Popular Ethiopian Cinema Michael W. Thomas, 2022-10-06 This book shines much needed light on the history structures and films of the Amharic film industry in Ethiopia Focusing on the rise of the industry from 2002 until today and embedded in archival ethnographic and textual research methods this book offers a sustained and detailed appreciation of Amharic language cinema Michael Thomas considers fiker love as an organising principle in national Ethiopian culture and by extension Amharic cinema Placing fiker as central to understanding Amharic film genres also illuminates the continuous negotiations at play between romantic familial patriotic and spiritual notions of love in these films Thomas considers the production and exhibition of films in Ethiopia charting fluctuations and continuities between the past and the present Having done so he offers detailed textual readings of films identifying important junctures in the industry's development and the emergence of new genres The findings of the book detail the affective characteristics that delineate most Amharic genres and the role culturally specific concepts such as fiker play in maintaining the relevance of commercial cinemas reliant on domestic audiences

Oral Literary Worlds Sara Marzagora, Francesca Orsini, 2025-01-31 The discipline of world literature has traditionally focused on written literatures particularly the novel with little emphasis placed on the unwritten verbal arts despite the significance of oral literary expressions around the world in the past as in the present This volume redresses this gap by putting the discipline of world literature into dialogue with scholarship on orature and folklore It asks what does world literature look like if we start from orature from oral texts and utterances and from the performances and audiences that support it Featuring contributions from an international array of scholars Oral Literary Worlds explores oral traditions from three multilingual regions the Maghreb East Africa and South Asia Essays discuss a variety of vernacular genres from Swahili tumbuizo to Na'o folk songs shedding light on less studied forms of vernacular oral production Collectively the contributions critique the characterisation of oral traditions as static and pre modern and underscore the contemporary relevance of orature to cultural and political discourse Oral Literary Worlds offers a timely and accessible perspective on world literature through the lens of orature moving away from traditional hierarchies and dichotomies that have characterised previous scholarship It aims to open up new ways of thinking through local and transnational textual circulation literary power dynamics the interaction between textuality and audiences and aesthetic philosophies This volume will be an invaluable resource for scholars of world literature folklore and performance studies and will further interest teachers and students of popular culture literature of dissent and music

Feminism and Modernity in Anglophone African Women's Writing Dobrota Pucherová, 2022-07-29 This book re-reads the last 60 years of Anglophone African women's writing from a transnational and trans-historical feminist perspective rather than postcolonial from which these texts have been traditionally interpreted Such a comparative frame throws into relief patterns across time and space that make it possible to situate this writing as an integral part of women's literary history Revisiting this literature in a comparative context with Western women writers since the 18th century the author highlights how invocations of tradition have been used by patriarchy everywhere to subjugate women the similarities between women's struggles worldwide and the feminist imagination it produced The author argues that in the 21st century African feminism has undergone a major epistemic shift from a culturally exclusive to a relational feminism that conceptualizes African femininity through the risky opening of oneself to otherness transculturation and translation Like Western feminists in the 1960s contemporary African women writers are turning their attention to the female body as the prime site of women's oppression and freedom reframing feminism as a demand for universal human rights and actively shaping global discourses on gender modernity and democracy The book will be of interest to students and researchers of African literature but also feminist literary scholars and comparatists more generally

African Literatures as World Literature Alexander Fyfe, Madhu Krishnan, 2022-11-03 The enormous success of writers such as Teju Cole and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie demonstrates that African literatures are now an international phenomenon But the apparent global legibility of a small number of mostly Anglophone writers in the diaspora raises the question of how literary producers from the continent both past and present have situated their work in relation to the world and the kinds of material networks to which this corresponds This collection shows how literatures from across the African continent engage with conceptualizations of the world in relation to local social and political issues Focusing on a wide variety of geographic historical and linguistic contexts the essays in this volume seek answers to the following questions What are the topographies of the world in different literary texts and traditions What are that world's limits boundaries and possibilities How do literary modes and forms such as realism narrative poetry or the political essay affect the presentation of worldliness What are the material networks of circulation that allow African literatures to become world literature African literatures it emerges do important theoretical work that speaks to the very core of world literary studies today
