Unnatural Voices Extreme Narration In Modern And Contemporary Fiction By Brian Richardson:

Unnatural Voices Brian Richardson, 2006      Unnatural Voices Brian Richardson, 2006 Brian Richardson presents a study that explores in depth one of the most significant aspects of late modernist avant garde and postmodern narrative. Unnatural Voices analyzes in depth the creation, fragmentation and reconstitution of experimental narrative voices that transcend familiar first and third person perspectives. Going beyond standard theories that are based in rhetoric or linguistics, this book focuses on what innovative authors actually do with narration. Richardson identifies the wide range of unusual narrators, acts of narration and dramas with the identity of the speakers in late modern avant garde and postmodern texts that have not previously been discussed in a sustained manner from a theoretical perspective. He draws attention to the more unusual practices of Conrad, Joyce and Woolf as well as the work of later authors like Beckett and recent postmodernists. Unnatural Voices chronicles the transformation of the narrator figure and the function of narration over the course of the twentieth century and provides chapters on understudied modes such as second person narration, we narration and multiperson narration. It explores a number of distinctively postmodern strategies such as unidentified interlocutors, erased events, the collapse of one voice into another and the varieties of postmodern unreliability. It offers a new view of the relations between author, implied author, narrator and audience and more significantly of the unnatural aspects of fictional narration. Finally, it offers a new model of narrative that can embrace the many non and anti realist practices discussed throughout the book. Brian Richardson is professor of English at the University of Maryland.

Unnatural Narratives - Unnatural Narratology Jan Alber, Rüdiger Heinze, 2011-09-29 In recent years the study of unnatural narratives has become an exciting new but still disparate research program in narrative theory. For the first time this collection of essays presents and discusses the new analytical tools that have so far been developed on the basis of unnatural novels, short stories and plays and extends these findings through analyses of testimonies, comics, graphic novels, films and oral narratives. Many narratives do not only mimetically reproduce the world as we know it but confront us with strange narrative worlds which rely on principles that have very little to do with the actual world around us. The essays in this collection develop new narratological tools and modeling systems which are designed to capture the strangeness and extravagance of such anti realist narratives. Taken together the essays offer a systematic investigation of anti mimetic techniques and strategies that relate to different narrative parameters, different media and different periods within literary history.

Strange Voices in Narrative Fiction Per Krogh Hansen, Stefan Iversen, Henrik Skov Nielsen, Rolf Reitan, 2011-10-27 From its beginnings narratology has incorporated a communicative model of literary narratives considering these as simulations of natural oral acts of communication. This approach however has had some problems with accounting for the strangeness and anomalies of modern and postmodern narratives. As many skeptics have shown not even classical realism conforms to the standard set by oral or natural storytelling. Thus an urge to confront narratology with the difficult task of reconsidering a most basic premise in its theoretical and analytical endeavors has for some time been undeniable During the 2000s Nordic narratologists have been among the most active and insistent critics of the communicative model They share a marked skepticism towards the idea of using natural narratives as a model for understanding and interpreting all kinds of narratives and for all of them the distinction of fiction is of vital importance This anthology presents a collection of new articles that deal with strange narratives narratives of the strange or more generally with the strangeness of fiction and even with some strange aspects of narratology

The Reader in Modernist Fiction Brian Richardson, Professor in the English Department Brian Richardson, 2026-01-31 The first book to explore the representation of reading and its often deleterious consequences in modern fiction

Unnatural Narrative Jan Alber, 2016-03-01 A talking body part a character that is simultaneously alive and dead a shape changing setting or time travel although impossible in the real world such narrative elements do appear in the storyworlds of novels short stories and plays Impossibilities of narrator character time and space are not only common in today's world of postmodernist literature but can also be found throughout the history of literature Examples include the beast fable the heroic epic the romance the eighteenth century circulation novel the Gothic novel the ghost play the fantasy narrative and the science fiction novel among others Unnatural Narrative looks at the startling and persistent presence of the impossible or the unnatural throughout British and American literary history Layering the lenses of cognitive narratology frame theory and possible worlds theory Unnatural Narrative offers a rigorous and engaging new characterization of the unnatural and what it yields for individual readers as well as literary culture Jan Alber demonstrates compelling interpretations of the unnatural in literature and shows the ways in which such unnatural phenomena become conventional in readers' minds altogether expanding our sense of the imaginable and informing new structures and genres of narrative engagement

