A Theology Of Alterity Levinas Von Balthasar And Trinitarian Praxis:

A Theology of Alterity Glenn Morrison, 2013 Strives to radically utilize Emmanuel Levinas's philosophical framework bringing it into conversation with the theology of Hans Urs von Balthasar to construct a post ontotheological account of theology that unites theory and praxis By allowing Levinas's Judaism to challenge von Balthasar's Catholicism Glenn Morrison develops a perspective that is both theologically rich and philosophically provocative Provided by publisher

Levinas, Von Balthasar and Trinitarian Praxis Glenn Morrison, 2004 Summary 1 Aim The thesis aims to explore Emmanuel Levinas philosophy as a fertile resource for Christian theology In this general context we focus specifically on the way Levinas opens the possibility of a language of alterity or radical otherness in theology in a manner which escapes the limitations of such categories as objectivity presence and Being Recent attempts to employ Levinas philosophy for the benefit of Christian theology have hesitated to go beyond onto theology This thesis however aims to show how Levinas philosophy opens up a style of thinking and suggests a vocabulary of expression that can serve Christian theology especially by intensifying its sense of encounter with Christ and of the Other in him Accordingly the thesis will make use of a number of Levinasian notions to critique and complement the theology of Hans Urs von Balthasar This will lead to the development of what we call a prolegomenon to a Trinitarian praxis 2 Scope The thesis firstly remarks on Christian theology's discovery of Levinas philosophy We then go on to introducing three of the major influences of Levinas philosophy namely Edmund Husserl Martin Heidegger and Franz Rosenzweig This will be followed by an introduction to the life of von Balthasar But the major part of the thesis will be made up of three extensive explorations The first introduces a number of key terms and concepts in Levinasian thought taking into account their possible contribution to the theology of von Balthasar Here we examine especially the notions of otherness and passivity The second exploration takes us into what might be called a recontextualisation of the major sections of von Balthasar's theology aesthetics dramatics and logic through Levinasian analysis Proud to be Deaf: Saintliness in the Catholic Deaf community in South Africa from 1874-1994 Mark

James, 2025-05-15 This thought provoking book details the history of Catholic ministry to the Deaf community in South Africa over 120 years This history provides a backdrop to Deaf people's emerging understanding of themselves as a people imbued with dignity and having their own language and culture The philosopher Emmanuel Levinas understanding of saintliness which is the ethical pursuit of prioritising one's neighbour's needs above those of one's own provides a lens through which to both sympathetically and critically read this history The book ends by paying tribute to the Deaf people in the Catholic Church who contributed significantly to raise Deaf people's awareness of their innate dignity and of sign language as a gift from God The book inspires newness boldness and resilience in ministry to approach the Kingdom of God and encounter the face of Christ crucified by the forces of phonocentrism and audism There are many lessons to be learnt that gives voice and appeal to what Ruben Xulu's image evokes Christ was Africa crucified In sum the book pronounces words of blessing to remember and sign a new journey together from the heart Associate Professor Glenn Morrison School of Philosophy and Theology at the University of Notre Dame Fremantle Australia

Dante in Conversation with Contemporary Theorists Blaise Cirelli, 2024-12-09 Dante's Divine Comedy appears on the reading list of almost every university's Humanities Studies department. But often it is thought of as a relic from the past. What if instead of considering the Divine Comedy as a historical artifact, one engaged the text as a work pertinent to the moment? Can we learn anything about our present situation by reading the Divine Comedy? Blaise Cirelli brings the Divine Comedy to life by challenging readers to consider how contemporary theorists might question Dante about his work. Where would Dante and the theorists agree and where might they disagree? And which side might the reader of this text choose? This book will both enrich our understanding of Dante's Divine Comedy and challenge us to think afresh about our own beliefs.

Morality on the Edge Jolanta Saldukaitytė, Luc Anckaert, 2022 This volume couples and examines Modernity and the Holocaust in Lithuania through the lens of Western moral philosophy, especially the ethics of Emmanuel Levinas. The Holocaust appears not as an abstract event but as a real situation involving real choices, real actions of real people. In rethinking moral problems and dilemmas, the volume draws on various diaries written in the Vilnius and Kaunas ghettos as historical testimonies. These sources reveal in all their concreteness the fragility of human freedom, the difficulty of ethical choice, and the vulnerability of human beings. Contributing authors also seek to understand the responsibility of philosophy itself: how it is tested and what it has to say when confronted with violence and evil. At the far edge of extremity, the Holocaust surely tests the limits of our concepts, our language, and our theoretical and practical paradigms. The evil of the Holocaust, after all, is not a theoretical or hypothetical question but rather concerns the concrete death of millions of people. No doubt the Holocaust is a tragedy suffered by the Jewish people, but it is as well a traumatic event for all humanity; it is our issue.

