The Long Dream By Richard Wright:

The Long Dream Richard Wright, 2000 In the powerful tradition of Native Son Richard Wright's last novel is a stirring story of racial prejudice in the South Conversations with Richard Wright Richard Wright, 1993 Collection of interviews revealing Wright's racial experience and the themes and techniques of his own work Richard Wright Toru Kiuchi, Yoshinobu Hakutani, 2014-01-07 In this minutely detailed comprehensive chronology Toru Kiuchi and Yoshinobu Hakutani document the life in letters of the greatest African American writer of the twentieth century The author of Black Boy and Native Son among other works Wright wrote unflinchingly about the black experience in the United States where his books still influence discussions of race and social justice Entries are documented by Wright's journals articles and other works published and unpublished as well as his letters to and from friends associates writers and public figures Part One covers Wright's life through the year 1946 the period in which he published his best known work Part Two covers the final fifteen years of his life in exile a prolific period in which he wrote two novels four works of nonfiction and four thousand haiku Each part begins with a historical and critical introduction Richard Wright, New Edition Harold Bloom, 2009 Presents a selection of criticism devoted to the work of African American author Richard Wright The World of Richard Wright Fabre, Michel, 1985 Wide ranging essays in which Wright's biographer probes the career ideology complex life and achievements of America's premier black writer A major contribution to Wright studies Keneth Kinnamon Full of insights into cultural history and radical politics race relations and literary connections sets a high standard for scholarship to come Werner Sollors Richard Wright's Travel Writings Virginia Whatley Smith, 2012-01-31 Attracted to remote lands by his interest in the postcolonial struggle Richard Wright 1908-1960 became one of the few African Americans of his time to engage in travel writing He went to emerging nations not as a sightseer but as a student of their cultures learning the politics and the processes of social transformation When Wright fled from the United States in 1946 to live as an expatriate in Paris he was exposed to intellectual thoughts and challenges that transcended his social and political education in America Three events broadened his world view his introduction to French existentialism the rise of the Pan Africanist movement to decolonize Africa and Indonesia's declaration of independence from colonial rule in 1945 During the 1950s as he traveled to emerging nations his encounters produced four travel narratives Black Power 1953 The Color Curtain 1956 Pagan Spain 1956 and White Man Listen 1957 Upon his death in 1960 he left behind an unfinished book on French West Africa which exists only in notes outlines and a draft Written by multinational scholars this collection of essays exploring Wright's travel writings shows how in his hands the genre of travel writing resisted adapted or modified the forms and formats practiced by white authors Enhanced by nine photographs taken by Wright during his travels the essays focus on each of Wright's four separate narratives as well as upon his unfinished book and reveal how Wright drew on such non-Western influences as the African American slave narrative and Asian literature of protest and resistance The essays critique Wright's representation of customs and people and employ a broad range of interpretive modes including the theories of formalism feminism and postmodernism among others Wright's travel books are proved here to be innovative narratives that laid down the roots of such later genres as postcolonial literature contemporary travel writing and resistance literature Virginia Whatley Smith is an associate professor of English at the University of Alabama Birmingham Her work has appeared in African American Review Mississippi Quarterly and MLA Approaches to Teaching Wright's Native Son Faulkner, Welty, Wright Annette Trefzer, Jay Watson, James G.
