Konigsburg, 1999-05 Four students with their own individual stories develop a special bond and attract the attention of their teacher a paraplegic who chooses them to represent their sixth grade class in the Academic Bowl competition Mrs Eva Marie Olinski always gave good answers Whenever she was asked how she had selected her team for the Academic Bowl she chose one of several good answers Most often she said that the four members of her team had skills that balanced one another That was reasonable Sometimes she said that she knew her team would practice That was accurate To the district superintendent of schools she gave a bad answer but she did that only once only to him and if that answer was not good her reason for giving it was The fact was that Mrs Olinski did not know how she had chosen her team and the further fact was that she didn't know that she didn't know until she did know Of course that is true of most things you do not know up to and including the very last second before you do And for Mrs Olinski that was not until Bowl Day was over and so was the work of her four sixth graders They called themselves The Souls They told Mrs Olinski that they were The Souls long before they were a team but she told them that they were a team as soon as they became The Souls Then after a while teacher and team agreed that they were arguing chicken or egg Whichever way it began chicken or egg team or The Souls it definitely ended with an egg Definitely an egg

Schwebel, Jocelyn Van Tuyl, 2021-08-23 The oldest and most prestigious children's literature award the Newbery Medal has since 1922 been granted annually by the American Library

Association to the children's book it deems most distinguished Medal books enjoy an outsized influence on American children's literature figuring perennially on publishers lists on library and bookstore shelves and in school curricula. As such they offer a compelling window into the history of US children's literature and publishing as well as into changing societal attitudes about which books are best for America's schoolchildren. Yet literary scholars have disproportionately ignored the Medal winners in their research. This volume provides a critically and historically grounded scholarly analysis of representative but understudied Newbery Medal books from the 1920s through the 2010s, interrogating the disjunction between the books' omnipresence and influence on the one hand and the critical silence surrounding them on the other. Dust Off the Gold Medal makes a case for closing these scholarly gaps by revealing neglected texts, insights into the politics of children's literature, prizing, and by demonstrating how neglected titles illuminate critical debates currently central to the field of children's literature. In particular, the essays shed light on the hidden elements of diversity apparent in the neglected Newbery canon while illustrating how the books respond, sometimes in quite subtle ways, to contemporaneous concerns around race, class, gender, disability, nationalism, and globalism.
