Beyond Mothers Monsters Whores Thinking About Womens Violence In Global Politics:

Beyond Mothers, Monsters, Whores Caron E. Gentry, Laura Sjoberg, 2015-08-15 Beyond Mothers Monsters Whores takes the suggestion in Mothers Monsters Whores that it is important to see genderings in characterizations of violent women and to use critique of those genderings to retheorize individual violence in global politics. It begins by demonstrating the interdependence of the personal and international levels of global politics in violent women's lives but then shows that this interdependence is inaccurately depicted in gender subordinating narratives of women's violence. Such narratives the authors argue are not only normatively problematic on the surface but also intersect with other identifiers such as race, religion, and geopolitical location.

Terrorism Challenges in the Indo-Pacific Andrew T.H. Tan, Julian Droogan, Nell Bennett, 2025-02-26 This edited volume focuses on contemporary terrorism challenges that remain serious in the Indo Pacific region long after the seminal terrorist attacks on 11 September 2001. Since then the emergence of the new terrorism has been epitomised by rise of radical Islamist terrorist groups such as Al Qaeda and the Islamic State. Through the use of new terrorism techniques and strategies such movements have been able to transform themselves into worldwide global jihadist movements. While both Al Qaeda and the Islamic State have suffered greatly from vigorous and sustained global counter terrorism operations led by the United States, their local affiliates in the Indo Pacific as well as other local radical Islamist and non Islamist groups have continued to pose serious terrorist challenges in the Indo Pacific region. While the threat has somewhat abated in recent times in Southeast Asia, the terrorist threat remains very serious in South Asia. The chapters in this book assess the key threats and counter terrorism responses of South and Southeast Asia to these on going challenges. This book will be indispensable to students, scholars, and policy makers working on Asian Security, Politics, International Relations, and the security dynamics of the Indo Pacific region. The chapters in this issue were originally published as a special issue of Journal of Policing, Intelligence and Counter Terrorism.

Women and the Lebanese Civil War Jennifer Philippa Eggert, 2021-11-09 This book analyses the reasons for women's participation in the various Lebanese and Palestinian militias involved in the Lebanese Civil War 1975-1990. Whilst most existing accounts of the Civil War in Lebanon either overlook the roles and experiences of women entirely or focus on women as victims or peacemakers only, Women and the Lebanese Civil War highlights that women were involved as militants and often also as fighters in all of the militias partaking in the war. Analysing individual motivations, organisational characteristics, security related aspects, and societal factors, the book explains why women were included as fighters in some of the militias but not in others. Based on extensive fieldwork in Lebanon, the book is the first comprehensive study of female perpetrators and supporters of political violence during the Lebanese Civil War. Beyond the case of Lebanon, it questions widespread assumptions about the roles of women at times of violent conflict and war.

