Segregated Species Jules Skotnes-Brown, 2024-07-30 This work describes how pests have shaped the production of knowledge in addition to their relationship with nature in rural South Africa Reading for Water Isabel Hofmeyr, Charne Lavery, Sarah Nuttall, 2023-09-12 An experiment in reading for water this book offers students and teachers a toolkit of methods that follow the sensory political and agentive power of water across literary texts The chapters in this book follow rivers rain streams tunnels and sewers connect atmospheric surface and ground water describe competing hydrological traditions and hydro epistemologies They propose new literary regions defined less by nation and area than by coastlines river basins monsoons currents and hydro cosmologies Whether thinking along water courses below the water line or through the fall of precipitation Reading for Water moves laterally vertically and contrapuntally between different water worlds and hydro imaginaries Addressing southern African and Caribbean texts the collection draws on a range of elementally inclined literary approaches critical oceanic studies new materialisms coastal and hydrocritical approaches hydrocolonialism black hydropoetics and atmospheric methods The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Interventions

Reworking Citizenship Brady G'sell, 2024-08-13 In scenes reminiscent of the apartheid era 2021 saw South Africa's streets filled with mass protests While the country is lauded for its peaceful transition to democracy with citizenship for all those previously disenfranchised particularly women remain outraged by their continued poverty and marginalization As one black woman protester told a reporter reflecting on the end of apartheid We didn't get freedom We only got democracy What obligations do states have to support their citizens What meaning does citizenship itself hold Blending archival and ethnographic methods Brady G'sell tracks how historic resistance to racial and gendered marginalization in South Africa animate present day contentions that regardless of voting rights without jobs to support their families the poor majority remain excluded from the nation Through long term fieldwork with impoverished black African Indian and coloured mixed race women living in the city of Durban she reveals women's everyday efforts to rework political institutions that exclude them Informed by her interlocutors G'sell retheorizes citizenship as not solely tied to individual rights but dependent on the security of social often kinship relations She forwards the concept of relational citizenship as a means to reimagine political belonging amidst a world of declining wage labor and eroding state citizen covenants

The Rise of the African Novel Mukoma Wa Ngugi, 2018-03-27 Engaging questions of language identity and reception to restore South African and diaspora writing to the African literary tradition

Violence in Rural South Africa, 1880-1963 Sean Redding, 2023-02-21 Violence was endemic to rural South African society from the late nineteenth century to the mid twentieth century But acts of violence were not inherent in African culture rather violence resulted from the ways in which Africans navigated the hazardous social and political landscape imposed by white rule Focusing on the Eastern Cape province Sean Redding investigates the rise of large scale lethal fights among men increasingly coercive abduction marriages violent acts resulting from domestic troubles and witchcraft accusations within families and communities and political violence against state policies and officials Many violent acts attempted to reestablish and reinforce a moral social and political order among Africans However what constituted a moral order changed as white governance became more intrusive land became scarcer and people reconstructed their notions of traditional culture State policies became obstacles around which Africans had to navigate by invoking the idea of tradition using the state's court system alleging the use of witchcraft or engaging in violent threats and acts Redding's use of multiple court cases and documents to discuss several types of violence provides a richer context for the scholarly conversation about the legitimization of violence in traditions family life and political protest

A Bold Profession Leslie Anne Hadfield, 2021-05-11 In rural South African clinics Black nurses were charged with administering life saving health care measures despite a lack of equipment and personnel often while navigating the intersections of traditional African healing practices and changing gender relations A Bold Profession is an homage to their dedication to the well being of their communities

The Activist Collector Christa Clarke, 2023-02-17 Published by the Newark Museum Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press After twenty eight years of desire and determination I have visited Africa the land of my forefathers So wrote Lida Clanton Broner 1895-1982 an African American housekeeper and hairstylist from Newark New Jersey upon her return from an extraordinary nine month journey to South Africa in 1938 This epic trip was motivated not only by Broner's sense of ancestral heritage but also a grassroots resolve to connect the socio political concerns of African Americans with those of black South Africans under the segregationist policies of the time During her travels this woman of modest means circulated among South Africa s Black intellectual elite including many leaders of South Africa s freedom struggle Her lectures at Black schools on race consciousness and race pride had a decidedly political bent even as she was presented as an American beauty specialist How did Broner a working class mother come to be a globally connected activist What were her experiences as an African American woman in segregated South Africa and how did she further her work after her return Broner s remarkable story is the subject of this book which draws upon a deep visual and documentary record now held in the collection of the Newark Museum of Art This extraordinary archive includes more than one hundred and fifty objects ranging from beadwork and pottery to mission school crafts acquired by Broner in South Africa along with her diary correspondence scrapbooks and hundreds of photographs with handwritten notations

The African Revolution Richard Reid, 2025-01-28 A panoramic global history of Africa in the age of imperialism Africa s long nineteenth century was a time of revolutionary ferment and cultural innovation for the continent s states societies and economies Yet the period preceding what became known as the Scramble for Africa by European powers in the decades leading up to World War I has long been neglected in favor of a Western narrative of colonial rule The African Revolution demonstrates that the Scramble and the resulting imperial order were as much the culmination of African revolutionary dynamics as they were of European expansionism In this monumental work of history Richard Reid paints a multifaceted portrait of a continent on the global stage He describes how Africa witnessed the emergence of new economic and political dynamics that were underpinned by forms of violence and volatility not unlike those emanating from Europe Reid uses a stretch of road in what is now Tanzania one of the nineteenth century s most vibrant commercial highways as an entry point into this revolutionary epoch weaving a broader story around characters and events on the road He integrates the African experience with new insights into the deeper currents in European societies before and after conquest and he shows how the Africans themselves created opportunities for European expansion Challenging the portrayal of Africa's transformative nineteenth century as a mere prelude to European colonialism The African Revolution reveals how this turbulent yet hugely creative era for Africans intersected with global intrusions to shape the modern age

