Development Education in Policy and Practice Stephen McCloskey, 2014-04-09 Development education is a radical form of learning that addresses the structural causes of poverty and injustice in the global North and South This volume debates development education practice and the policy environment in which it is delivered It affirmatively points to the transformative power of education as a means toward social change

Labour and Development in East Asia Kevin Gray, 2014-10-10 The Chinese Communist Party's response to the wave of factory strikes in the early summer of 2010 has raised important questions about the role that labour plays in the transformation of world orders In contrast to previous policies of repression towards labour unrest these recent disputes centring round wages and working conditions have been met with a more permissive response on the part of the state as the CCP ostensibly seeks to facilitate a transition away from a model of political economy based on low road labour relations and export dependence Labour and Development in East Asia shows that such inter linkages between labour geopolitical transformations and states developmental strategies have been much more central to East Asia's development than has commonly been recognised By adopting an explanatory framework of the labour geopolitics development nexus the book theorises and provides an historical analysis of the formation and transformation of the East Asian regional political economy from the end of the Second World War to the present with particular reference to Japan South Korea Taiwan and China This book will be required reading for students and scholars of international relations development studies and comparative politics

Social Activism in Southeast Asia Michele Ford, 2013 Social Activism in Southeast Asia examines the ways in which social movements operate in a region characterized by a history of authoritarian regimes and relatively weak civil society It situates cutting edge accounts of activism around civil and political rights globalization peace the environment migrant and factory labour the rights of middle and working class women and sexual identity in an overarching framework of analysis that forefronts the importance of human rights and the state as a focus for social activism Drawing on contemporary evidence from Cambodia Indonesia Malaysia Myanmar the Philippines Singapore Thailand and Timor Leste the book explores the ways in which social movement actors engage with their international allies the community and the state in order to promote social change As well as providing detailed and nuanced analyses of particular movements in specific areas of Southeast Asia the book addresses difficult questions about the politics strategies and authenticity of social movements

Global Democracy, Social Movements, And Feminism Catherine Eschle, 2018-03-08 In Global Democracy Social Movements and Feminism Catherine Eschle examines the relationship between social movements and democracy in social and political thought in the context of debates about the exclusions and mobilizations generated by gender hierarchies and the impact of globalization Eschle considers a range of approaches in social and political thought from long standing liberal republican Marxist and anarchist traditions through post Marxist and post modernist innovations and recent efforts to theorize democracy and social movements at a global level The author turns to feminist theory and movement practices and particularly to black and third world feminist interventions in debates about the democratization of feminism itself Eschle discusses the ways in which such debates are increasingly played out on a global scale as feminists grapple with the implication of globalization for movement organization The author then concludes with a discussion of the relevance of these feminist debates for the theorization of democracy more generally in an era of global transformation

Decolonization and Anti-colonial Praxis ,2019-06-07 Decolonization and Anti colonial Praxis presents research on contemporary forms of decolonization and anti colonialism in practice It pertains to the ways in which individuals groups and communities engage with the logic of epistemic colonial power within areas of citizenship migration education Indigeneity language land struggle and social work The contributions in this edited volume empirically document the conceptual and bodily engagement of racialized and violated individuals and communities as they use anti colonial principles to disrupt criminalizing institutional discourses and policies within various global imperial contexts The terms Decolonization and Anti colonialism are used in diverse and interdisciplinary academic perspectives They are researched upon and elaborated in necessary ways in the theoretical literature however it is rare to see these principles employed in applied forms Decolonization and Anti colonial Praxis provides a much needed contemporary and representative reclamation of these concepts from the standpoint of racialized communities It explores the frameworks and methods rooted in their indigeneity cultural history and memories to imagine a new future The research findings and methodological tools presented in this book will be of interdisciplinary interest to teachers graduate students and researchers Contributors are Harriet Akanmori Ayah Al Oballi Sevgi Arslan Jacqueline Benn John Lucy El Sherif Danielle Freitas Pablo Isla Monsalve Dionisio Nyaga Hoda Samater Rose Ann Torres Umar Umangay and Anila Zainub

Poverty, Solidarity, and Poor-led Social Movements Monique Deveaux,2021 This book rejects familiar ethical framings of problems of poverty and inequality arguing that they have produced apolitical solutions that ignore the demands of poor organizations and movements Deveaux argues that normative thinking about poverty should engage with the insights and goals of pro poor activists in order to develop action guiding norms that better align with their justice claims Defending the idea of a political responsibility for solidarity she shows how nonpoor outsiders individuals institutions and states can help to advance a radical anti poverty agenda by supporting the efforts of these movements

