Schmidt, 2013-06-20 In The Poet Zheng Zhen 1806-1864 and the Rise of Chinese Modernity J D Schmidt provides the first detailed study in a Western language of one of China's greatest poets and explores the nineteenth century background to Chinese modernity challenging the widely held view that this is largely of Western origin. The volume contains a study of Zheng's life and times, an examination of his thought and literary theory and four chapters studying his highly original contributions to poetry on the human realm, nature, verse, narrative poetry and the poetry of ideas including his writings on science and technology. Over a hundred pages of translations of his verse conclude the work.

Dreaming across Languages and Cultures Laurence Wong, 2014-10-02. Dreaming across Languages and Cultures: A Study of the Literary Translations of the Hongloumeng also called The Dream of the Red Chamber, Red Chamber Dream or The Story of the Stone is a groundbreaking monograph in translation studies. Integrating theory with practice, it examines, analyses, compares and evaluates 14 versions of the greatest Chinese novel in five major European languages: namely English, French, German, Italian and Spanish. In this study, translation, linguistic, literary and semiotic theories as well as the author's own experience of translating Dante and Shakespeare are drawn on. Though primarily aimed at scholars specializing in translation and in Hongloumeng studies, the book also introduces students of Chinese literature, comparative literature and cultural studies to new interdisciplinary perspectives. By illustrating salient points with lively and interesting examples too, it enables the non-specialist to see the fascinating intricacies of language and translation as well as the complex relationship between translation and culture. In view of its new approach to a new topic, of its many impressive insights and above all of the amazing depth and breadth of its investigation, Dreaming across Languages and Cultures is truly monumental.

The Language of Color in China Jun Zhou, Gail Taylor, 2019-01-17. This is the first book to explore color history in Asia. Color is a natural phenomenon and a fundamental element of the universe and offers a medium to communicate with others globally. It is a language of signals such as traffic lights, signs or symbols and an essential part of society. Color attracts people's attention and transmits important information. As such, color language denotes all of the activities of human history and has been associated with changes in society, economic development and dynasties replacing the old with the new. The book brings together many elements of Chinese history with reference to the topic of color and has evolved from the authors' respective interests in art and design, teaching and research consultancy and publishing. The topic will be of increasing importance in the future as a consequence of China's increasing influence in the sphere of global culture. For practitioners of art and design, the book will be a valuable resource for the general public interested in the development of Chinese aesthetics over the centuries; it will provide a new perspective complementary to existing studies about art, design and the history of the region.

Cultural Bifocals on Chinese TV Series and Diaspora Fiction Sheng-mei Ma, 2024-10-11

The book explores how Chinese TV series and Asian Diaspora fiction are consumed, experienced and adapted by and for audiences worldwide, particularly those of the Chinese diaspora. It focuses or zooms in on well-known exceptional Chinese TV series such as Reset and The Bad Kids and zooms out to explore a wider panorama of lesser-known TV dramas and films. It also explores Asian American representations of bespoke immigrants: the Nobelist Kazuo Ishiguro and other 1.5 generation novelists; a Canadian missionary's memoir; a Taiwanese Canadian young adult fantasy author among others. Through the analysis of this material, it reveals how some Asian American writers are themselves liable to portraying stereotypes of Asian immigrant communities, reinforcing familiar tropes of the white gaze. It also features an insightful analysis of Taiwan's films and culture, highlighting how Taiwanese identity is represented and moreover shaped by cross-strait tensions. Exploring a diversity of content and media consumption, this book will appeal to students and scholars of media studies, Cultural studies, Chinese studies and Asian studies.