Women Defendants and International Law Sheri Labenski, 2024-07-05 This book addresses the largely neglected place of women defendants in contemporary international criminal law beyond the construction of women as victims and asks what the analysis of women perpetrators defendants and suspects reveals about international criminal law the media and feminism The book uses the topic of women perpetrators defendants and suspects as a way to explore the concept of legal subjectivity via a gender analysis It highlights how women perpetrators defendants and suspects are constituted through three spheres namely the areas of international criminal law the media and feminism In examining the relationship between women perpetrators defendants and suspects and each of these spheres the book exposes embedded gender biases and structural gender fractures These reveal that problematic assumptions about how gender operates in conflict are embedded in the very foundations of legal imaginations Ultimately the book argues that this has far reaching consequences beyond its impact on current understandings of armed conflict Rather these assumptions should be a concern for us all even in times of peace This book will be of use to legal academics and practitioners interested in gender within international criminal law as well as those concerned with contemporary feminist approaches to law Women and Climate Change Nicole Detraz, 2023-02-14 How ideas of gender and climate change intersect with our path to a livable future When you think climate change who comes to mind Who's doing the science the reporting the protesting the suffering In Women and Climate Change Nicole Detraz asks where women in the Global North figure in the picture what that means and why it matters Her answers fill critical gaps in what we know about the politics of climate change and gender Representations of climate change like perceptions of gender can make a profound difference in understanding expectations and actions around social cultural and political issues Interviewing women living in the Global North who work in the climate change sphere Detraz examines the crucial links between notions of climate change and gender in particular how women are portrayed in climate change debates Where is their presence or absence recognized What tasks are they expected to perform What factors influence their roles The answers provide a nuanced account of the characteristics conditions and positions associated with women's activities in and experiences of climate change a multifaceted portrayal of women that also demonstrates the generalization and essentializing that can hinder goals of sustainability and gender justice Because gender is a social construction Detraz reminds us change is possible Her book offers the suggestion and the hope that identifying connections between ideas of gender and climate change might also alter our vision of a livable future Routledge Handbook of Peacebuilding Roger Mac Ginty, 2024-08-20 This updated and revised second edition of the Routledge Handbook of Peacebuilding contains cutting edge analyses of contemporary attempts to reach and sustain peace The book covers the main actors and dynamics of peacebuilding as well as the main challenges that it faces with accessible chapters The volume is comprehensive covering everything from the main international institutions for peacebuilding to the links between peacebuilding and climate change or peacebuilding and trauma It is also firmly interdisciplinary with a number of chapters devoted to showcasing how different disciplines interpret peacebuilding and how they contribute to it Bringing together leading thinkers and practitioners on peacebuilding many from the Global South the handbook offers a valuable hands on perspective on how peace can be secured and sustained There is a significant emphasis on comparison and the book shows how peacebuilding is best examined from the vantage point of multiple cases The book is organised into six thematic sections Part I Architecture and Actors Part II Reading Peacebuilding Part III Issues and Approaches Part IV Violence and Security Part V Everyday Living Part VI Disciplinary Approaches This book will be essential reading for students of peacebuilding mediation and post conflict reconstruction and of great interest to students of statebuilding intervention civil wars conflict resolution war and conflict studies and IR in general Chapter 25 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license

Women, Children, and the Collective Face of Conflict in Europe, 1900-1950 Nupur Chaudhuri, Sandra Trudgen Dawson, 2023-10-17 Europe was in turmoil during the first half of the twentieth century The political stability that emanated from nineteenth century political liberalism began to break down reaching climaxes in the Great War the Spanish Civil War and the Second World War Revolutions in Russia and Spain threatened parliamentary governments and the Armenian genocide that began in 1915 foreshadowed the systematic destruction of European Jews in the 1930s and 1940s Dictators seized power and established authoritarian regimes that stymied democratic expression and censored the press Much of the scholarship on each of the conflicts has tended to focus on the military male and the civilian female binary Women and children experienced every conflict during this tumultuous period as civilians consumers victims exiles and combatants As histories of women and war suggest there are exciting new areas of research and scholarship that resist simplistic binaries Women were not simply civilians or victims They were actors in the minutiae of wars revolutions dictatorships and genocides Children were present in these conflicts and not invisible as many histories suggest They too were actors and often politicized by propagandist literature and sectarian education through their own experiences and the politics of their families This collection seeks to complicate the child adult distinction and examine the experiences of women and children as lenses to view a more collective face of conflict While the volume brings to attention conflicts in Europe the editors acknowledge the global ramifications of the revolutions wars and genocides as well as the multitude of individual experiences This collection seeks to expand understanding of the personal as the political in European conflicts from 1900 1950 We believe the focus on women and children offers a diverse perspective on five tumultuous decades of European history

