Three Day Road By Joseph Boyden:

Catching the Torch Neta Gordon, 2014-03-25 Catching the Torch examines contemporary novels and plays written about Canada's participation in World War I. Exploring such works as Jane Urquhart's The Underpainter and The Stone Carvers, Jack Hodgins's Broken Ground, Kevin Kerr's Unity 1918, Stephen Massicotte's Mary's Wedding and Frances Itani's Deafening, the book considers how writers have dealt with the compelling myth that the Canadian nation was born in the trenches of the Great War. In contrast to British and European remembrances of WWI which tend to regard it as a cataclysmic destroyer of innocence or Australian myths that promote an ideal of outsize masculinity, physical bravery and white superiority, contemporary Canadian texts conjure up notions of distinctively Canadian values: tolerance of ethnic difference, the ability to do one's duty without complaint or arrogance, and the inclination to show moral as well as physical courage. Paradoxically, Canadians are shown to decry the horrors of war while making use of its productive cultural effects. Through a close analysis of the way sacrifice, service and the commemoration of war are represented in these literary works, Catching the Torch argues that iterations of a secure mythic notion of national identity, one that is articulated via the representation of straightforward civic and military participation, work to counter current anxieties about the stability of the nation-state in particular anxieties about the failure of the ideal of a national character.

Three Day Road Joseph Boyden, 2010-09-09 The stories of an American Indian sniper caught up in the Great War and of his aunt, one of the last Cree Indians to live off the land, are intertwined in a mesmerising journey as they travel home over three days. This beautiful, haunting novel begins as Niska is reunited with her nephew Xavier after he returns from the horrors of the First World War. As she slowly paddles her canoe on the 3-day journey to take him home, travelling through the stark but stunning landscape of Northern Canada, their respective stories emerge. Niska is the last Cree Indian woman living off the land in Canada. She recalls her memories of growing up among her kinsfolk, of trying to remain true to her ancestors and traditions in a rapidly changing world. Xavier joined the war reluctantly at the urging of his only friend, Elijah, a Cree boy raised in the reservation schools. Elijah and Xavier honed their hunting skills as snipers in the horrors of the trenches and the wastes of No Man's Land. But as the war continues, they react in very different ways to the never-ending carnage around them. Niska realises that in the aftermath of war, Xavier's very soul is dying, but will the three-day journey home be enough to help him find hope again.

The Poverty of Corrupt Nations Roy Cullen, 2008-05-27 Entrapment of the very poor is not an act of nature Pillaging of natural resources is not an unfortunate accident Policing that does not see crime officials who do not enforce rules not mistakes either Corruption is widespread and the cost is high and debilitating to us all

The Fictional North John Butler, Sue Matheson, 2012-03-15 Western culture may have enshrined North as a touchstone by which all other directions are defined but the North is not one but a number of Netherlands like all frontiers the North is in its essence imaginative magicked out of ice and snow muskeg and tundra Storytelling is its generative principle the activity through which the North and Northerners call themselves into being In essays on topics ranging from the Aboriginal justice system in Canada to the search for the Northwest Passage to the cultural paradigms of medieval Iceland The Fictional North examines stereotypes and iconic images of the North the relationship of North to South and ethnographic and fictional models of Northernness This diversity of subjects and methodologies not only introduces readers to the diversity found above the 53rd Parallel but also reflects the catholicity of the North itself Interdisciplinary and timely The Fictional North offers insights into the North's past as well as its present to those interested in circumpolar issues and the areas of culture literature history film sociology and education

Prizing Scottish Literature Stevie Marsden, 2021-02-15 This cultural history of the Saltire Society Literary Awards demonstrates the significance the awards have had within Scottish literary and cultural life It is one piece of the wider cultural award puzzle and illustrates how far from being parochial or niche lesser known awards whose histories may be yet untold play their own role in the circulation of cultural value through the consecration of literary value The study of the Society's Book of the Year and First Book of the Year Awards not only highlights how important connections between literary awards and national culture and identity are within prize culture and how literary awards and their founding institutions can be products of the socio political and cultural milieu in which they form but this study also illustrates how existing literary award scholarship has only begun to scratch the surface of the complexities of the phenomenon This book promotes a new approach to considering literary prizes proposing that the concept of the literary awards hierarchy can contribute to emerging and developing discourses pertaining to literary and indeed cultural prizes more broadly

Carnivalizing Reconciliation Hanna Teichler, 2021-10-15 Transitional justice and national inquiries may be the most established means for coming to terms with traumatic legacies but it is in the more subtle social and cultural processes of memory work that the pitfalls and promises of reconciliation are laid bare This book analyzes within the realms of literature and film recent Australian and Canadian attempts to reconcile with Indigenous populations in the wake of forced child removal As Hanna Teichler demonstrates their systematic emphasis on the subjectivity of the victim is problematic reproducing simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization Such fictions of reconciliation venture beyond simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization offering new opportunities for confronting painful histories

