Between Two Towers The Drawings Of The School Of Miami:

Between Two Towers Vincent Joseph Scully, Vincent Scully (Jr.), Jorge Hernandez, Catherine Lynn, 1996 This publication combines the work of the students and faculty of the school of architecture at the University of Miami with a text by the school's distinguished visiting professor Vincent Scully Between Two Towers features a horizontal sketchbook like format capturing the detail complexity and scale of the original drawings The Architectural Capriccio Dr Lucien Steil, 2014-01-17 Bringing together leading writers and practicing architects including Jean Dethier David Mayernik Massimo Scolari Robert Adam David Watkin and Leon Krier this volume provides a kaleidoscopic multilayered exploration of the Architectural Capriccio It not only explains the phenomena within a historical context but moreover demonstrates its contemporary validity and appropriateness as a holistic design methodology an inspiring pictorial strategy an efficient rendering technique and an optimal didactic tool The book shows and comments on a wide range of historic masterworks and highlights contemporary artists and architects excelling in a modern updated refreshed and original tradition of the Capriccio Modern Architecture and Other Essays Vincent Scully, 2003 Combining the modes of historian and critic in unique and compelling ways Scully has profoundly influenced the way architecture is thought about and made This illustrated and elegantly designed volume distills Scully's incalculable contribution 300 illustrations Pride in Modesty Michelangelo Sabatino, 2011-05-21 Following Italy's unification in 1861 architects artists politicians and literati engaged in volatile debates over the pursuit of national and regional identity Growing industrialization and urbanization across the country contrasted with the rediscovery of traditionally built forms and objects created by the agrarian peasantry Pride in Modesty argues that these ordinary often anonymous everyday things inspired and transformed Italian art and architecture from the 1920s through the 1970s Through in depth examinations of texts drawings and buildings Michelangelo Sabatino finds that the folk traditions of the pre industrial countryside have provided formal practical and poetic inspiration directly affecting both design and construction practices over a period of sixty years and a number of different political regimes This surprising continuity allows Sabatino to reject the division of Italian history into sharply delimited periods such as Fascist Interwar and Democratic Postwar and to instead emphasize the long continuous process that transformed pastoral and urban ideals into a new modernist Italy A Selection of Early Italian Painting from the Yale University Art Gallery Yale University. Tropical Architecture Alexander Tzonis, Bruno Zevi, Liane Lefaivre, 2001. The tropical region covers a significant proportion of the globe and yet its architecture receives relatively little outside comment or exposure. Dispersed widely throughout the world, the region incorporates areas as far flung as the Caribbean islands, India, South East Asia and large parts of Australia, Africa and South and Central America. Despite their great cultural diversity, these areas share both climatic and ecological factors as well as a post colonial condition and the pressures of modernization in the world of globalization. Architects' reactions to the tropical context are as varied as the region is diverse. Tropical Architecture brings together architects and critics from throughout the tropical region, examining the implications of the opposing forces of tradition and innovation and the struggle between global and local order. Among the issues covered are sustainability, bio and cultural diversity, micro climatic control and technology and multi disciplinary design. The argument centres on Critical Regionalism, a concept introduced into the architectural debate in the early 1980s by two of the book's co authors, Tzonis and Lefaivre. This is not a style but rather an approach to architecture that asks for design to be conceived in response to the needs and opportunities of a specific region, although it is not inherently opposed to global potentials. The theoretical debate is backed up by case studies of a range of projects from small scale designs using minimal technology to super sophisticated high tech solutions and from schemes that look to environmental comfort to ones concerned with issues of symbolism and memory. It is out of this multiplicity of approaches that the general global lesson of Critical Regionalism as applied to tropical architecture is to be found.

Preservation, 1997. Education of an Architect Ulrich Franzen, Alberto Pérez Gómez, Kim Shkapich, 1999. In 1971 the exhibition Education of an Architect: A Point of View opened at the Museum of Modern Art in New York. To accompany the exhibition, the Cooper Union published an extremely influential limited edition book, long since out of print. This new volume is a smaller format that includes all material from the original book.

Close at Hand Anne Hayden Schwartzburg, 1997. Stretto House Steven Holl Architects, 1996. The Stretto House, built near Dallas, Texas, in 1992, exemplifies the poetic nature of his architecture as well as his method of following an initial concept to its fullest realization. The need for protection from the scorching Texas sun led the architect to explore the ideas of shadow and overlap. The bold overlapping stretto between heavy percussion and light strings in Bela Bartok's Music for Strings, Percussion and Celeste proved fertile for the form and construction of the residence. Like Bartok's score, the house has four sections each consisting of heavy concrete block spatial dams with light metal roofed aqueous space flowing between Orthogonal floors pull one space through to the next while curvilinear roofs stretch space over the walls Essential to the sequential balance are rich details and carefully selected materials including glass slumped or cast in fluid shapes and liquid terrazzo Architektur - Sprache Anette Sommer, Hans Friesen, Eduard Führ, Eduard Führ, Arquitectura antillana del siglo XX Roberto Segre, 2003