The Storyworld Accord Erin James, 2015-07-01 Storyworlds mental models of context and environment within which characters function is a concept used to describe what happens in narrative Narratologists agree that the concept of storyworlds best captures the ecology of narrative interpretation by allowing a fuller appreciation of the organization of both space and time by recognizing reading as a process that encourages readers to compare the world of a text to other possible worlds and by highlighting the power of narrative to immerse readers in new and unfamiliar environments Focusing on the work of writers from Trinidad and Nigeria such as Sam Selvon and Ben Okri The Storyworld Accord investigates and compares the storyworlds of nonrealist and postmodern postcolonial texts to show how such narratives grapple with the often collapsed concerns of subjectivity representation and environment bringing together these narratological and ecocritical concerns via a mode that Erin James calls econarratology Arguing that postcolonial ecocriticism like ecocritical studies has tended to neglect imaginative representations of the environment in postcolonial literatures James suggests that readings of storyworlds in postcolonial texts helps narrative theorists and ecocritics better consider the ways in which culture ideologies and social and environmental issues are articulated in narrative forms and structures while also helping postcolonial scholars more fully consider the environment alongside issues of political subjectivity and sovereignty

Contemporary Second- and Third-Person Autobiographical Writing Christina Schönberger-Stepien, 2023-03-31 This book explores 21st century uses of the second and third person perspective in Anglophone autobiographical narratives by canonical male writers Through detailed readings of contemporary autobiographical works by Paul Auster Julian Barnes J M Coetzee and Salman Rushdie the study demonstrates the multiple aesthetic rhetorical and un ethical implications of the choice of narrative perspective as well as the uncommon step of articulating the self from a perspective which is not I Drawing on rhetorical narratology and autobiography theory the book engages with questions and tensions of subjectivity and relationality the interplay of distance and proximity resulting from the narrative perspective and its effects on the relationship between autobiographer text and reader In addition the book traces relevant guiding principles that the authors use to navigate their self narratives in relation to others such as questions of embodiment visibility grief ethics and politics Situating the narratives in their socio political and cultural context the book uncovers to what extent these autobiographical narratives reflect the authors position between self withdrawal and self promotion as well as their response to questions of male agency self stylisation and celebrity status

