Between Tongues Translation And Or Of Or In Performance In Asia:

Between Tongues Jennifer Lindsay, 2006 Between Tongues takes the subject of performance translation in a completely new direction While the topic is often discussed in relation to the translation of dramatic texts such as Shakespeare in Malay the authors in this collection examine presentations of traditional and contemporary works in Asia in their original languages before audiences who do not share that language They also discuss translation as a phenomenon inherent to much performance in Asia particularly in multilingual settings Performance and Translation in a Global Age Avishek

Ganguly, Kélina Gotman, 2023-06-29 This global overview of how translation is understood as a performative practice across genres media and disciplines illuminates the broad impact of the performance turn in the arts and humanities Combining key concepts in comparative literature performance studies and translation theory the volume provides readers with a dynamic account of the ways in which these fields fruitfully interact The chapters display interdisciplinary thinking in action across a wide spectrum of performance practices and media from around the world from poetry and manuscripts to theatre surtitles audio description archives installations dialects movement and dance Paying close attention to questions of race gender sexuality embodiment and accessibility the collection s rich array of methodological approaches and experiments with scholarly writing demonstrate how translation as a performative practice can enrich our understanding of language and politics Theatre Translation Theory and Performance in Contemporary Japan Beverley Curran, 2014-06-03

What motivates a Japanese translator and theatre company to translate and perform a play about racial discrimination in the American South What happens to a gay play when it is staged in a country where the performance of gender is a theatrical tradition What are the politics of First Nations or Aboriginal theatre in Japanese translation and colour blind casting Is a Canadian n drama that tells a story of the Japanese diaspora a performance in cultural appropriation or dramatic innovation In looking for answers to these questions Theatre Translation Theory and Performance in Contemporary Japan extends discussions of theatre translation through a selective investigation of six Western plays translated and staged in Japan since the 1960s with marginalized tongues and bodies at their core The study begins with an examination of James Baldwin s Blues for Mister Charlie followed by explorations of Michel Marc Bouchard s Les feluettes ou La repetition d un drame romantique Tomson Highway s The Rez Sisters and Dry Lips Oughta Move to Kapuskasing Roger Bennett s Up the Ladder and Daphne Marlatt s The Gull The Steveston t Noh Project Native Voices Foreign Bodies locates theatre translation theory and practice in Japan in the post war Showa and Heisei eras and provokes reconsideration of Western notions about the complex interaction of tongues and bodies in translation and theatre when they travel and are reconstituted under different cultural conditions

The Translatability of the Religious Dimension in Shakespeare from Page to Stage, from West to East Jenny Wong, 2018-05-29 This interdisciplinary study traverses the disciplines of translation studies hermeneutics theater studies and sociology Under the power turn or political turn in translation studies the omission and untranslatability of religious material are often seen as the product of censorship or self censorship But the theology of each individual translating agent is often neglected as a contributing factor to such untranslatability This book comprehensively traces the hermeneutical process of the translators as readers and the situational process and semiotics of theater translation Together these factors contribute to an image of translated literature that in turn influences the literature s reception While translation theorists influenced by the current sociological turn view social factors as determining translation activities and strategies this volume argues that the translator s or the dramatist s theology and religious values interact with the socio cultural milieu to carve out a unique drama production Often it is the religious values of the translating agents that determine the product rather than social factors Further the translatability of religious discourse should be understood in a broader sense according to the seven dimensions proposed by Ninian Smart rather than merely focusing on untranslatability as a result of semantic and linguistic differences

Translation in Asia Ronit Ricci,Jan van der Putten,2014-04-08 The field of translation studies was largely formed on the basis of modern Western notions of monolingual nations with print literate societies and monochrome cultures A significant number of societies in Asia and their translation traditions have diverged markedly from this model With their often multilingual populations and maintaining a highly oral orientation in the transmission of cultural knowledge many Asian societies have sustained alternative notions of what text original and translation may mean and have often emphasized performance and change rather than simple copying or transference The contributions in Translation in Asia present exciting new windows into South and Southeast Asian translation traditions and their vast array of shared inter connected and overlapping ideas about and practices of translation transmitted between these two regions over centuries of contact and exchange Drawing on translation traditions rarely acknowledged within translation studies debates including Tagalog Tamil Kannada Malay Hindi Javanese Telugu and Malayalam the essays in this volume engage with myriad interactions of translation and religion colonialism and performance and provide insight into alternative conceptualizations of translation across periods and locales The understanding gained from these diverse perspectives will contribute to complicate and expand the conversations unfolding in an emerging international translation studies