The Lasting Significance of Etty Hillesum's Writings Klaas A.D. Smelik, 2025-10-01 The Lasting Significance of Etty Hillesum's Writings contains the proceedings of the third international Etty Hillesum Conference held in Middelburg in September 2018. It brings together the work of 33 experts from all over the world to shed new light on life, works, inspiration, and vision of the Dutch Jewish writer Etty Hillesum (1914-1943), one of the victims of the Nazi regime. Hillesum's diaries and letters illustrate her heroic struggle to come to terms with her personal life in the context of the Holocaust. This volume revives Hillesum research with a comprehensive rereading of her texts but also by introducing new sources about her life. With the current rise of interest in peace studies, Judaism, the Holocaust, inter-religious dialogue, gender studies, and mysticism, this book will be invaluable to students and scholars in a range of disciplines.

Theology and Contemporary Continental Philosophy Colby Dickinson, 2018-12-31 This book aims to put modern continental philosophy, specifically the sub-fields of phenomenology, existentialism, hermeneutics, deconstruction, critical theory, and genealogy, into conversation with the field of contemporary theology. Colby Dickinson demonstrates the way in which negative dialectics or the negation of negation may help us to grasp the thin or non-existent borders between continental philosophy and theology as the leading thinkers of both fields wrestle with their entrance into a new era. With the declining place of the sacred in the public sphere, we need to pay more attention than ever to how continental philosophy seems to be returning to distinctly theological roots. Through a genealogical mapping of 20th-century continental philosophers, Dickinson highlights the ever-present Judeo-Christian roots of modern Western philosophical thought. Opposing categories such as immanence, transcendence, finitude, infinitude, universal, particular, subject, object are at the center of works by thinkers such as Agamben, Marion, Vattimo, Levinas, Latour, Caputo, and Adorno. This book argues that utilizing a negative dialectic allows us to move beyond the apparent fixation with dichotomies present within those fields and begin to perform both philosophy and theology anew. Enabling Dialogue about the Land Cunningham, Philip A., Langer, Ruth, Svartvik, Jesper, 2020. Provides resources for peaceful exchange of viewpoints about the Middle East. Sixteen scholars of the Bible and theology offer here insightful, extensively researched essays to shed light on religious and cultural priorities and promote understanding that can lead to productive dialogue. Balthasar and Prayer Travis LaCouter, 2023-06-29. This study renders an original and constructive Catholic theology of prayer drawing on the work of Hans Urs von Balthasar (1905-1988). Travis LaCouter explores the trinitarian, Christological, ecclesial, anthropological, and eschatological dimensions of prayer in Balthasar's theology and shows how these combine to give a powerful account of prayer's proper theological scope and purpose. There is also a critical dimension of prayer which is arguably underdeveloped in some of Balthasar's key texts but which LaCouter shows to have significant dialogical potential with contemporary accounts of parrhesia since Foucault. This approach demonstrates the centrality of prayer to Balthasar's entire theological system and does so in a way which itself constitutes an exercise in Catholic systematics. This study is also distinctive for establishing a method of proceeding through Balthasar's sprawling oeuvre and the similarly vast secondary literature by arguing for three categories of texts in Balthasar's writings and separately three waves of Balthasar readers. Thus, this study is a resource not just for those interested in prayer but for anyone interested in reading Balthasar today. Facing the Other Nigel Zimmermann, 2016-03-31. What is the significance of the body? What might phenomenology contribute to a theological account of the body? And what is gained by prolonging the overlooked dialogue between St. John Paul II and Emmanuel Levinas? Nigel Zimmermann answers these questions through the agreements and the tensions between two of the most important thinkers of the twentieth century: John Paul II, the Polish pope, philosopher, and theologian, and Emmanuel Levinas, the French Jewish philosopher of Lithuanian heritage. Both were provocative thinkers who courageously faced and challenged the assumptions of their age. Both held the human person in high regard and did their thinking with constant reference to God and to theological language. Zimmermann does not shirk from the challenges of each thinker and does not hide their differences. However, he shows how they bequeath a legacy regarding the body that we would overlook at significant ethical peril. We are called, Zimmermann argues, to face the other. In this moment, God refuses a banal marginalisation and our call to responsibility for the other person is issued in their disarming vulnerability In the body philosophy theology and ethics converge to call us to glory even in the paradox of lowly suffering Saying Peace Jack Marsh, 2021-10-01 Levinas's big idea is that our lived sense of moral obligation occurs in an immediate experience of the otherness of the Other and that moral meaning is grounded in alterity rather than identity Yet he also held what seemed an inconsiderate or eurocentric view of other cultural traditions In Saying Peace Jack Marsh explores this problem testing the coherence and adequacy of Levinas's central philosophical claims Using a twofold method of reconstruction and critique Marsh conducts a holistic immanent evaluation of Levinas's major works showing how the problem of eurocentrism and abiding ambiguities in Levinas's political and religious thought can be traced back to specific problems in his general philosophical methodology Marsh offers an original analysis of Levinas's method that verifies and extends existing critical work by Jacques Derrida Robert Bernasconi Judith Butler and others This is the first book to foreground the normative question of chauvinism in Levinas's work and the first to perform a holistic critical diagnosis of his general philosophical method L'altérité constitutive de l'intersubjectivité chez Emmanuel Lévinas et Hans Urs von Balthasar Dominic Lerouze, 2018 La rencontre avec l'autre entre espoir et peur représentation et réalité chappe souvent l'image que l'on s'en fait L'auteur se fonde sur les thèses de Levinas et de Balthasar afin d'étudier l'influence de la révélation christologique dans la construction du rapport à l'autre

