

Macro Unit 6 Problem Set 1: Balance of Payments & Exchange Rates

Click Here For Review Video on Balance of Payments

Part 1 – Check Your Understanding- The nation of EconLand currently has a trade deficit with Macrostan. The following is a transcript of a speech delivered by EconLand presidential candidate, Protek Shinist. The speech has at least seven economic fallacies (flawed statements based on inaccurate assumptions). Identify 3 of these fallacious statements and correct them.

"EconLand ran a $100 billion trade deficit with Macrostan last year. This is unacceptable! Our wealth is flooding out of our country and enriching Macrostan while we sit by and just watch it happen. That's $100 billion that has exited our economy, never to return. Macrostan is laughing at us as they profit off of our foolishness. Think of all the EconLand jobs that are being stolen by Macrostan—these are jobs that would return to EconLand if we implemented tariffs, trade barriers, or maybe even stopped trading with Macrostan altogether! Our unemployment rate would surely be lower if we did so. If I'm elected president I promise that I will bring these jobs back to EconLand where they belong. By implementing high tariffs on goods from Macrostan, our wealth will stay in EconLand and our nation will flourish and become richer!"

1. Fallacy: EconLand purchasing imports from Macrostan is "wealth flooding out."	Reality: Trade is mutually beneficial; every import purchased by EconLand from Macrostan benefits both parties. The buyer's marginal benefit was larger than their marginal cost. So was the seller's. Trade is not a zero-sum game.
2. Fallacy: Imports represent lost jobs for EconLand; reducing trade with the use of tariffs or other trade barriers will "save" EconLand jobs.	Reality: When nations trade, production is based on which nation produces goods more cheaply, freeing up resources to buy other things. Trade will provide jobs in the goods and services EconLand makes more cheaply.
3. Fallacy: The unemployment rate would be lower in a closed economy, without trade.	Reality: With trade, nations can consume (not produce) outside the limits of their PPF. Exports create jobs. If EconLand is limited to only consuming what it can produce, there are fewer job opportunities.

Part 2 – Making Connections- Answer the questions.

4. What is the difference between the current account and the capital/financial account? Current account measures the sale and purchases of goods and services and unilateral transfers. The financial account measures the current account measures transactions that don't create a liability, whereas financial account transactions do create a liability.
5. What does it mean if a country has a negative balance of payments on goods and services? They have a trade deficit so imports of goods and services are greater than exports.
6. What is the difference between a trade deficit and a trade surplus? A trade deficit means a country is importing more than it exports, whereas a trade surplus means a country is exporting more than it imports.
7. The balance of trade makes up a large portion of the current account, but it is not quite everything. What else is included in the current account? The two other categories are: U.S. earnings from investments abroad minus foreign earnings from U.S. investments and foreign aid from the U.S. sent abroad + aid sent to family abroad.
8. Explain why economists generally focus on the balance of payments (BOP) instead of just the balance of trade. The balance of payments gives a more complete picture of all transactions and money flowing in and out of the country
