Smith,2017-09-29 Explanations for inflation had for a long time been ceded to the purview of economists The acceleration in rates of inflation within advanced economies during the 1960s and 1970s however prompted sociologists and political scientists to attempt their own accounts for this phenomenon There are two major competing explanations of the postwar inflation One most commonly held by economists is that inflation has been produced by governments through a combination of policy errors and cynical manipulation of policy for electoral purposes The other often advanced by sociologists and political scientists as an alternative is that inflation has been an outcome of class conflict In his study that ranges widely over the literature in the relevant disciplines Smith examines the strengths and weaknesses of each account with particular attention to the evidence presented in support of class conflict explanations He concludes that on balance the policy error cynical manipulation explanation is better supported than its class conflict rival The clarity with which Smith presents these rival accounts and the critical rigor of his scrutiny make this a work of interest to advanced students in macroeconomic theory and to policy makers Paperbound Books in Print ,1983 AB Bookman's Weekly ,1998