Contemporary Drift Theodore Martin, 2017-05-30 What does it mean to call something contemporary More than simply denoting what s new it speaks to how we come to know the present we re living in and how we develop a shared story about it The story of trying to understand the present is an integral yet often unnoticed part of the literature and film of our moment In Contemporary Drift Theodore Martin argues that the contemporary is not just a historical period but also a conceptual problem and he claims that contemporary genre fiction offers a much needed resource for resolving that problem Contemporary Drift combines a theoretical focus on the challenge of conceptualizing the present with a historical account of contemporary literature and film Emphasizing both the difficulty and the necessity of historicizing the contemporary the book explores how recent works of fiction depict life in an age of global capitalism postindustrialism and climate change Through new histories of the novel of manners film noir the Western detective fiction and the postapocalyptic novel Martin shows how the problem of the contemporary preoccupies a wide range of novelists and filmmakers including Zadie Smith Colson Whitehead Vikram Chandra China Mi ville Kelly Reichardt and the Coen brothers Martin argues that genre provides these artists with a formal strategy for understanding both the content and the concept of the contemporary Genre writing with its mix of old and new brings to light the complicated process by which we make sense of our present and determine what belongs to our time The Routledge Companion to Experimental Literature Joe Bray, Alison Gibbons, Brian McHale, 2012-07-26 What is experimental literature How has experimentation affected the course of literary history and how is it shaping literary expression today Literary experiment has always been diverse and challenging but never more so than in our age of digital media and social networking when the very category of the literary is coming under intense pressure How will literature reconfigure itself in the future The Routledge Companion to Experimental Literature maps this expansive and multifaceted field with essays on the history of literary experiment from the beginning of the twentieth century to the present the impact of new media on literature including multimodal literature digital fiction and code poetry the development of experimental genres from graphic narratives and found poetry through to gaming and interactive fiction experimental movements from Futurism and Surrealism to Postmodernism Avant Pop and Flarf Shedding new light on often critically neglected terrain the contributors introduce this vibrant area define its current state and offer exciting new perspectives on its future This volume is the ideal introduction for those approaching the study of experimental literature for the first time or looking to further their knowledge Utopia and the Contemporary British Novel Caroline Edwards, 2019-07-11 Explores how the experience of time in contemporary British novels reveals the persistence of the utopian imagination today The Transformative Power of Literature and Narrative: Promoting Positive Change Corinna Assmann, Jan Rupp, Christine Schwanecke, 2023-01-16 Narrative plays a central role for individual and collective lives this insight has arguably only grown at a time of multiple social and cultural challenges in the 21st century The present volume aims to actualize and further substantiate the case for literature and narrative taking inspiration from Vera N nning s eminent scholarship over the past decades Engaging with her formative interdisciplinary work the volume seeks to explore potentials of change through the transformative power of literature and narrative to be harnessed by individuals and groups as agents of positive change in today s world The book is located at the intersection of cognitive and cultural narratology and is concerned with the way literature affects individuals how it works at an intersubjective level enabling communication and community and how it furthers social and cultural change Essays in Narrative and Fictionality Brian Richardson, 2021-06-24 This book brings together several major essays on foundational topics of narrative studies and the theory of fictionality by one of the preeminent figures of postclassical narrative theory It reexamines and reconceives the role of the author the status of implied authors the model for unnatural narrative theory the nature of narrative and the ideological implications of narrative forms It also explores the status of historical characters in fictional texts the paradoxes of realism the presence of multiple implied readers the role of actual readers and the question of fictionality In addition an appendix offers a useful approach for teaching narrative theory The book includes analyses of works by Conrad Joyce Woolf Nabokov Beckett Jeanette Winterson Deborah Eisenberg and others Throughout it argues for a more expansive conception of narrative theory and keen attention to the nature and difference of fiction This provocative book makes crucial interventions in ongoing critical debates about narrative theory literary theory and the theory of fictionality and is essential reading for all students of narrative

Opening Acts Catherine Romagnolo, 2015-10 In the beginning there was the beginning And with the beginning came the power to tell a story Few book length studies of narrative beginnings exist and not one takes a feminist perspective Opening Acts reveals the important role of beginnings as moments of discursive authority with power and agency that have been appropriated by writers from historically marginalized groups Catherine Romagnolo argues for a critical awareness of how social identity plays a role in the strategic use and critical interpretation of narrative beginnings The twentieth century U S women writers whom Romagnolo studies Edith Wharton H D Toni Morrison Julia Alvarez and Amy Tan have seized the power to disrupt conventional structures of authority and undermine historical master narratives of marriage motherhood U S nationhood race and citizenship Using six of their novels as points of entry Romagnolo illuminates the ways in which beginnings are potentially subversive thereby disrupting the reinscription of hierarchically gendered and racialized conceptions of authorship and agency