Ex-Combatants' Voices John D. Brewer, Azrini Wahidin, 2021-02-02 This book develops the discourse on the experiences of ex combatants and their transition from war to peace from the perspective of scholars across disciplines Ex combatants are often overlooked and ignored in the post conflict search for memory and understanding resulting in their voice being excluded or distorted This collection seeks to disclose something of the lived experience of ex combatants who have made the transition from war to peace to help to understand some of the difficulties they have encountered in social and emotional reintegration in the wake of combat These include motivations and mobilizations to participation in military struggle the material difficulties experienced in social reintegration after the war the emotional legacies of conflict the discourses they utilize to reconcile their past in a society moving forward from conflict toward peace and ex combatants subsequent engagement or not in peacebuilding It also examines the contributions that former combatants have made to post conflict compromise reconciliation and peacebuilding It focusses on male non state actors women child soldiers and unusually state veterans and complements previous volumes which captured the voices of victims in Northern Ireland South Africa and Sri Lanka This volume speaks to those working in the areas of sociology criminology security studies politics and international relations and professionals working in social justice and human rights NGOs

Returning Home Helen Stenger, 2024-12-16 In March 2019 ISIS was territorially defeated ISIS members were captured and detained men were sent to prison and women and children to camps in northern Syria This is an unprecedented situation where for the first time thousands of female members of a terrorist group are detained in a foreign country without access to legal mechanisms rehabilitation or reintegration measures What happens to the foreign women and children who are not repatriated from the camps If they are repatriated are there rehabilitation and reintegration programmes in place that account for the experiences the women had Most existing rehabilitation and reintegration programmes are gender neutral that is they claim to be universal and are not tailored specifically to male or female beneficiaries Yet typically these programmes are influenced by implicit gender norms and assumptions such as that men are violent perpetrators of aggression and women are victims who are peaceful and lack agency Alongside gender norms intersecting racial and religious dynamics also shape how governments handle the repatriation rehabilitation and reintegration of ISIS returnees This includes racial profiling the conflation between Islam and extremism and more broadly the rising Islamophobia in many countries particularly since the War on Terror These dynamics lead to an absence of rehabilitation and reintegration programmes specifically designed for women s diverse experiences which is the subject of this book Returning Home examines state responses to repatriation rehabilitation and reintegration of ISIS returnees from an intersectional perspective with a focus on ISIS women returnees This book addresses the biased understandings that are built into scholarship and policy responses that reinforce gendered and racialized inequalities It outlines how these dynamics can be uncovered and redressed by designing policies that are responsive to gender differences inequalities and harmful norms

Intersections of Gender, Class, and Race in the Long Nineteenth Century and Beyond Barbara Leonardi, 2018-12-29 This book explores the intersections of gender with class and race in the construction of national and imperial ideologies and their fluid transformation from the Romantic to the Victorian period and beyond exposing how these cultural constructions are deeply entangled with the family metaphor For example by examining the re signification of the angel in the house and the deviant woman in the context of unstable or contingent masculinities and across discourses of class and nation the volume contributes to a more nuanced understanding of British cultural constructions in the long nineteenth century The central idea is to unearth the historical roots of the family metaphor in the construction of national and imperial ideologies and to uncover the interests served by its specific discursive formation The book explores both male and female stereotypes enabling a more perceptive comparison enriched with a nuanced reflection on the construction and social function of class

Marian Reflections on War and Peace Lenart Škof, Emily A. contributions take inspiration from the figure and symbol of Mary as protector of children and guardian of peace intermediary of the incarnation as well as model for ecumenical interreligious and intercultural engagements The chapters explore the role of Mary as a symbol for feminist and activist reflections for the communication of suffering as the mater dolorosa for power when appropriated for political ends and for healing and reconciliation in peace building efforts The book provides readers with valuable theological reflections on conflict global theological ethics ecofeminist and peace building thinking in theology and contemporary political theology

Political Encounters Ruairidh J. Brown, 2019-05-24 This book takes the novel approach of framing Political Obligation as a situation rather than a problem By doing so Political Obligation is not considered as an issue to be solved but a central condition of existence to be investigated and understood The book launches a hermeneutic inquiry into how this relationship of obligation is constructed through encounters in which the citizen comes face to face with the existential manifestations of the State The book first discusses the dominant approaches to Political Obligation to elucidate the benefits of an existential hermeneutical approach The notion of encounter is then developed into a hermeneutic approach capable of uncovering and interpreting the arguments ideas and narratives of obligation as are communicated in political communities Finally the limitations of this approach are considered in reference to the concerns of the Post truth era

