Gross, 2010-05-01 Is race something we know when we see it In 1857 Alexina Morrison a slave in Louisiana ran away from her master and surrendered herself to the parish jail for protection Blue eyed and blond Morrison successfully convinced white society that she was one of them When she sued for her freedom witnesses assured the jury that she was white and that they would have known if she had a drop of African blood Morrison s court trial and many others over the last 150 years involved high stakes freedom property and civil rights And they all turned on the question of racial identity Over the past two centuries individuals and groups among them Mexican Americans Indians Asian immigrants and Melungeons have fought to establish their whiteness in order to lay claim to full citizenship in local courtrooms administrative and legislative hearings and the U S Supreme Court Like Morrison s case these trials have often turned less on legal definitions of race as percentages of blood or ancestry than on the way people presented themselves to society and demonstrated their moral and civic character Unearthing the legal history of racial identity Ariela Gross s book examines the paradoxical and often circular relationship of race and the perceived capacity for citizenship in American society This book reminds us that the imaginary connection between racial identity and fitness for citizenship remains potent today and continues to impede racial justice and equality The Life of Hunting and Gathering Tribe in the Eastern Ghats C. Britt, 2017-05-04 This Book was over a dozen years in the making and represents the most comprehensive and documented history of the Lumbee Tuscarora of the Greater Lumbee Settlement It compares and contrasts the mixed tribe Lumbees with other tribes in the State of North Carolina and those in South Carolina and Virginia CMJ New Music Report, 1999-03-08 CMJ New Music Report is the primary source for exclusive charts of non commercial and college radio airplay and independent and trend forward retail sales CMJ s trade publication compiles playlists for college and non commercial stations often a prelude to larger success VISTA Currents, 1980 A technical assistance publication for VISTA volunteers and their sponsoring organizations The Encyclopædia of Missions Edwin Munsell Bliss, 1891 Encyclopedia of Science and Technology Communication Susanna Hornig Priest, 2010-07-14 The explosion of scientific information is exacerbating the information gap between richer poorer educated less educated publics The proliferation of media technology and the popularity of the Internet help some keep up with these developments but also make it more likely others fall further behind This is taking place in a globalizing economy and society that further complicates the division between information haves and have nots and compounds the challenge of communicating about emerging science and technology to increasingly diverse audiences Journalism about science and technology must fill this gap yet journalists and journalism students themselves struggle to keep abreast of contemporary scientific developments Scientist aided by public relations and public information professionals must get their stories out not only to other scientists but also to broader public audiences Funding agencies increasingly expect their grantees to engage in outreach and education and such activity can be seen as both a survival strategy and an ethical imperative for taxpayer supported university based research Science communication often in new forms must expand to meet all these needs Providing a comprehensive introduction to students professionals and scholars in this area is a unique challenge because practitioners in these fields must grasp both the principles of science and the principles of science communication while understanding the social contexts of each For this reason science journalism and science communication are often addressed only in advanced undergraduate or graduate specialty courses rather than covered exhaustively in lower division courses Even so those entering the field rarely will have a comprehensive background in both science and communication studies This circumstance underscores the importance of compiling useful reference materials The Encyclopedia of Science and Technology Communication presents resources and strategies for science communicators including theoretical material and background on recent controversies and key institutional actors and sources Science communicators need to understand more than how to interpret scientific facts and conclusions they need to understand basic elements of the politics sociology and philosophy of science as well as relevant media and communication theory principles of risk communication new trends and how to evaluate the effectiveness of science communication programmes to mention just a few of the major challenges This work will help to develop and enhance such understanding as it addresses these challenges and more Topics covered include advocacy policy and research organizations environmental and health communication philosophy of science media theory and science communication informal science education science journalism as a profession risk communication theory public understanding of science pseudo science in the news special problems in reporting science and technology science communication ethics

Hooch and Hard Liquor in East Asia Paul Chambers,Nithi Nuangjamnong,2025-03-18 Liquor has become a party in East Asia a beverage phenomenon popular among countries throughout the region But in fact each country of East Asia has experienced a different evolution of spirits Indeed there is a liquor idiosyncrasy to each country of East Asia Moreover hooch is the popular alcoholic beverage for the lower classes while more sophisticated spirits are exclusive to the higher classes The book examines liquor moonshine and retail liquor in East Asia It analyzes the following questions as to why liquor is becoming so popular in East Asia Why is production of liquor in East Asia becoming so financially lucrative Why has the production of hooch moonshine become so lucrative In fact the production and consumption of liquor in East Asian have become crucial as East Asia enters a period of craft liquor A valuable resource for academics students and professionals interested in public policy history political economy consumer goods in East Asia and the evolution of hooch and hard liquor in East Asia
