Handbook of Academic Integrity Sarah Elaine Eaton,2023-12-04 The book brings together diverse views from around the world and provides a comprehensive overview of academic integrity and how to create the ethical academy At the same time the Handbook does not shy away from some of the vigorous debates in the field such as the causes of academic integrity breaches There has been an explosion of interest in academic integrity in the last 20 30 years New technologies that have made it easier than ever for students to cut and paste coupled with global media scandals of high profile researchers behaving badly have resulted in the perception that plagiarism is on the rise This in combination with the massification and commercialisation of higher education has resulted in a burgeoning interest in the importance of academic integrity how to safeguard it and how to address breaches appropriately What may have seemed like a relatively easy topic to address students copying sources without attribution has in fact turned out to be a complex interdisciplinary field of research requiring contributions from linguists psychologists social scientists anthropologists teaching and learning specialists mathematicians accountants medical doctors lawyers and philosophers to name just a few Because of this broad interest and input this handbook serves as the single authoritative reference work which brings together the vast growing interdisciplinary and at times contradictory body of literature For both established researchers practitioners and those new to the field this Handbook provides a one stop shop as well as a launching pad for new explorations and discussions

Organic Chemistry Education Research into Practice Jay Wackerly,Sarah Zingales,Michael Wentzel,Gautam Bhattacharyya,Brett McCollum,2025-03-25 This Research Topic has three main goals 1 provide a platform for instructors of organic chemistry to showcase evidence based methods and educational theories they have utilized in their classrooms 2 build new and strengthen existing connections between educational researchers and practitioners and 3 highlight how people have used chemical education based research in their teaching practice There are places in the literature dedicated for chemical education research CER however there is not a clear avenue for those that have changed their teaching methods based on published CER and report their experiences Creating this article collection will foster collaboration between chemical education researchers and teachers of organic chemistry This opportunity allows these instructors to share evidence based practices experiences challenges and innovative approaches from CER literature and beyond This Research Topic bridges discipline based education research and the scholarship of teaching and learning which will help advance organic chemistry education and improve student outcomes

Culture of the Internet Sara Kiesler, 2014-02-04 As we begin a new century the astonishing spread of nationally and internationally accessible computer based communication networks has touched the imagination of people everywhere Suddenly the Internet is in everyday parlance featured in talk shows in special business technology sections of major newspapers and on the covers of national magazines If the Internet is a new world of social behavior it is also a new world for those who study social behavior This volume is a compendium of essays and research reports representing how researchers are thinking about the social processes of electronic communication and its effects in society Taken together the chapters comprise a first gathering of social psychological research on electronic communication and the Internet The authors of these chapters work in different disciplines and have different goals research methods and styles For some the emergence and use of new technologies represent a new perspective on social and behavioral processes of longstanding interest in their disciplines Others want to draw on social science theories to understand technology A third group holds to a more activist program seeking guidance through research to improve social interventions using technology in domains such as education mental health and work productivity Each of these goals has influenced the research questions methods and inferences of the authors and the look and feel of the chapters in this book Intended primarily for researchers who seek exposure to diverse approaches to studying the human side of electronic communication and the Internet this volume has three purposes to illustrate how scientists are thinking about the social processes and effects of electronic communication to encourage research based contributions to current debates on electronic communication design applications and policies and to suggest by example how studies of electronic communication can contribute to social science itself

Classroom Assessment in Action Mark D. Shermis, Francis J. DiVesta, 2011-04-16 Classroom Assessment in Action clarifies the multi faceted roles of measurement and assessment and their applications in a classroom setting Comprehensive in scope Shermis and Di Vesta explain basic measurement concepts and show students how to interpret the results of standardized tests From these basic concepts the authors then provide clear and ordered discussions of how assessment and instruction is integrated into a functional process to enhance student learning Guidelines are set forth for constructing various common assessments Procedures are laid out to evaluate and improve assessments once they are constructed Ultimately the authors shed light on the myriad of factors that impact test score interpretation In today s classroom technology has become a constant companion and Classroom Assessment in Action exposes teacher candidates to emerging technologies they might encounter in building their repertoire of assessments whether it be automated essay scoring or electronic portfolios Classroom Assessment in Action guides its readers to a complete and thorough understanding of assessment and measurement so that they can confidently work with students and parents in explaining results whether they are from a high stakes statewide assessment or the grading philosophy to which they ascribe
