Druker,2009-06-08 This innovative study reassesses Primo Levi's Holocaust memoirs in light of the posthumanist theories of Adorno Levinas Lyotard and Foucault and finds causal links between certain Enlightenment ideas and the Nazi genocide Robert Antelme Martin Crowley,2003 Best known for his 1947 memoir L'Espèce humaine Robert Antelme is a central figure in the history of the European response to the Nazi concentration camps In this study Crowley demonstrates Antelme's key contribution to the development of modern European thought The Holocaust, Fascism and Memory D. Stone,2013-02-22 From interpretations of the Holocaust to fascist thought and anti fascists responses this book tackles topics which are rarely studied in conjunction This is a unique collection of essays on a wide variety of subjects which contributes to understanding the roots and consequences of mid twentieth century Europe's great catastrophe Romanticism After Auschwitz Sara Emilie Guyer,2007 Romanticism After Auschwitz reveals how one of the most insistently anti romantic discourses post Holocaust testimony remains romantic and proceeds to show how this insight compels a thorough rethinking of romanticism Politics, Metaphysics, and Death Andrew Norris,2005-07-11 A collection of essays by political theorists on Agamben's Homo Sacer My Father and I David Caron,2010-12-15 It is a living museum of a long gone Jewish life and supposedly a testimony to the success of the French model of social integration It is a communal home where gay men and women are said to stand in defiance of the French model of social integration It is a place of freedom and tolerance where people of color and lesbians nevertheless feel unwanted and where young Zionists from the suburbs gather every Sunday and sometimes harass Arabs It is a hot topic in the press and on television It is open to the world and open for business It is a place to be seen and a place of invisibility It is like a home to me a place where I feel both safe and out of place and where my father felt comfortable and alienated at the same time It is a place of nostalgia innovation shame pride and anxiety where the local and the global intersect for better and for worse And for better and for worse it is a French neighborhood from My Father and I Mixing personal memoir urban studies cultural history and literary criticism as well as a generous selection of photographs My Father and I focuses on the Marais the oldest surviving neighborhood of Paris It also beautifully reveals the intricacies of the relationship between a Jewish father and a gay son each claiming the same neighborhood as his own Beginning with the history of the Marais and its significance in the construction of a French national identity David Caron proposes a rethinking of community and looks at how Jews Chinese immigrants and gays have made the Marais theirs These communities embody in their engagement of urban space a daily challenge to the French concept of universal citizenship that denies them all political legitimacy Caron moves from the strictly French context to more theoretical issues such as social and political archaism immigration and diaspora survival and haunting the public private divide and group friendship as metaphor for unruly and dynamic forms of community and founding disasters such as AIDS and the Holocaust Caron also tells the story of his father a Hungarian Jew and Holocaust survivor who immigrated to France and once called the Marais home After Blanchot Leslie Hill, Brian Nelson, Dimitris Vardoulakis, 2005 What does it mean to come after Blanchot Three things at least First it is to recognise that it is no longer possible to believe in an essentialist determination of literary discourse or of aesthetic experience All this has disappeared and there is no way back Second there is the question of history What is Blanchot's legacy to us his readers Any name however irreplaceably singular is always already preceded limited challenged even by the abiding anonymity of the person animal or thing it claims to name Every name is necessarily impersonal anonymous other Blanchot after Blanchot then can best be understood in the sense of that which is according to Blanchot and that is nothing other than the infinite process of reading and rereading Blanchot without end Here a third meaning to the phrase after Blanchot comes into view For if we come after Blanchot it is surely because Blanchot is still before us still in front still in the future still to come

Federman's Fictions Jeffrey R. Di Leo, 2012-01-02 This collection of essays offers an authoritative examination and appraisal of the French American novelist Raymond Federman's many contributions to humanities scholarship including Holocaust studies Beckett studies translation studies experimental fiction postmodernism and autobiography Although known primarily as a novelist Federman 1928 2009 is also the author of numerous books of poetry essays translations and criticism After emigrating to the United States in 1942 and receiving a Ph D in comparative literature at UCLA in 1957 he held professorships in the University at Buffalo's departments of French and English from 1964 to 1999 Together with Steve Katz and Ronald Sukenick he was one of the original founders of the Fiction Collective a nonprofit publishing house dedicated to avant garde experimental prose Far too many accounts treat Federman as merely a member of a small group of writers who pioneered metafictional or postmodern American literature Federman's Fiction will introduce or for some reintroduce to the broader scholarly community a creative and daring thinker whose work is significant not just to considerations of the development of innovative fiction but to a number of other distinct disciplines and emerging critical discourses Holocaust Diaries as "Life Stories" Amos Goldberg, 2008

