Wynter and Fred Moten Hislop asks what justice can look like in the absence of total victory and how Black women have attempted to define alternative paths to a just future

Reframing Translators, Translators as

Reframers Dominique Faria, Marta Pacheco Pinto, Joana Moura, 2022-07-29 This collection explores the notion of reframing as a framework for better understanding the multi agent and multi level nature of the translation process generating new conversations in current debates on translational agency authority and power The volume puts forward reframing as an alternative metaphor to traditional conceptualizations and descriptions of translation which often position the process in such terms as transformation reproduction transposition and transfer Chapters in the book reflect on the translator figure as a central agent in actively moving a translated text to a new context and the translation process as shaped by different forces and subjectivities when translational agency comes into play The book brings together cross disciplinary perspectives for viewing translation through the lens of agents drawing on a wide range of examples across geographic settings historical eras and language pairs The volume integrates analyses from the translated texts themselves as well as their paratexts to offer unique insights into the different layers of mediation in translation and the new frame s created for those texts This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies comparative studies reception studies and cultural studies

The Rights War in Literature and Culture Jennifer Rickel, 2025-07-31 Rights War tracks how the human rights framework is weaponized against the oppressed and it makes the case for the central place of literature in understanding this seizure of narrative control While literary humanitarianism depoliticizes suffering and positions the reader as a savior to traumatized Others Rights War shows how contemporary fiction by women of color and queer writers across the African diaspora engage innovative narrative paradigms to address structural inequities It analyzes strategies set out in this literature for disarming savior victimism which it identifies as a pernicious cultural phenomenon in which the powerful proclaim themselves saviors to and victims of those they marginalize As the disassociation of national rights from international human rights and the disconnection of civil and political rights from social and economic rights provoke a contest of victimhood this book offers a renewed argument for the indivisibility of rights and the social justice function of literature

Slavery, Migrations, and Transformations: Connecting Old and New Diasporas to the Homeland Toyin Sanchez, 2015-07-28 From the historical movements of enslaved Africans to the Americas to newer migrations of Africans to spaces like Belgium and France experiences of blackness on a global stage reflect themes of negotiation persecution isolation unification remembrance and much more Yet it is impossible to minimize the complex experiences that make up the African diaspora throughout the world as diasporic communities face a range of struggles specifically related to the politics of identity and connections to the continent of Africa itself This book is thus a timely and much needed exploration of the intricate nature of culture and life in the African diaspora It examines identities collectivities and relationships with Africa and Africans It helps fill a gap in the field by illuminating the complex experiences of blackness in a manner that motivates readers to grapple with the nuances diaspora studies and African issues on a global stage This book balances conceptualizations of diaspora by engaging with scholars exploring old African diasporas newer migrations and even regional movement within the continent of Africa itself

More importantly the chronological breadth of the volume allows readers to explore historical matters alongside comparable contemporary issues as a way of assessing continuities and the ways in which communities continue to grapple with institutional racism political marginalization and negotiations between tradition and modernity on a global stage

Furthermore the interdisciplinary nature of the book offers diverse approaches for robust engagement with African diaspora studies

Names Fashioned by Gender Thenjiwe Meyiwa, Madoda Cekiso, 2023-12-01 Names are very powerful and significant especially in the African context Across societies there is a universal albeit taken for granted fact that all human beings have names Names Fashioned by Gender is a collection of essays on onomastics a linguistics field of study focusing on the origin form history and use of proper names The study of naming potentially provides significant evidence about the role of gender in the assimilation and or enculturation processes as personal names evoke insight into the construction of gender and personhood in African societies The book takes intellectual course from the idea that how names are viewed and used is heavily context dependent and gendered It demonstrates that personal names are narratives derived from different contexts within various cultures and circumstances subsequently imposing different identities on name bearers Through persuasive essays this book elucidates that naming is an activity that needs to be conducted cautiously because names tend to determine the destiny and character of an individual Print editions not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa

In Search of the Afropolitan Eva Rask Knudsen, Ulla Rahbek, 2016-07-18 In Search of the Afropolitan explores human encounters and moments that speak to the challenges of being a 21st century African of the world Against the background of an engaging evaluation of the heated debate on Afropolitanism and what constitutes an Afropolitan the authors turn to literature and its intrinsic capacity for unfolding the human figure of the African as inherently complex and multidimensional Through a detailed probing of the Afropolitan in literary narratives the book enters into conversations about self understanding and the signification of Africa in the contexts of global mobility The book conceives of Afropolitanism as a flexible space of inquiry that curbs the inclination to set the definition of the ism in stone Instead it attempts to distil through close up character analyses a multifarious sense of what it means to be Afropolitan in the contemporary moment In that sense the encounters we come across in the literary narratives produce unexpected ontological negotiations on what it means to be African in the world today As a special feature of In Search of the Afropolitan the authors' conversations with prominent writers thinkers and critics provide a lively context for the ongoing debate on Afropolitanism and the Afropolitan

West African Women in the Diaspora Rose A. Sackeyfio, 2021-09-08 This book examines fictional works by women authors who have left their homes in West Africa and now live as members of the diaspora In recent years a compelling array of critically acclaimed fiction by women in the West African diaspora has shifted the direction of the African novel away from post colonial themes of nationhood decolonization and cultural authenticity and towards explorations of the fluid and shifting constructions of identity in transnational spaces Drawing on works by Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Buchi Emecheta Ama Ata Aidoo Sefi Atta Chika Unigwe and Taiye Selasie this book interrogates the ways in which African diaspora women's fiction portrays the realities of otherness hybridity and marginalized existence of female subjects beyond Africa's borders Overall the book demonstrates that life in the diaspora is an uncharted journey of expanded opportunities along with paradoxical realities of otherness Providing a vivid and composite portrait of African women's experiences in the diasporic landscape this book will be of interest to researchers of migration and diaspora topics and African women's and world literature

Love and Space in Contemporary African Diasporic Women's Writing Jennifer Leetsch, 2021-07-16 This book sets out to investigate how contemporary African diasporic women writers respond to the imbalances pressures and crises of twenty first century globalization by querying the boundaries between two separate conceptual domains love and space The study breaks new ground by systematically bringing together critical love studies with research into the cultures of migration diaspora and refuge Examining a notable tendency among current black feminist writers poets and performers to insist on the affective dimension of world making the book ponders strategies of reconfiguring postcolonial discourses

Indeed the analyses of literary works and intermedia performances by Chimamanda Adichie Zadie Smith Helen Oyeyemi Shailja Patel and Warsan Shire reveal an urge of moving beyond a familiar insistence on processes of alienation or rupture and towards a new reparative emphasis on connection and intimacy to imagine possible inhabitable worlds The Transnational in Literary Studies Kai Wiegandt, 2020-07-06 This volume clarifies the meanings and applications of the concept of the transnational and identifies areas in which the concept can be particularly useful The division of the volume into three parts reflects areas which seem particularly amenable to analysis through a transnational lens The chapters in Part 1 present case studies in which the concept replaces or complements traditionally dominant concepts in literary studies These chapters demonstrate for example why some dramatic texts and performances can better be described as transnational than as postcolonial and how the transnational underlies and complements concepts such as world literature Part 2 assesses the advantages and limitations of writing literary history with a transnational focus These chapters illustrate how such a perspective loosens the epistemic stranglehold of national historiographies but they also argue that the transnational and national agendas of literary historiography are frequently entangled The chapters in Part 3 identify transnational genres such as the transnational historical novel transnational migrant fiction and translinguistic theatre and analyse the specific poetics and politics of these genres