Foundational African Writers Bhekizizwe Peterson, Jill Bradbury, Hugo Canham, Innocentia J Mhlambi, Victoria J Collis-Buthelezi, Sikhumbuzo Mngadi, Simon Gikandi, Thando Njovane, Anne-Maria Makhulu, Obi Nwakanma, Athambile Masola, James Ogude, Christopher EW Ouma, Stéphane Robolin, Crain Soudien, Tina Steiner, Thuto Thipe, Andrea Thorpe, 2022-06 The essays in this collection were crafted in celebration of the centenaries in 2019 of Peter Abrahams, Noni Jabavu, Sibusiso Cyril Lincoln Nyembezi and Es'kia Mphahlele all of whom were born in 1919 All four centenarians lived rich and diverse lives across several continents In the years following the Second World War they produced more than half a century of foundational creative writing and literary criticism and made stellar contributions to institutions and repertoires of African and black arts and letters in South Africa and internationally The range of the centenarians' imaginations, critical analyses and social interventions spanned disciplinary divides This volume in the same spirit draws on approaches that are equally transdisciplinary Two aims thread through the contributors' reflections on the complexities of black existence and of intellectual and cultural life in the twentieth century The first is the exploration of some of the centenarians' key texts and cultural projects that shaped their legacies In doing so the volume contributors trace a number of divergent intellectual and aesthetic lineages in their works and organisational activities The second aim is a consideration of the ways in which these foundational writers' legacies continue to resonate today confirming their status as crucial contributors to modern African and diasporic black arts and letters

Down the Baakens Underworld Brian Walter, 2024-11-08 My first two collections Tracks and Baakens were written and published while I lived in Alice or eDikeni at the marsh 1 on the banks of the Thuyume River and taught at the University of Fort Hare I was honoured to be asked by the Reverend Bongani Ntswana to submit a collection which became Tracks to be considered for publication in honour of the 175th anniversary of Lovedale Press Thus Lovedale led me into the world of publishing and I shall always be grateful to the Press and the staff there with some of whom I am still in contact In my mind I can't separate these texts from their Lovedale origins and it was with a sense of nostalgia that I asked the Press to release the books that had once appeared separately for republication in a different format The reprinting was occasioned by a few considerations starting with Baakens which I always felt was not yet done and which needed more editing This was only a niggle until the name of Port Elizabeth was changed to Gqeberha the old Khoi word for the Baakens The name Gqeberha is also the name of the Walmer Township the subject of much debate when I was young as the Nationalists wished to bulldoze it down as they had done to other nearby areas Thus the word was in the air However the word Gqeberha did not appear in the first edition it had fallen somewhat out of general use in relation to the valley That changed with the city's name change and the niggly editing I wanted to do became an imperative With Tracks I initially wished to do only a little editing But the journeys in the opening and closing sequences seemed to tie in with the catabasis of Baakens It seemed that they should be read together and the idea of one book started growing on me Working with Allan Kolski Horwitz moreover enabled a fresh look at the poems in each book and he has helped me shape them and made them easier on both eye and voice I am grateful for his interest The text reflects on the past and many of the troubles we face today were wrought in the past The text is indeed a quest for kindness in the face of our history one in which the very notion of forgiveness seems nebulous And so I am most grateful to Lovedale Press for graciously releasing Tracks and Baakens and allowing me to reimagine them for this phase of their development

Land, Law and Chiefs in Rural South Africa
William Beinart, Rosalie Kingwill, Gavin Capps, 2021-05-01 This edited collection illustrates contestations over land and political authority in South Africa's rural areas focusing on threats to popular rights and how they are being supported Who controls the land and minerals in the former Bantustans of South Africa chiefs the state or landholders Disputes are taking place around the ownership of resources decisions about their exploitation and who should benefit With respect to all of these issues the courts have become increasingly important The contributors to Land Law and Chiefs in Rural South Africa capture some of these intense contestations over land law and political authority focussing on threats to the rights of ordinary people History and customary law feature strongly in most disputes and succession to chieftaincy is also frequently disputed Judges have to make decisions in a context where rival claimants to property or office assert their own versions of history and custom The South African constitution recognizes customary law and the courts are attempting to incorporate and develop this branch of jurisprudence as living customary law Lawyers community leaders and academics are called on to assist in researching cases around restitution land rights and customary law The chapters in this collection discuss legal cases and policy directions that have evolved since 1994 Some chapters analyze the increasing power of chiefs in the South African rural areas while others suggest that the courts are giving support to popular rights over land and supporting local democratic processes Contributors record significant pushback from groups that reject traditional authority These political tensions are a central theme of the collection and thus serve as vital case studies in furthering our understanding of rights and restitution in South Africa

The King and the Land Stephen C. Russell, 2017 The King and the Land offers an innovative history of space and power in the biblical world Stephen C Russell shows how the monarchies in ancient Israel and Judah asserted their power over strategically important spaces such as privately held lands religious buildings collectively governed towns and urban water systems Among the case studies examined are Solomon's use of foreign architecture David's dedication of land to Yahweh Jehu's decommissioning of Baal's temple Absalom's navigation of the collective politics of Levantine towns and Hezekiah's reshaping of the tunnels that supplied Jerusalem with water By treating the full range of archaeological and textual evidence available for the Iron Age Levant this book sets Israelite and Judahite royal and tribal politics within broader patterns of ancient Near Eastern spatial power The book's historical investigation also enables fresh literary readings of the individual texts that anchor its thesis