The Situationist International in Britain Sam Cooper, 2016-08-25 This book tells for the first time the story of the Situationist International's influence and afterlives in Britain where its radical ideas have been rapturously welcomed and fiercely resisted The Situationist International presented itself as the culmination of the twentieth century avant garde tradition as the true successor of Dada and Surrealism Its grand ambition was not unfounded Though it dissolved in 1972 generations of artists and writers theorists and provocateurs punks and psychogeographers have continued its effort to confront and contest the society of the spectacle This book constructs a long cultural history beginning in the interwar period with the arrival of Surrealism to Britain moving through the countercultures of the 1950s and 1960s and finally surveying the directions in which Situationist theory and practice are being taken today It combines agile historicism with close readings of a vast range of archival and newly excavated materials including newspaper reports underground pamphlets Psychogeographical films and experimental novels It brings to light an overlooked but ferociously productive period of British avant garde practice and demonstrates how this subterranean activity helps us to understand postwar culture late modernism and the complex internationalization of the avant garde As popular and academic interest in the Situationists grows this book offers an important contribution to the international history of the avant garde and Surrealism It will prove a valuable resource for researchers and students of English and Comparative Literature Modernism and the Avant Gardes Twentieth Century and Contemporary History Cultural Studies Art History and Political Aesthetics

The Jews are Coming Back David Bankier, 2005 In 14 papers delivered at or sent to a May 2001 conference in Jerusalem historians specializing in Jews in various European countries examine the views about the return or prospective return of the Jews to their countries of origin after World War II Among the countries are France the Netherlands Italy Poland and Hungary Places and names are

Emotions and Mass Atrocity Thomas Brudholm, Johannes Lang, 2018-03-22 A nuanced range of interdisciplinary perspectives on the role of emotions in moral and political reactions to mass violence

Memory and Totalitarianism Luisa Passerini, 2017-07-12 Understanding Europe's past became an urgent matter with the events of August 1991 in Moscow in the former Soviet Union The invasion of Moscow's streets by Russian people rejecting an attempted coup d'etat was the culmination of a process that had been initiated years before and raised crucial questions To what extent can these events be considered the end of an era stretching from World War I to the 1980s when Europe experienced many forms of dictatorship To what extent can the various forms of dictatorship Europe experienced in the twentieth century be grouped together Can any sort of affinity be established between them The new introduction to the paperback edition of this volume in the Memory and Narrative series Leydesdorff and Crownshaw underline the fundamental importance of the struggle for memory and its meaning Memory and Totalitarianism explores the remembered experiences of individuals living under different totalitarian regimes and examines the construction of memory in the aftermath of those regimes collapse It attempts to situate the findings of oral history in the context of contemporary memory It wrestles with the most painful memories that Europeans have of this century at the end of the Cold War These memories compare with oral history s research into such experiences as racist attitudes against blacks in the South or the cultural and psychological effects of apartheid in South Africa or the Aborigines claim to their own history and to a new idea of history in Australia Totalitarianisms are products of the twentieth century that go far beyond earlier manifestations of absolutism and autocracy in their effort to completely control political social and intellectual life They were made possible by modern industrialism and technology Therefore the theme of the book expands to include many other experiences that relate to totalitarian mentalities

The Beast and the Sovereign, Volume II Jacques Derrida, 2011-09-15 Following on from The Beast and the Sovereign Volume I this book extends Jacques Derrida s exploration of the connections between animality and sovereignty In this second year of the seminar originally presented in 2002 2003 as the last course he would give before his death Derrida focuses on two markedly different texts Heidegger s 1929 1930 course The Fundamental Concepts of Metaphysics and Daniel Defoe s Robinson Crusoe As he moves back and forth between the two works Derrida pursues the relations between solitude insularity world violence boredom and death as they supposedly affect humans and animals in different ways Hitherto unnoticed or underappreciated aspects of Robinson Crusoe are brought out in strikingly original readings of questions such as Crusoe s belief in ghosts his learning to pray his parrot Poll and his reinvention of the wheel Crusoe s terror of being buried alive or swallowed alive by beasts or cannibals gives rise to a rich and provocative reflection on death burial and cremation in part provoked by a meditation on the death of Derrida s friend Maurice Blanchot Throughout these readings are juxtaposed with interpretations of Heidegger s concepts of world and finitude to produce a distinctively Derridean account that will continue to surprise his readers

Palimpsestic Memory Max Silverman, 2013-02-01 The interconnections between histories and memories of the Holocaust colonialism and extreme violence in post war French and Francophone fiction and film provide the central focus of this book It proposes a new model of palimpsestic memory which the author defines as the condensation of different spatio temporal traces to describe these interconnections and defines the poetics and the politics of this composite form In doing so it is argued that a poetics dependent on tropes and techniques such as metaphor allegory and montage establishes connections across space and time which oblige us to perceive cultural memory not in terms of its singular attachment to a particular event or bound to specific ethno cultural or national communities but as a dynamic process of transfer between different moments of racialized violence and between different cultural communities The structure of the book allows for both the theoretical elaboration of this paradigm for cultural memory and individual case studies of novels and films