Manuela Boatcă,2016-04-22 Based on theoretical developments in research on world systems analysis transnational migration postcolonial and decolonial perspectives whilst considering continuities of inequality patterns in the context of colonial and postcolonial realities Global Inequalities Beyond Occidentalism proposes an original framework for the study of the long term reproduction of inequalities under global capitalism With attention to the critical assessment of both Marxist and Weberian perspectives this book examines the wider implications of transferring classical approaches to inequality to a twenty first century context calling for a reconceptualisation of inequality that is both theoretically informed and methodologically consistent and able to cater for the implications of shifts from national and Western structures to global structures Engaging with approaches to the study of class gender racial and ethnic inequalities at the global level this innovative work adopts a relational perspective in the study of social inequalities that is able to reveal how historical interdependencies between world regions have translated as processes of inequality production and reproduction As such it will be of interest to scholars of sociology political and social theory and anthropology concerned with questions of globalisation and inequality The Role of Coloniality, Decoloniality, and Education in Shaping Perspectives on

Extremism Helal Hossain Dhali,2024-03-19 This book extends a comprehensive overview of the treatment of extremism in education in Bangladesh using a study of perceptions among students to explore proactive measures for the prevention of various types and forms of extremism prevalent among youth It offers a critical holistic and student centred study of the role of formal education in shaping perceptions of extremism and intersectional differences among individuals drawing on data from university students The author employs post colonial theory and multicultural educational approaches to highlight how understandings of extremism differ across young adults and policymakers Ultimately it demonstrates that students overall understanding of extremism is much broader than that of policymakers and how understandings differ between male and female students at the intersection of rural and urban locations and socio economic positions As such it foregrounds a need to involve and organize formal education as a proactive means to raise awareness and counter all forms of extremism through incorporating specific teaching strategies into pedagogical practices to foster an anti communalist humanistic critical multicultural and cosmopolitan outlook among students It will appeal to scholars and researchers with interests across multicultural education comparative and international education the sociology of education extremism and conflict and peace studies The Theory and Practice of Development Education Douglas Bourn,2014-10-03 Development education is much more than learning about development it is a pedagogy for the globalised societies of the twenty first century that incorporates discourses from critical pedagogy and postcolonialism and a mechanism for ensuring that differing perspectives are reflected within education particularly those from developing countries Learning about development and global issues is now part of the school curriculum in a number of countries and terms such as global citizenship sustainable development and cultural understanding are commonplace in many educational contexts Development education has been recognised as one of the educational discourses that has influenced the acceptance of these terms for both policy makers and practitioners This ground breaking volume addresses the history theoretical influences practices and impact of development education in Europe North America Australia and Japan Chapters include how development education evolved the influence of theorists such as Paulo Freire the practices of aid and development agencies and the impact of governments seeking evidence of public understanding of and engagement with development The Theory and Practice of Development Education provides essential reading for anyone engaged in re thinking and reflecting upon the educational needs of a globalised society and seeking approaches towards learning that place social justice at the heart of that practice It will be of particular interest to academics and postgraduate students in the fields of development education international education and globalisation

The Social Contract in Africa Sanya Osha, 2014-06-19 This book employs the event of the Arab Spring revolution of 2011 to reflect on the event itself and beyond Some of the chapters address the colonial encounter and its lingering reverberations on the African sociopolitical landscape Others address the aftermath of large scale societal violence and trauma that pervade the African context The contributions indicate the range of challenges confronting African societies in the postmodern era They also illustrate the sheer resilience and inventiveness of those societies in the face of apparently overwhelming odds What is the nature of political power in contemporary Africa as constituted from below instead of being a state driven phenomenon What constitutes sovereignty without recourse to the usual academic responses and discourses These two questions loom behind most of the deliberations contained in this book with contributions from an impressive field of international scholars

Global Urbanism Michele Lancione, Colin McFarlane, 2021-06-21 Global Urbanism is an experimental examination of how urban scholars and activists make sense of and act upon the foundational relationship between the global and the urban What does it mean to say that we live in a global urban moment and what are its implications Refusing all encompassing answers the book grounds this question exploring the plurality of understandings definitions and ways of researching global urbanism through the lenses of varied contributors from different parts of the world The contributors explore what global urbanism means to them in their context from the ground and the struggles upon which they are working and living The book argues for an incremental fragile and in the making emancipatory urban thinking The contributions provide the resources to help make sense of what global urbanism is in its varieties what is at stake in it how to research it and what needs to change for more progressive urban futures It provides a heterodox set of approaches and theorisations to probe and provoke rather than aiming to draw a line under a complex changing and profoundly contested set of global urban processes Global Urbanism is primarily intended for scholars and graduate students in geography sociology planning anthropology and the field of urban studies for whom it will provide an invaluable and up to date guide to current thinking across the range of disciplines and practices which converge in the study of urbanism Chapter 36 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 license available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780429259593>