Responsibility, God and Society Johan de Tavernier, 2008 A generation of students at the Faculty of Theology of the KU Leuven have been introduced by Roger Burggraeve to the thoughts of Emmanuel Levinas 1905-1995 Levinas has been and still is for him a true master in thinking For Levinas responsibility is heteronymous because it does not start from the I but from the epiphany of the other as the face appealing to me not to kill but to promote him/her In and through the appeal of the face the difference between the other and me expressed in the irreducible alterity of the other is ethically speaking the appeal to the highest non-indifference proximity without absorption As Levinas thinking carries on obvious Jewish Talmudic imprint Burggraeve was interested as to how the concept of responsibility can be connected to a biblically inspired ethic In which way can the Levinasian view on responsibility enhance a Christian anthropology and in particular that one articulated by Louvain personalism and in its turn inspired by a Christian anthropology so that it benefits from uniquely Christian accents In this Festschrift for Roger Burggraeve authors explore the theme of Responsibility God and Society in order to answer two questions What does Levinas's ethic of responsibility have to offer Christian theology And vice versa what can Christian theology offer to contemporary ethical thought on personal relational and societal responsibility The Awakening to the Other Roger Burggraeve, 2008 Levinas is a thinker for the future concerned with the future He inverts the priority of the declaration of the French Revolution Freedom Equality Brotherhood by designating brotherhood first among modern European society's most cherished values Levinas sees brotherhood as the fundamental condition of our shared humanity and as the foundation of freedom and equality Thus he presents himself as a Western thinker who sets modern thought on its head and at the same time enriches it His radical view of the other responsibility subjectivity and the Infinite remains a challenge today more than ever Calling out to both religious and secular seekers alike Levinas asks for an alert and critical dialogue of the ethical and metaphysical meaning of our inter human and social relationships In this work a new generation of philosophers ethicists and theologians embark on a conversation with Levinas with due appreciation for his genius and uninhibitedness in their questioning The intermediaries in this provocative dialogue are Hannah Arendt Henri Bergson Anders Nygren Paul Ricoeur and Hans Urs von Balthasar The following themes are thus treated ethics as liberation and redemption beyond the self time duration and alterity freedom society and politics desire between eros and agape good enough parenting and family ethics conversational processes and pastoral counselling asymmetry and reciprocity between the self and the other modern humanism vs post modern anti humanism as an inspiration for a renewed secular humanism suffering death and euthanasia perspectives and boundaries of interreligious dialogue the impossibility of a Christian interpretation of Levinas Jewish inspired thought a new Christian theology of Trinitarian praxis This volume likewise includes contributions by Roger Burggraeve W Wolf Diedrich Annemie Dillen Thomas Folens Glen Morrison Marianne Moyaert Marina Riemslag Anya Topolski Emilie Van Daele Jean Vanheessen Sophie Veulemans and Torben Wolfs In this book Levinas is presented as an extra ordinary other who awakes into vigilance the conscience of not only the contributors but the readers as well one speaks and the other responds differently

