Inversions is a science fiction novel by Scottish writer Iain M Banks first published in 1998 It is implied to be set in his Culture universe However this is not made explicit within the book and unlike most other recent editions of Banks science fiction novels does not carry the tag A Culture Novel on the cover Banks has said Inversions was an attempt to write a Culture novel that wasn't The book takes place on a fictional planet based on late Middle Ages Europe It alternates chapter by chapter between two concurrent storylines The first storyline is presented as a written account from Oelph publicly a doctor's assistant but privately a spy for an individual identified only as Master to whom much of the account is addressed Oelph is the assistant to Vosill the personal doctor to King Quience of Haspidus and a woman The latter is unheard of in the patriarchal kingdom and is tolerated only because Vosill claims citizenship in the far off country of Drezen The King himself is appreciative of her and her talents but nonetheless her elevated position in defiance of the kingdom's social mores inspires hostility among others of the court Oelph's account follows Vosill as she attends to the King regularly as well as more charitable ministrations to the impoverished and those in need Her methods are unconventional by kingdom standards for example

Ethically Speaking James McGonigal, Kirsten Stirling, 2006 As politics and cultures interact within an increasingly diverse Scotland and differences in values become more evident across generations the need for clear understanding and cooperation within and between communities becomes a pressing issue This relates both to local and larger concerns language violence morality gender and sexuality education ethnicity truth and lies The chapters gathered here focus on significant Scottish writers of the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries Edwin Morgan A L Kennedy Liz Lochhead John Burnside Jackie Kay Robin Jenkins Muriel Spark William McIlvanney Ali Smith James Kelman and others and the communities described are certainly Scottish but the issues raised are universal Questions are asked about the relationship of the individual to others and therefore on a larger scale about the means through which any community is both constructed and sustained linguistically spiritually ethically If their multiple voices evoke a zigzag of contradictions it is at any rate a creative zigzag which discovers or uncovers many contradictory aspects of life in modern Scotland that should particularly be brought to light in a re emergent nation Ethically speaking Scottish writers point out the need to attend to many different narratives and retellings in order that Scots might live more honestly and clear sightedly with themselves and with the wider world

The State of the Art Iain M. Banks, 2024-04-02 From New York Times bestselling and modern master of science fiction Iain M Banks The State of the Art is the acclaimed collection of Banks's short fiction Banks is a phenomenon writing pure science fiction of a peculiarly gnarly energy and elegance William Gibson This is a striking addition to the body of Culture lore and adds definition and scale to the previous works by using the Earth of 1977 as contrast The stories in the collection range from science fiction to horror dark coated fantasy to morality tale All bear the indefinable stamp of Iain Banks s staggering talent Few of us have been exposed to a talent so manifest and of such extraordinary breadth New York Review of Science Fiction Banks can summon up sense of wonder Big Concepts you ve never seen before and display them with narration as deft as a conjuror s fingers scifi com The Culture series Consider Phlebas The Player of Games Use of Weapons The State of the Art Excession Inversions Look to Windward Matter Surface Detail The Hydrogen Sonata

Space, Gender, and the Gaze in Literature and Art Ágnes Zsófia Kovács,László B. Sári,2017-01-06 This volume explores how the concepts of space and gaze are tied in with social constructions of gender relations It discusses the gendered body the queer gaze the relationship between body and memory the memory of war monstrosity and also domestic and hybrid spaces as key concepts The arguments within the book connect core theoretical issues of gender and space to well known literary texts and contexts like the poems of Sylvia Plath and the novels of Don DeLillo Toni Morrison and Cormack McCarthy The collection will be of interest to university students and instructors alike as an extended introduction to critical and theoretical discourses on gender and space
