American Nation In The Modern Era Annotated Teachers Edition

Lawrence Lee Hewitt, Thomas E. Schott

American Nation In The Modern Era Annotated Teachers Edition:

Lee and His Generals Lawrence Lee Hewitt, Thomas E. Schott, 2012-06-25 A legendary professor at Louisiana State University T Harry Williams not only produced such acclaimed works as Lincoln and the Radicals Lincoln and His Generals and a biography of Huey Long that won both the Pulitzer Prize and the National Book Award but he also mentored generations of students who became distinguished historians in their own right In this collection ten of those former students along with one author greatly inspired by Williams's example offer incisive essays that honor both Williams and his career long dedication to sound imaginative scholarship and broad historical inquiry The opening and closing essays fittingly enough deal with Williams himself a biographical sketch by Frank J Wetta and a piece by Roger Spiller that place Williams in larger historical perspective among writers on Civil War generalship The bulk of the book focuses on Robert E Lee and a number of the commanders who served under him starting with Charles Roland's seminal article The Generalship of Robert E Lee the only one in the collection that has been previously published Among the essays that follow Roland's are contributions by Brian Holden Reid on the ebb and flow of Lee's reputation George C Rable on Stonewall Jackson's deep religious commitment A Wilson Greene on P G T Beauregard's role in the Petersburg Campaign and William L Richter on James Longstreet as postwar pariah Together these gifted historians raise a host of penetrating and original questions about how we are to understand America's defining conflict in our own time just as T Harry Williams did in his And by encompassing such varied subjects as military history religion and historiography Lee and His Generals demonstrates once more what a fertile field Civil War scholarship remains Lawrence Lee Hewitt is professor of history emeritus at Southeastern Louisiana University Most recently he and Arthur W Bergeron now deceased coedited three volumes of essays under the collective title Confederate Generals in the Western Theater Thomas E Schott served for many years as a historian for the U S Air Force and U S Special Operations Command He is the author of Alexander H Stephens of Georgia A Biography which won both the Society of American Historians Award and the Jefferson Davis Award

Holt American Nation in the Modern Era Holt Rinehart & Winston, Holt, Rinehart and Winston Staff, 2002-09-01 Annotation, 1987 American Memories Joachim J. Savelsberg, Ryan D. King, 2011-09-01 In the long history of warfare and cultural and ethnic violence the twentieth century was exceptional for producing institutions charged with seeking accountability or redress for violent offenses and human rights abuses across the globe often forcing nations to confront the consequences of past atrocities The Holocaust ended with trials at Nuremberg apartheid in South Africa concluded with the Truth and Reconciliation Commission and the Gacaca courts continue to strive for closure in the wake of the Rwandan genocide Despite this global trend toward accountability American collective memory appears distinct in that it tends to glorify the nation's past celebrating triumphs while eliding darker episodes in its history In American Memories sociologists Joachim Savelsberg and Ryan King rigorously examine how the United States remembers its own and others atrocities and how institutional responses to such crimes including trials and tribunals may help shape memories and perhaps impede future violence American Memories uses historical and media accounts court records and survey research to examine a number of atrocities from the nation's past including the massacres of civilians by U S military in My Lai Vietnam and Haditha Iraq The book shows that when states initiate responses to such violence via criminal trials tribunals or reconciliation hearings they lay important groundwork for how such atrocities are viewed in the future Trials can serve to delegitimize violence even by a nation's military by creating a public record of grave offenses But the law is filtered by and must also compete with other institutions such as the media and historical texts in shaping American memory Savelsberg and King show for example how the My Lai slayings of women children and elderly men by U S soldiers have been largely eliminated from or misrepresented in American textbooks and the army's reputation survived the episode untarnished The American media nevertheless evoked the killings at My Lai in response to the murder of twenty four civilian Iraqis in Haditha during the war in Iraq Since only one conviction was obtained for the My Lai massacre and convictions for the killings in Haditha seem increasingly unlikely Savelsberg and King argue that Haditha in the near past is now bound inextricably to My Lai in the distant past With virtually no criminal convictions and none of higher ranks for either massacre both events will continue to be misrepresented in American memory In contrast the book examines American representations of atrocities committed by foreign powers during the Balkan wars which entailed the prosecution of ranking military and political leaders The authors analyze news accounts of the war's events and show how articles based on diplomatic sources initially cast Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic in a less negative light but court based accounts increasingly portrayed Milosevic as a criminal solidifying his image for the public record American Memories provocatively suggests that a nation's memories don't just develop as a rejoinder to events they are largely shaped by institutions In the wake of atrocities how a state responds has an enduring effect and provides a moral framework for whether and how we remember violent transgressions Savelsberg and King deftly show that such responses can be instructive for how to deal with large scale violence in the future and hopefully how to deter it A Volume in the American Sociological Association's Rose Series in Sociology
