the problem of human feelings widely understood from phenomenological analytic and historical perspectives It begins with an analysis of drives and affects and pursues the nature of feeling itself in all of its variability through a close study of the distinctive categories of emotions emotional dispositions orientive feelings and the passions As such the starting point of the analysis entails an examination of the characteristics of human involvement or our ways of being in the world Building upon this assessment of the conditions of human involvement the philosophical history and emotional economy characteristic of modern relationships is treated and the nature of expression social division suffering and responsibility is evaluated in light of the theory of feeling presented here Book jacket Emotion as Feeling Towards Value Jonathan Mitchell, 2021 Much of what we take to be meaningful and significant in life is inextricably linked with our capacity to experience emotions Here Jonathan Mitchell considers emotional experiences as sui generis states to be given their own place within our mental economy and proposes an original view of emotional experiences as feelings towards values Love and Other Emotions Jason W. Brown, 2012 This book is an account of the psychology of romantic love in the context of a theory of emotions The account develops out of studies in brain psychology and the extension to topics in process philosophy such as the nature of value and belief and the central role of feeling in mental process The approach is subjectivist that is from the internal standpoint and in this respect it differs greatly from the externalist and objectivist trends in modern cognitive science and empiricist philosophy Love is the ultimate in value so that a theory of love is also a theory of the nature of value and its relation to feeling belief and to drive and desire The role of intention reason and appraisal is critiqued The relation to other feelings such as jealousy envy anger loss and grief is discussed in terms of a general theory of emotion and the basis in a process account of the mind brain state

Emotions as Original Existences Demian Whiting, 2020-09-25 This book defends the much disputed view that emotions are what Hume referred to as original existences feeling states that have no intentional or representational properties of their own In doing so the book serves as a valuable counterbalance to the now mainstream view that emotions are representational mental states Beginning with a defence of a feeling theory of emotion Whiting opens up a whole new way of thinking about the role and centrality of emotion in our lives showing how emotion is key to a proper understanding of human motivation and the self Whiting establishes that emotions as types of bodily feelings serve as the categorical bases for our behavioural dispositions including those associated with moral thought virtue and vice The book concludes by advancing the idea that emotions make up our intrinsic nature the characterisation of what we are like in and of ourselves when considered apart from how we are disposed to behave The conclusion additionally draws out the implications of the claims made throughout the book in relation to our understanding of mental illness and the treatment of emotional disorders

The Expression of Emotion in the Visual Arts: A Philosophical Inquiry Benjamin R. Tilghman, 2012-12-06 The philosophy of art aesthetics is here understood to be something distinct from both art appreciation and art criticism The philosophy of art is nevertheless dependent upon the existence of appreciation and criticism because it is out of reflection upon these that the uniquely philosophical problems of art arise problems that reflect puzzlement about what is involved in understanding enjoying describing and evaluating works of art Hence the philosophy of art must presuppose at least some measure of understanding and appreciation of particular works of art and if such understanding and appreciation are lacking the philosopher is in no position to supply them It can not be a philosophical task to undertake a Defense of Poesie against either the philistine or the tyrant The philosopher is not the one to convince us that art is a Good

Thing that paintings are worth looking at poems worth reading and music worth listening to if for no other reason than that philosophical theory and argument are no substitute for taste and sensibility My position here is the now unexceptional one that philosophical problems are essentially conceptual problems and while the philosopher of art cannot produce aesthetic sensibility and appreciation where these do not exist he can give us understanding of the concepts relevant to artistic appreciation and thereby help us to see our way through the conceptual confusions that have generated the philosophical puzzles surrounding art its appreciation and criticism
