LAB EXERCISE 5: Lizard Evolution Virtual Lab

Answer the following questions as you finish each module in the virtual lab.

MODULE 1: Introduction

At the beginning of the virtual lab, you were asked to select eight lizards into categories. What criteria did you use to select the lizards you chose?

They were all green and had long tails.

Did you notice great variation here? Why?

Yes, because the lizards had different colors and patterns. Some were green, some were brown, and some were black. They also had different shapes and sizes.

An adaptation is a structure or function that the organism has as a response to its environment. Give an example of a structure and a function that is an adaptation. (Provide one example and an explanation of an adaptation in the answer space.)

Example: A lizard's long tail is an adaptation because it helps it to escape predators. The long tail can break off and regenerate, allowing the lizard to escape.

Provide one evolutionary explanation for why diversifying in this world isn't always beneficial (i.e., the grass) would have limited a lizard's fitness.

Because the grass is so green, it is hard for lizards to see it. This means that lizards that are green are more likely to be eaten by predators.