Prizing Literature Gillian Roberts, 2011-10-29 When Canadian authors win prestigious literary prizes from the Governor General's Literary Award to the Man Booker Prize they are celebrated not only for their achievements but also for contributing to this country's cultural capital Discussions about culture national identity and citizenship are particularly complicated when the honorees are immigrants like Michael Ondaatje Carol Shields or Rohinton Mistry Then there is the case of Yann Martel who is identified both as Canadian and as rootlessly cosmopolitan How have these writers' identities been recalibrated in order to claim them as representative Canadians Prizing Literature is the first extended study of contemporary award winning Canadian literature and the ways in which we celebrate its authors Gillian Roberts uses theories of hospitality to examine how prize winning authors are variously received and honoured depending on their citizenship and the extent to which they represent Canadianness Prizing Literature sheds light on popular and media understandings of what it means to be part of a multicultural nation Re: Reading the Postmodern Robert David Stacey, 2010 Bringing together many of the country's most significant critics including several of the originators of postmodern thought in Canada this book marks a first step towards a history of Canadian postmodernism exploring the development of the idea of the postmodern debates about its meaning and its applicability to various genres of Canadian writing and charting its decline in recent years as a favoured critical trope book cover The Oxford Handbook of Indigenous American Literature James Howard Cox, Daniel Heath Justice, 2014 Over the course of the last twenty years Native American and Indigenous American literary studies has experienced a dramatic shift from a critical focus on identity and authenticity to the intellectual cultural political historical and tribal nation contexts from which these Indigenous literatures emerge The Oxford Handbook of Indigenous American Literature reflects on these changes and provides a complete overview of the current state of the field The Handbook's forty three essays organized into four sections cover oral traditions poetry drama non fiction fiction and other forms of Indigenous American writing from the seventeenth through the twenty first century Part I attends to literary histories across a range of communities providing for example analyses of Inuit Chicana o Anishinaabe and M'tis literary practices Part II draws on earlier disciplinary and historical contexts to focus on specific genres as authors discuss Indigenous non fiction emergent trans Indigenous autobiography Mexicanoh and Spanish poetry Native drama in the U S and Canada and even a new Indigenous children's literature canon The third section delves into contemporary modes of critical inquiry to expound on politics of place comparative Indigenism trans Indigenism Native rhetoric and the power of Indigenous writing to communities of readers A final section thoroughly explores the geographical breadth and expanded definition of Indigenous American through detailed accounts of literature from Indian Territory the Red Atlantic the far North Yucat n Amerika Samoa and Francophone Quebec Together the volume is the most comprehensive and expansive critical handbook of Indigenous American literatures published to date It is the first to fully take into account the last twenty years of recovery and scholarship and the first to most significantly address the diverse range of texts secondary archives writing traditions literary histories geographic and political contexts and critical discourses in the field

The New Quarterly, 2007 Powerful Readers Kyla Hadden, Adrienne Gear, 2016-10-14 At any age or grade level powerful readers are those who are aware of their thinking as they read The assumption is that high school students don't need to be taught how to read but even if they can decode words and gain literal understanding they often don't think deeply about what they are reading Presenting a balance of theory and practical lessons Powerful Readers demonstrates that instruction in the key strategies of connecting visualizing questioning inferring determining importance and transforming can help students develop their reading skills and get more out of their work with fiction and nonfiction Step by step lessons for introducing and using the strategies connections to literary devices and reading lists for each strategy are all part of this valuable resource      Speaking in the Past Tense Herb Wylie, 2009-10-22 Speaking in the Past Tense participates in an expanding critical dialogue on the writing of historical fiction providing a series of reflections on the process from the perspective of those souls intrepid enough to step onto what is practically by definition contested territory Herb Wylie from the Introduction The extermination of the Beothuk the exploration of the Arctic the experiences of soldiers in the trenches during World War I the foibles of Canada's longest serving prime minister the Ojibway sniper who is credited with 378 wartime kills these are just some of the people and events discussed in these candid and wide ranging interviews with eleven authors whose novels are based on events in Canadian history These sometimes startling conversations take the reader behind the scenes of the novels and into the minds of their authors Through them we explore the writers motives for writing the challenges they faced in gathering information and presenting it in fictional form the sometimes hostile reaction they faced after publication and perhaps most interestingly the stories that didn't make it into their novels Speaking in the Past Tense provides fascinating insights into the construction of national historical narratives and myths both those familiar to us and those that are still being written      The Great War in Post-Memory Literature and Film Martin Löschnigg, Marzena Sokolowska-Paryz, 2014-10-14 The twenty seven original contributions to this volume investigate the ways in which the First World War has been commemorated and represented internationally in prose fiction drama film docudrama and comics from the 1960s until the present The volume thus provides a comprehensive survey of the cultural memory of the war as reflected in various media across national cultures addressing the complex connections between the cultural post memory of the war and its mediation In four sections the essays investigate 1 the cultural legacy of the Great War including its mythology and iconography 2 the implications of different forms and media for representing the war 3 national memories foregrounding the differences in post memory representations and interpretations of the Great War and 4 representations of the Great War within larger temporal or spatial frameworks focusing specifically on the ideological dimensions of its remembrance in historical socio political gender oriented and post colonial contexts      Canadian Gothic Cynthia Sugars, 2014-01-15 This book explores the Gothic tradition in Canadian literature by tracing a distinctive reworking of the British Gothic in Canada It traces the ways the Gothic genre was reinvented for a specifically Canadian context On the one hand Canadian writers expressed anxiety about the applicability of the British Gothic tradition to the colonies on the other they turned to the Gothic for its vitalising rather than unsettling potential After charting this history of Gothic infusion Canadian Gothic turns its attention to the body of Aboriginal and diasporic writings that respond to this discourse of national self invention from a post colonial perspective These counter narratives unsettle the naturalising force of this invented history rendering the sense of Gothic comfort newly strange The Canadian Gothic tradition has thus been a conflicted one which reimagines the Gothic as a form of cultural sustenance This volume offers an important reconsideration of the Gothic legacy in Canada
