Was the Cat in the Hat Black? Philip Nel, 2017 Racism is resilient duplicitous and endlessly adaptable so it is no surprise that America is again in a period of civil rights activism A significant reason racism endures is because it is structural it's embedded in culture and in institutions One of the places that racism hides and thus perhaps the best place to oppose it is books for young people Was the Cat in the Hat Black presents five serious critiques of the history and current state of children's literature tempestuous relationship with both implicit and explicit forms of racism The book fearlessly examines topics both vivid such as The Cat in the Hat's roots in blackface minstrelsy and more opaque like how the children's book industry can perpetuate structural racism via whitewashed covers even while making efforts to increase diversity Rooted in research yet written with a lively crackling touch Nel delves into years of literary criticism and recent sociological data in order to show a better way forward Though much of what is proposed here could be endlessly argued the knowledge that what we learn in childhood imparts both subtle and explicit lessons about whose lives matter is not debatable The text concludes with a short and stark proposal of actions everyone reader author publisher scholar citizen can take to fight the biases and prejudices that infect children s literature While Was the Cat in the Hat Black does not assume it has all the answers to such a deeply systemic problem its audacity should stimulate discussion and activism

Who's Doing the Work? Jan Burkins, Kim Yaris, 2023-10-10. Best selling authors Dr Jan Burkins and Kim Yaris rethink traditional teaching practices. Who's Doing the Work: How to Say Less So Readers Can Do More. They review some common instructional mainstays such as read aloud, guided reading, shared reading and independent reading and provide small yet powerful adjustments to help hold students accountable for their learning. Next generation reading instruction is much more responsive to student needs and aims to remove some of the scaffolding that can hinder reader development. Instead of relying on teacher prompts, Who's Doing the Work asks teachers to have students take ownership of their reading by managing their challenges independently and working through any plateaus they encounter. Whether you are an elementary teacher, literacy coach, reading specialist or parent, Who's Doing the Work provides numerous examples on how to readjust the reading process and teach students to gain proficiency and joy in their work.

Influences and Inspirations in Curriculum Studies Research and Teaching Carmen Shields, Adam Garry Podolski, John J. Guiney Yallop, 2021-09-30. This volume highlights lived experiences, personal inspirations and motivations which have generated scholarship and influenced the research and teaching of scholars in the field of curriculum studies. Offering contributions from new established and experienced scholars, chapters foreground the ways in which the authors have been influenced by the mentorship and work of others, by personal challenges and by the contexts in which they live and work. Chapters also illustrate how scholars have engaged in a variety of methodological and autobiographical processes including narrative and poetic inquiry, autoethnography and visual arts research. Through a range of contributions, the book clarifies the origins and legacy of contemporary curriculum studies and in doing so provides inspiration for beginning scholars and academics as they continue to find their voices in academic communities. Offering rich insight into the experiences and scholarship of a wide range of scholars, this volume will be of interest to students, scholars and researchers with an interest in curriculum studies as well as educational research and methodologies more broadly.

Exploring the Philosophy of Death and Dying Travis Timmerman, Michael Cholbi, 2020-12-30
Exploring the Philosophy of Death and Dying: Classical and Contemporary Perspectives is the first book to offer students the full breadth of philosophical issues that are raised by the end of life. Included are many of the essential voices that have contributed to the philosophy of death and dying throughout history and in contemporary research. The 38 chapters in its nine sections contain classic texts by authors such as Epicurus, Hume, Nietzsche, and Schopenhauer and new short argumentative essays specially commissioned for this volume by world leading contemporary experts. Exploring the Philosophy of Death and Dying introduces students to both theoretical issues: whether we can survive death, whether death is truly bad for us, whether immortality would be desirable, etc. and urgent practical issues: the ethics of suicide, the value of grief, the appropriate medical criteria for declaring death, etc. raised by human mortality, enabling instructors to adapt it to a wide array of institutions and student audiences. As a pedagogical benefit, PowerPoint discussion questions and test questions for each chapter are included as online ancillary materials.

Memory, Intermediality, and Literature Sara Tanderup Linkis, 2019-04-16
If readers of Sara Tanderup Linkis' Something to Hold On To open the book in the expectation of entering a niche of literature and literary studies, they will leave it after having encountered a new highway in literature. Here the traditional theme of memory and the most recent use of digital media merge into a new understanding of the role of the book in the contemporary media landscape and of vicissitudes of memorial processes in literature, which also offers a broader perspective on literature in human history. Spurred by Sara Tanderup Linkis' sharp eye, the readings of texts are lucid, engaging, and offers so many ideas that teachers will renew their curricula and readers will open the internet for more or rush to the library. Svend Erik Larsen, professor emeritus, Memory, Intermediality, and Literature investigates how selected literary works use intermedial strategies to represent and perform cultural memory. Drawing on the theoretical perspectives of cultural memory studies, this engaging reader-friendly monograph examines new materialism and intermediality studies, analyzing works by Alexander Kluge, W. G. Sebald, Jonathan Safran Foer, Anne Carson, Mette Hegne, J. William Joyce, J. J. Abrams, and Doug Dorst. The works emerge out of different traditions and genres ranging from neo avant garde montages through photo novels and book objects to apps and children's stories. In this new monograph, Sara Tanderup Linkis presents an interdisciplinary and comparative approach reading the works together across genres and decades and combining the perspectives of memory studies and materialist and media oriented analysis This approach makes it possible to argue that the works not only use intermedial strategies to represent memory but also to remember literature reflecting on the changing status and function of literature as a mediator of cultural memory in the age of new media Thus the works may be read as reactions to modern media culture suggesting the ways in which literature and memory are affected by new media and technologies photography and television as well as iPads and social media
