The Fate Of A Man By Mikhail Sholokhov:

The Fate of a Man Mikhail Aleksandrovich Sholokhov, 1957 Mikhail Sholokhov : Literaturnyi Portret G.

Mukherjee, 1992 Detailed The monograph the first by an Indian author is presented bilingually Russian English will go a long way towards better understanding of Mikhail Sholokhov The author has essayed to interpret Sholokhov's writings which were permeated by a sense of the beauty of the universe by a love of toiling masses and a simplicity and by a consciousness of humanism and the more serious reflections of the people of the Soviet Union particularly of the Cossacks G Mukerjee considers Sholokhov in relation to Soviet letters and ideology and emphasises on Sholokhov's views much larger than his local region or nation He marks the high literary value of Sholokhov's chef d'oeuvre and Quiet Flows the Don and gives a profound analysis of major works of Sholokhov from Tales from the Don They Fought for Their Father Land Virgin Soil Upturned The Science of Hatred and The Fate of a Man and their relevance to India The author illustrated Sholokhov's views on Gandhi as well He has given clear image of Gandhi to Soviet readers dispelling earlier misconceptions regarding Gandhi This book holds the triumphs and failures of the former Soviet Union to the readers and gives a subtle indication of its recent fall

The Fate of the New Man Claire McCallum, 2018-07-03 Between 1945 and 1965 the catastrophe of war and the social and political changes it brought in its wake had a major impact on the construction of the Soviet masculine ideal Drawing upon a wide range of visual material The Fate of the New Man traces the dramatic changes in the representation of the Soviet man in the postwar period It focuses on the two identities that came to dominate such depictions in the two decades after the end of the war the Soviet man's previous role as a soldier and his new role in the home once the war was over In this compelling study Claire McCallum focuses on the reconceptualization of military heroism after the war the representation of contentious subjects such as the war damaged body and bereavement and postwar changes to the depiction of the Soviet man as father McCallum shows that it was the Second World War rather than the process of de-Stalinization that had the greatest impact on the masculine ideal proving that even under the constraints of Socialist Realism the physical and emotional devastation caused by the war was too great to go unacknowledged The Fate of the New Man makes an important contribution to Soviet masculinity studies McCallum's research also contributes to broader debates surrounding the impact of Stalin's death on Soviet society and on the nature of the subsequent Thaw as well as to those concerning the relationship between Soviet culture and the realities of Soviet life This fascinating study will appeal to scholars and students of Soviet history masculinity studies and visual culture studies

Fate of a man Mikhail Aleksandrovich Sholokhov, Madana Lāla, 2009 Novel based on Russian war USSR. , 1960-07

Bondarchuk's War and Peace Denise J. Youngblood, 2014-11-07 Sergei Bondarchuk's War and Peace one of the world's greatest film epics originated as a consequence of the Cold War Conceived as a response to King Vidor's War and Peace Bondarchuk's surpassed that film in every way giving the USSR one small victory in the cultural Cold War for hearts and minds This book taking up Bondarchuk's masterpiece as a Cold War film an epic a literary adaptation a historical drama and a rival to Vidor's Hollywood version recovers and expands a lost chapter in the cultural and political history of the twentieth century Like many great works of literature Tolstoy's epic tale proved a major challenge to filmmakers After several early efforts to capture the story's grandeur it was not until 1956 that King Vidor dared to bring War and Peace to the big screen American critics were lukewarm about the film but it was shown in the Soviet Union to popular acclaim This book tells the story of how the Soviet government military and culture ministry all eager to reclaim this Russian masterpiece from their Cold War enemies pulled together to make Bondarchuk's War and Peace possible Bondarchuk an actor who had directed only one film was an unlikely choice for director and yet he produced one of the great works of Soviet cinema a worthy homage to Tolstoy's masterpiece an achievement only sweetened when Russia's Cold War adversary recognized it with the Academy Award's Oscar for Best Foreign Language Film of 1968 Denise Youngblood examines the film as an epic and at seven hours long released in four parts at a cost of nearly 700 000 000 in today's dollars it was certainly that a literary adaptation a complex reflection on history and a significant artifact of the cultural Cold War between the US and the USSR From its various angles the book shows us Bondarchuk's extraordinary film in its many dimensions aesthetic political and historical even as it reveals what the film tells us about how Soviet patriotism and historical memory were constructed during the Cold War

Culture and Life, 1980 Myth, Memory, Trauma Polly Jones, 2013-08-27 Drawing on newly available materials from the Soviet archives Polly Jones offers an innovative comprehensive account of de Stalinization in the Soviet Union during the Khrushchev and early Brezhnev eras Jones traces the authorities' initiation and management of the de Stalinization process and explores a wide range of popular reactions to the new narratives of Stalinism in party statements and in Soviet literature and historiography Engaging with the dynamic field of memory studies this book represents the first sustained comparison of this process with other countries' attempts to rethink their own difficult pasts and with later Soviet and post-Soviet approaches to Stalinism

Encyclopedia of Nationalism, Two-Volume Set, 2000-10-27 Nationalism has unexpectedly become a leading local and international force since the end of the Cold War Long predicted to give way to pan-national or economic organizations nationalism exerts its tremendous force on all continents and in a wide variety of ways The Encyclopedia of Nationalism captures the aims and scope of this force through a wide-ranging examination of concepts figures movements and events It is the only encyclopedic study of nationalism available today

 Victoria Khiterer, Erin Magee, 2020-04-02 While many works have been published on different aspects of the Holocaust and genocides their aftermath and impact on society still require further research and discussion in scholarly literature This book illuminates unknown aspects of the aftermath of the Holocaust and genocides and discusses trials of Holocaust and genocide perpetrators commemoration of the victims attempts to revive Jewish national life and outbreaks of post World War II anti Semitism It also analyzes the representation of the Holocaust and genocides in literature press and film The volume includes thirteen articles which are based on recently discovered archival materials and provides new approaches to the research of the Armenian genocide the Holodomor ethnic cleansing and the Holocaust Conditions of Violence Christian Gerlach, 2024-11-04 Mass violence comes not only from states but also from people By analyzing mass violence as social interaction through survivor accounts and other sources this book presents understudied agents aims and practices of direct violence and ways of action of those under persecution Sound history examining the noises of mass violence and persecution is particularly telling about such practices This volume shows that violence can become socially hegemonic and some people claim a freedom to kill as a political right To scrutinize indirect violence which is often imperialist in character and claims many victims the book proposes the concept of conditions of violence These conditions are produced by definable groups of actors and foreseeably harm definable groups which differs from the anonymous and static structural violence This is exemplified in a case study concerning famines in World War II and another on COVID 19 as mass violence Less global in character other case studies in this volume deal with Rwanda Bangladesh East Pakistan and the Soviet Union Papers on
