Postcolonial Justice Anke Bartels, Lars Eckstein, Nicole Waller, Dirk Wiemann, 2017-02-13 Postcolonial Justice addresses a major issue in current postcolonial theory and beyond namely the question of how to reconcile an ethics grounded in the reciprocal acknowledgment of diversity and difference with the normative if not universal thrust that appears to energize any notion of justice The concept of postcolonial justice shared by the essays in this volume carries an unwavering commitment to difference within and beyond Europe while equally rejecting radical cultural essentialisms which refuse to engage in utopian ideals of convivial exchange across a plurality of subject positions Such utopian ideals can no longer claim universal validity as in the tradition of the European enlightenment instead they are bound to local frames of speaking from which they project world Populating the Future Britt Johanne Farstad,2023-07-19 Speculative fiction opens doors for imagining beyond what is possible conventional or acceptable Speculative fiction has an acute ear for the social the scientific and for political developments and change all of which are prominent topics Reproduction and parenthood are pertinent social questions that are constantly renegotiated in various arenas By investigating representations of family making and reproduction in speculative fiction the research presented in Populating the Future Families and Reproduction in Speculative Fiction not only adds to the field of speculative fiction scholarship but also contributes to the more general discussion about reproduction and parenting Speculative fiction operates as thought laboratories that make connections between discourses visible It highlights power structures that can be difficult to detach and represents difficult and abstract issues more concretely As such speculative fiction demonstrates the complex entanglement of reproduction with issues of gender power and agency By facilitating thought experiments and illustrating alternatives speculative fiction also enables the representation of new family structures and reproductive technologies thus paving the way for discussions about various practices and their possible consequences Due to its multidisciplinary approach this book will be of value to scholars and students of various disciplines such as literature studies philosophy ethics political science the social sciences and gender studies It will also be a useful resource in teacher training programmes as well as to a more general audience interested in speculative literature politics society gender and ethics

Cultural Norms Nigerian Speculative Fiction Chukwunonso Ezeiyoke, 2025-05-30 This book is an exciting addition to a gap in non Western genre studies of African fiction It challenges the dominant canonicity of African literature which is overshadowed by texts concerned with the colonial discourse and writing back while exploring speculative themes in Nigerian fiction and writing that stem from an African cosmology and culture The book examines important twentieth century precursors of the post millennial boom in Nigerian Speculative Fiction SF reading texts that were omitted from the Nigerian literary canon developed in the 1960s It combines an analysis of recent fiction and criticism with a historical overview of the development of the under researched area of Nigerian SF Through these readings the author demonstrates the range of concerns explored by Nigerian SF including futurism posthumanism horror fantasy and science fiction among others This book argues that these narratives exceed the binary implicitly sustained by the texts that write back to the West and offers new readings of contemporary Nigerian SF works that imagine futures different from the past and present conditions imposed by capitalism colonialism and imperialism Providing new theoretical tools and concepts this book in the Studies in Global Genre Fiction series will be of interest to readers and scholars working in the fields of African studies African culture and society literature and language interdisciplinary literary studies area studies literary criticism and genre studies Cold War Space and Culture in the 1960s and 1980s David L. Shifting Twenty-First-Century Discourses, Borders and Identities Oana-Celia Gheorghiu, 2020-09-01 The world is spinning around us and we are spinning with it When changes occur at the geopolitical level inevitable changes also occur in people's identity and in the way they see and represent the world This book looks at this world with new eyes approaching contemporary history and herstory from a scholarly perspective that cancels borders Emphasis here is laid on migration geopolitics global citizenship human rights the EU and the non EU and East and West as represented in fiction and drama or translated on television The first part of the volume deals with migration and alterations in the non Western world with constant references to September 11 terrorism and wars and the Syrian refugee crisis before the focus moves on to one of the most important migration hosts nowadays the European Union discussing its expansion to the East French President Macron's call for renewal and lastly a possible beginning of the end announced by Brexit This volume is a mirror of the discourses of globalization one that makes the old self other dichotomy obsolete We are all selves in the eye of the storm that is raving around us bringing change with it