Feminist Bioethics in Space Konrad Szocik, 2024 Feminist bioethics of space exploration is a combination of words that we may look for in vain in the philosophical literature as well as more broadly in the humanities and social sciences Moreover the bioethics of space exploration itself is a novel area and to date has only lived to see one monograph Szocik 2023 while the combination of feminism and space exploration is unprecedented It is noteworthy that in 2023 monographs began to appear raising feminist issues in the context of space exploration albeit with few exceptions Kendal 2023 not in relation to bioethical issues One of them is the work of Erika Nesvold 2023 in which the author highlights the enrichment of the discussion of the future of humanity in space with a humanistic element which as Nesvold points out is definitely lacking in the approach of those in the space sector The purpose of this monograph is to fill this niche in the philosophy and bioethics of space exploration and more broadly in humanistic thinking about the future of humans in space We propose a feminist perspective on potential selected problems in space such as human enhancement gene editing and reproduction But as we emphasize in the book feminism is inherently an all encompassing philosophical approach Hence the reader of this book will also encounter considerations that go beyond the scope of bioethics and take us into areas such as the very meaning of carrying out space missions and their potential consequences as well as the exclusion of numerous groups of people on Earth Such exclusion and discrimination not only of women but also of people of a different skin color background social class or ability than the privileged group and therefore also of many men cast a shadow over future space policy which is unlikely to be one of equality justice and inclusion Although the bioethics of space missions considered from a feminist perspective is the focus of this monograph it is impossible not to highlight and discuss other related elements that according to feminist philosophy cannot but affect the moral evaluation of bioethics in space

Freedom Taking Place: War, Women and Culture at the Intersection of Ukraine, Poland, and Belarus Jessica Zychowicz, 2023-05-30 Freedom as a concept shifts with different forms of expression As the authors of this volume convey in their focus on freedom of expression the idea of freedom in the twenty first century does not stand apart as a purely physical location marked by national borders In the Internet Age information is increasingly co determinate of physical freedom The information dense space of the protests of 2021 and beyond provide soil for the intellectuals writing in this volume to reflect on women s agency in struggles for human rights Where historical discourse on The Woman Question once conflicted with feminism as a perceived importation from the West this conflict also produced productive tensions that have provided ongoing sites for research When closely studied these contexts can deepen global concepts of democracy and justice providing not only pathways for acts of solidarity and mutual assistance but intellectual depth and breadth for the future ways of knowing and thus ways of creating more equitable post conflict power systems and citizenship amid times of revolution and war Coming from multiple generations gender identities nationalities and language the authors in this volume represent the most forward thinking voices and figures working on gender in the region today Joyful Human Rights William Paul Simmons, 2019-03-15 In popular legal and academic discourses the term human rights is now almost always discussed in relation to its opposite human rights abuses Syllabi textbooks and articles focus largely on victimization and trauma with scarcely a mention of a positive dimension Joy especially is often discounted and disregarded William Paul Simmons asserts that there is a time and place and necessity in human rights work for being joyful Joyful Human Rights leads us to challenge human rights foundations afresh Focusing on joy shifts the way we view victims perpetrators activists and martyrs and mitigates our propensity to express paternalistic or heroic attitudes toward human rights victims Victims experience joy indeed it is often what sustains them and in many cases what best facilitates their recovery from trauma Instead of reducing individuals merely to victim status or the tragedies they have experienced human rights workers can help harmed individuals reclaim their full humanity which includes positive emotions such as joy A joy centered approach provides new insights into foundational human rights issues such as motivations of perpetrators trauma and survivorship the work of social movements and activists philosophical and historical origins of human rights and the politicization of human rights Many concepts rarely discussed in the field play important roles here including social erotics clowning dancing expressive arts therapy posttraumatic growth and the Buddhist terms metta loving kindness and mudita sympathetic joy Joyful Human Rights provides a new framework one based upon a more comprehensive understanding of human experiences for theorizing and practicing a more affirmative and robust notion of human rights