The Trinity and Theodicy Jacob H. Friesenhahn, 2016-02-17 Why does God permit the great suffering and evil that we see in our world This basic question of human existence receives a fresh answer in this book as the mystery of evil is explored in the context of the mystery of the Trinity God's permission of evil and the way in which suffering can lead human persons into the life of the Trinity are discussed in dialogue with the great Swiss theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar In the light of Balthasar's model of the Trinity as divine self giving love we gain a profound grasp of the nature of suffering in human life by placing our suffering in the context of the divine life of the Triune God

The Trinitarian Theology of Hans Urs Von Balthasar Brendan McInerny, 2020 Although scholarship has long recognized the centrality of the Trinity in the theology of Hans Urs von Balthasar no sustained treatment of this theme has been published until now In this insightful new book The Trinitarian Theology of Hans Urs von Balthasar Brendan McInerny fills this gap situating Balthasar's trinitarian theology in conversation with both the wider Christian theological tradition and his non Christian intellectual contemporaries Drawing from across Balthasar's extensive body of works McInerny argues that Balthasar's vivid description of the immanent Trinity provides a way to speak of how God is love in himself beyond his relationship to creatures He then shows how Balthasar's speculation into the immanent Trinity serves as the substructure of his theology of deification For Balthasar what we say about the inner life of God matters because we are called to share in that very life through Christ and the Holy Spirit to the glory of God the Father Finally responding to the criticisms that Balthasar's speculations into the inner life of God are without warrant McInerny argues that Balthasar's bold trinitarian claims are actually a vehicle for apophatic theology Balthasar's vivid description of the triune God does not transgress the boundaries of theological discourse Rather it manifests God's ever greater incomprehensibility through verbal excess oxymoron and paradox

The Holy Trinity Katy Leamy, 2015-04-09 This book explores the ways in which Balthasar employs and adapts the thought of Sergei Bulgakov with the Trinitarian theology of Thomas Aquinas to form a kenotic Trinitarian theology that is based on the notion of Personhood as a relation of self-donating love When we look at Balthasar's Trinitarian theology in light of Bulgakov and particularly as a rereading of Bulgakov in light of a Thomistic Trinitarian theology we are not only able to more clearly understand the implications of Balthasar's own Trinitarian theology but also to highlight the beauty and relevance of Bulgakov's Trinitarian contribution This reading of Balthasar's Trinitarian theology read in light of a Thomistic adjustment of Bulgakov provides an excellent point of integration for an ethics that takes into account not only individual virtues and perfection but also the social relational context of human personhood This ethics is based in a concept of human nature bearing the imago Trinitatis and fulfilling that nature through sacramental participation and ethical extension of Christ's self-offering love

The Gift of the Other Andrew Shepherd, 2014-11-27 We live in an age of global capitalism and terror In a climate of consumption and fear the unknown Other is regarded as a threat to our safety a client to assist or a competitor to be overcome in the struggle for scarce resources And yet the Christian Scriptures explicitly summon us to welcome strangers to care for the widow and the orphan and to build relationships with those distant from us But how in this world of hostility and commodification do we practice hospitality In The Gift of the Other Andrew Shepherd engages deeply with the influential thought of French thinkers Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida and argues that a true vision of hospitality is ultimately found not in postmodern philosophies but in the Christian narrative The book offers a compelling Trinitarian account of the God of hospitality a God of communion who makes room for otherness who overcomes the hostility of the world through Jesus' life, death, and resurrection and who through the work of the Spirit is forming a new community the Church a people of welcome

Levinas and Theology Nigel Zimmermann, 2013-09-12 The thought of Emmanuel Levinas is of increasing importance for those working in the diverse fields of phenomenology and continental philosophy French studies Jewish studies ethics politics and religious studies In this book Nigel Zimmermann gives proper attention to the incarnate aspect of the other in Levinas' work providing a theological reading that explores the basic strands of Levinas' thinking regarding the concrete nature of human living Human communities in which politics inevitably plays a crucial role may learn much from the theological shape of Levinas' philosophy In all his writings Levinas cannot be understood apart from his roles as a Talmudic commentator and as a radical thinker who suffered personally under the shadow of the Holocaust