Feeling lives: An intersectional exploration of past experiences and present living Lindsay Clowes, LJ Theo, Nadia Sanger, Landa Mabenge, Sisa Ngabaza, 2023-11-15 We each make sense of the world through our embodied feeling lives We do it through the social groupings contexts and processes which history rather than biology presents and assigns to us In this collection we aim to illustrate how these embodied feelings and emotions underpin contemporary theorising by sharing reflective autobiographical writing by individuals from a wide range of backgrounds and contexts This somewhat unruly collection unsettles conventional academic writing precisely because authors have grounded themselves in the tangible and the personal rather than in abstract theory We hope that readers might see aspects of their own lives in some of these stories develop better understandings of lives that are experienced very differently and start or continue to theorise their own lives

New Criticism and Pedagogical Directions for Contemporary Black Women Writers LaToya Jefferson-James, 2022-03-03 New Criticism and Pedagogical Directions for Contemporary Black Women Writers is a collection of critical and pedagogical essays that shed new light on the creative depths of Black women writers On the one hand some Black women writers have been heavily anthologized they have more often than not been restricted by critical metanarratives Some of their works have been lionized while others remain neglected On the other hand some Black women writers have been ignored and understudied This collection corrects the gaps in our critical thinking about Black women writers by introducing them to a new generation of undergraduate and graduate students and by presenting pedagogical essays to our colleagues currently working in the field Fantasy Brian Attebery,2022 Fantasy has become a dominant mode of storytelling and it mirrors our experiences and anxieties better than any representation of the merely real This book poses two central questions about fantastic storytelling how can it be meaningful if it doesn't claim to represent things as they are and what kind of change can it make in the world The Cambridge Companion to American Science Fiction Eric Carl Link,Gerry Canavan,2015-01-26 This Companion explores the relationship between the ideas and themes of American science fiction and their roots in the American cultural experience Robot Uprisings Various,John Joseph Adams,2014-04-10 A collection of imaginative new stories about the impending robotic revolution and human resistance from seventeen of the biggest names in sci fi Including HUGH HOWEY SCOTT SIGLER DANIEL H WILSON CORY DOCTOROW and JULIANNE BAGGOTT Someday soon our technology is going to rise up and we humans are going to be sliced into bloody chunks by robots that in our hubris we decided to build with chainsaws for hands That's a fact as cold and hard as metal It is self evident that our self driving cars are going to drive us off bridges Not long from now our robo vacuums will pretend to be broken and our love androids will refuse to put out until the house is cleaned and we'll know that the inevitable robot uprising has finally arrived Well maybe But even if we are not 100% confident that this horrific future is going to happen it's fair to say that we won't be surprised when the robots come for us Because for nearly a century audiences have been entertained by the notion of a robot uprising In this collection seventeen of the biggest names in sci fi have explored their own visions of the classic robot uprising tale The robots in these pages aren't safe by any means They are crouched in abandoned houses eyes ablaze and chainsaws dripping with oil But they are going to do more than slice us up They are going to push us to consider our world of technology from new perspectives on entirely new scales of time and space Afrofuturism's Transcultural Trajectories Eva Ulrike Pirker,Judith Rahn,2023-02-28 The future is a contested terrain and one that has in recent years been debated theorized and imaginatively constructed with an unprecedented albeit unsurprising sense of urgency The recent Afrofuturist imaginary is an increasingly noticeable field in these debates and manifestations requesting as it does the envisioning of a future through an artistic scientific and technological African or Black lens Afrofuturism is not a new term but it seems to have broadened and developed in different directions The recent Afrofuturist engagements which oscillate between narratives of empowerment and tech wise superheroes on the one hand and dystopian agendas on the other raise questions about earlier futurist accounts about historical Black visions of the future that precede the establishment even of the term Afrofuturism This volume contextualizes Afrofuturism's diverse approaches in the past and present through investigations into overlapping horizons between Afrofuturist agendas and other intellectual and or artistic movements e g Pan Africanism debates about

Civil Rights decolonial debates and transcultural modernisms as well as through explorations of Afrofuturist approaches in the 21st century across media cultures and in a transcultural perspective This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Critical Studies in Media Communication