Translation and Music Sebnem Susam-Sarajeva, 2016-04-08 Popular and multimodal forms of cultural products are becoming increasingly visible within translation studies research Interest in translation and music however has so far been relatively limited mainly because translation of musical material has been considered somewhat outside the limits of translation studies as traditionally conceived Difficulties associated with issues such as the musicality of lyrics the fuzzy boundaries between translation adaptation and rewriting and the pervasiveness of covert or unacknowledged translations of musical elements in a variety of settings have generally limited the research in this area to overt and canonized translations such as those done for the opera Yet the intersection of translation and music can be a fascinating field to explore and one which can enrich our understanding of what translation is and how it relates to other forms of expression This special issue is an attempt to open up the field of translation and music to a wider audience within translation studies and to an extent within musicology and cultural studies The volume includes contributions from a wide range of musical genres and languages from those that investigate translation and code switching in North African rap and rai and the intertextual and intersemiotic translations revolving around Mahler's lieder in Chinese to the appropriation and after life of Kurdish folk songs in Turkish and the emergence of rock n roll in Russian Other papers examine the reception of Anglo American stage musicals and musical films in Italy and Spain the concept of singability with examples from Scandinavian languages and the French dubbing of musical episodes of TV series The volume also offers an annotated bibliography on opera translation and a general bibliography on translation and music

Drama Box and the Social Theatre of Singapore How Wee Ng, 2024-03-09 This pioneering study provides an essential guide to the formative years of Drama Box, a leading Chinese language theatre company in Singapore. How Wee Ng presents a compelling narrative of how Drama Box has emerged as a prominent force in the field of theatre for social intervention, effectively amplifying the voices of marginalised communities and establishing itself as a foremost advocate of cutting edge socially oriented artistic practice. Ng's in depth analysis of Drama Box's most influential works during this pivotal period and his meticulous examination of the social, political and economic contexts of their productions illuminate the remarkable balance the company has achieved in its engagement with government policy, censorship and financial imperatives while fiercely defending its artistic autonomy. As well as unveiling the remarkable history of Drama Box, the book offers readers a unique lens through which to understand the complex relationship between the arts and state authority and the broader socio cultural and political landscape of contemporary Singapore.

Asian City Crossings Rossella Ferrari, Ashley Thorpe, 2021-05-17 Asian City Crossings is the first volume to examine the relationship between the city and performance from an Asian perspective. This collection introduces city as method as a new conceptual framework for the investigation of practices of city based performing arts collaboration and city to city performance networks across East and Southeast Asia and beyond. The shared and yet divergent histories of the global cities of Hong Kong and Singapore as postcolonial multiethnic, multicultural and multilingual sites are taken as points of departure to demonstrate how city as method facilitates a comparative analytical space that foregrounds in betweenness and fluid positionalities. It situates inter Asian relationality and inter city referencing as centrally significant dynamics in the exploration of the material and ideological conditions of contemporary performance and performance exchange in Asia. This study captures creative dialogue that travels city based pathways along the Hong Kong Singapore route as well as between Hong Kong and Singapore and other cities through scholarly analyses and practitioner reflections drawn from the fields of theatre performance and music. This book combines essays by scholars of Asian studies, theatre studies, ethnomusicology and human geography with reflective accounts by Hong Kong and Singapore based performing arts practitioners to highlight the diversity, vibrancy and complexity of creative projects that destabilise notions of identity, belonging and nationhood through strategies of collaborative conviviality and transnational mobility across multi sited networks of cities in Asia. In doing so, this volume fills a considerable gap in global scholarly discourse on performance and the city and on the production and circulation of the performing arts in Asia.