Emerging Vectors of Narratology Per Krogh Hansen, John Pier, Philippe Roussin, Wolf Schmid, 2017-08-07 Narratology has been flourishing in recent years thanks to investigations into a broad spectrum of narratives at the same time diversifying its theoretical and disciplinary scope as it has sought to specify the status of narrative within both society and scientific research The diverse endeavors engendered by this situation have brought narrative to the forefront of the social and human sciences and have generated new synergies in the research environment Emerging Vectors of Narratology brings together 27 state of the art contributions by an international panel of authors that provide insight into the wealth of new developments in the field The book consists of two sections Contexts includes articles that reframe and refine such topics as the implied author narrative causation and transmedial forms of narrative it also investigates various historical and cultural aspects of narrative from the narratological perspective Openings expands on these and other questions by addressing the narrative turn cognitive issues narrative complexity and metatheoretical matters The book is intended for narratologists as well as for readers in the social and human sciences for whom narrative has become a crucial matrix of inquiry

Narrative Theory, Literature, and New Media Mari Hatavara, Matti Hyvärinen, Maria Mäkelä, Frans Mäyrä, 2015-06-19 Offering an interdisciplinary approach to narrative this book investigates storyworlds and minds in narratives across media from literature to digital games and reality TV from online sadomasochism to oral history databases and from horror to hallucinations It addresses two core questions of contemporary narrative theory inspired by recent cognitive scientific developments what kind of a construction is a storyworld and what kind of mental functioning can be embedded in it Minds and worlds become essential facets of making sense and interpreting narratives as the book asks how story internal minds relate to the mind external to the storyworld that is the mind processing the story With essays from social scientists literary scholars linguists and scholars from interactive media studies answering these topical questions the collection brings diverse disciplines into dialogue providing new openings for genuinely transdisciplinary narrative theory The wide ranging selection of materials analyzed in the book promotes knowledge on the latest forms of cultural and social meaning making through narrative necessary for navigating the contemporary mediatized cultural landscape The combination of theoretical reflection and empirical analysis makes this book an invaluable resource for scholars and advanced students in fields including literary studies social sciences art media and communication

Toward a Cognitive Theory of Narrative Acts Frederick Luis Aldama, 2010-06-01 Toward a Cognitive Theory of Narrative Acts brings together in one volume cutting edge research that turns to recent findings in cognitive and neurobiological sciences psychology linguistics philosophy and evolutionary biology among other disciplines to explore and understand more deeply various cultural phenomena including art music literature and film The essays fulfilling this task for the general reader as well as the specialist are written by renowned authors H Porter Abbott Patrick Colm Hogan Suzanne Keen Herbert Lindenberger Lisa Zunshine Katja Mellman Lalita Pandit Hogan Klarina Priborkin Javier Gutierrez Rexach Ellen Spolsky and Richard Walsh Among the works analyzed are plays by Samuel Beckett novels by Maxine Hong Kingston music compositions by Igor Stravinsky art by Jean Baptiste Simeon Chardin and films by Michael Haneke Each of the essays shows in a systematic clear and precise way how music art literature and film work in and of themselves and also how they are interconnected Finally while each of the essays is unique in style and methodological approach together they show the way toward a unified knowledge of artistic creativity

Possible Worlds Theory and Contemporary Narratology Alice Bell, Marie-Laure Ryan, 2019-01-01 The notion of possible worlds has played a decisive role in postclassical narratology by awakening interest in the nature of fictionality and in emphasizing the notion of world as a source of aesthetic experience in narrative texts As a theory concerned with the opposition between the actual world that we belong to and possible worlds created by the imagination possible worlds theory has made significant contributions to narratology Possible Worlds Theory and Contemporary Narratology updates the field of possible worlds theory and postclassical narratology by developing this theoretical framework further and applying it to a range of contemporary literary narratives This volume systematically outlines the theoretical underpinnings of the possible worlds approach provides updated methods for analyzing fictional narrative and profiles those methods via the analysis of a range of different texts including contemporary fiction digital fiction video games graphic novels historical narratives and dramatic texts Through the variety of its contributions including those by three originators of the subject area Lubomir Doležel Thomas Pavel and Marie Laure Ryan Possible Worlds Theory and Contemporary Narratology demonstrates the vitality and versatility of one of the most vibrant strands of contemporary narrative theory     Reading the Contemporary Author Aliso Gibbons, 2023
