At The Limits Of History Essays On Theory And Practice:

At the Limits of History Keith Jenkins, 2013-02-01 Why bother with history Keith Jenkins has an answer He helps us re think the end of history as signalled by postmodernity Readers may disagree with him but he never fails to provoke debate about the future of the past Joanna Bourke Professor of History Birkbeck College Keith Jenkins work on historical theory is renowned this collection presents the essential elements of his work over the last fifteen years Here we see Jenkins address the difficult and complex question of defining the limits of history The collection draws together the key pieces of his work in one handy volume encompassing the ever controversial issue of postmodernism and history questions on the end of history and radical history into the future Exchanges with Perez Zagorin and Michael Coleman further illuminate the level of debate that has surrounded postmodernism and which continues to do so An extended introduction and abstracts which contextualize each piece together with a foreword by Hayden White and an afterword by Alun Munslow make this collection essential reading for all those interested in the theory and practice of history and its development over the last few decades

The Fiction of History Alexander Lyon Macfie, 2014-08-13 The Fiction of History sets out a number of themes in the relationship between history and fiction emphasising the tensions and dilemmas created in this relationship and examining how various writers have dealt with these In the first part two chapters discuss the philosophy behind the connection between fiction and history whether history is fiction and the distinction between the past and history Part two goes on to discuss the relationship between history and literature using case studies such as Virginia Woolf and Charles Dickens Part three looks at television and film as well as other media through case studies such as the film Welcome to Sarajevo and Soviet and Australian films Part four considers a particular theme that has prominence in both history and literature postcolonial studies focusing on the issues of fictions of nationhood and civilization and the historical novel in postcolonial contexts Finally the fifth section comprises two interviews with novelists Penelope Lively and Adam Thorpe and discusses the ways in which their works explore the nature of history itself

'A New Type of History' Beverley Southgate, 2015-05-22 Linking fiction with history and historical theory A New Type of History Fictional Proposals for dealing with the Past focuses on a selection of nineteenth and twentieth century novelists Tolstoy Proust John Cowper Powys Virginia

Woolf Wyndham Lewis Penelope Lively and James Hamilton Paterson who have criticized scientifically based history and proposed alternative ways of approaching the past more subjective and personal colourful and imaginative and above all ethically orientated In this it is argued they have been reverting to an earlier rhetorical model for history which is now being increasingly adopted by practising historians This new type of history may lack the claimed objectivity and truth of its immediate predecessor but it opens the way for an ethically focused subject that may be used in Nietzsche's words for the purpose of life Providing a new take on both novelists and historiography and ranging widely from the nineteenth century to the present day this cross disciplinary study will be valuable reading for all those interested in the intersection and interplay between fiction and history An Essay on the Need to Revise Marx' and Engels' Historical Materialism Ib

Gram-Jensen,2025-04-10 This book argues that apart from a number of ambiguities and inner tensions Marx and Engels' historical materialism suffers from a misconception of the nature and motive power of historical development and transformations on which their unwarranted confidence in the inevitability of the transition from capitalism to socialism and eventually classless communist society is based and from a consequent failure to address the problems of accomplishing this transition the desirability of which is not denied No finished alternative is offered but some elements of a better version retaining the critical and revolutionary edge of Marx and Engels own are suggested Others doubtlessly remain to be thought out

Video Art Historicized Malin Hedlin Hayden,2016-03-03 Video art emerged as an art form that from the 1960s and onwards challenged the concept of art hence art historical practices From the perspective of artists critics and scholars engaged with this new medium art was seen as too limiting a notion Important issues were to re think art as a means for critical investigations and a demand for visual reconsiderations Likewise art history was argued to be in crisis and in need of adapting its theories and methods in order to produce interpretations and thereby establish historical sense for moving images as fine art Yet as this book argues video art history has evolved into a discourse clinging to traditional concepts ideologies and narrative structures manifested in an increasing body of texts Video Art Historicized provides a novel insightful and also challenging re interpretation of this field by examining the discourse and its own premises It takes a firm conceptual approach to the material examining the conceptual theoretical and methodological implications that are simultaneously contested by both artists and authors yet intertwined in both the legitimizing and the historicizing processes of video as art By engaging art history's most debated concepts canon art and history this study provides an in depth investigation of the mechanisms of the historiography of video art Scrutinizing various narratives on video art the book emphasizes the profound and widespread hesitations towards but also the efforts to negotiate traditional concepts and practices By focusing on the politics of this discourse theoretical issues of gender nationality and particular themes in video art Malin Hedlin Hayden contests the presumptions that inform video art and its history

C.S. Peirce and the Nested Continua Model of Religious Interpretation Gary Slater,2015 This study develops resources in the work of Charles S

Peirce 1839 1914 for the purposes of contemporary philosophy It contextualizes Peirce s prevailing influences and provides greater context in relation to the currents of nineteenth century thought Dr Gary Slater articulates a nested continua model for theological interpretation which is indebted to Peirce s creation of Existential Graphs a system of diagrams designed to provide visual representation of the process of human reasoning He investigates how the model can be applied by looking at recent debates in historiography He deals respectively with Peter Ochs and Robert C Neville as contemporary manifestations of Peircean philosophical theology This work concludes with an assessment of the model s theological implications The Oxford Handbook of Public History James B. Gardner, Paula Hamilton, 2017 Public history is a large and complex field with boundaries methods and subjects that are hotly debated and the Oxford Handbook of Public History reflects these complexities This book defines public history as a transnational field and public history work as analytical and active practical work informed by thoughtful reflection The book locates public history as a professional practice within an intellectual framework that is increasingly democratic technological and transnational Doing History Mark Donnelly, Claire Norton, 2012-05-23 History as an academic discipline has dramatically changed over the last few decades and has become much more exciting and varied as a result of ideas from other disciplines the influence of postmodernism and historians incorporation of their own theoretical reflections into their work The way history is studied at university level can vary greatly from history at school or as represented in the media and Doing History bridges that gap Aimed at undergraduate and postgraduate students of history this is the ideal introduction to studying history as an academic subject at university Doing History presents the ideas and debates that shape how we do history today covering arguments about the nature of historical knowledge and the function of historical writing whether we can really ever know what happened in the past what sources historians depend on and whether historians versions of history have more value than popular histories This practical and accessible introduction to the discipline introduces students to these key discussions familiarises them with the important terms and issues equips them with the necessary vocabulary and encourages them to think about and engage with these questions Clearly structured and accessibly written it is an essential volume for all students embarking on the study of history History as Theatrical Metaphor Ian Brown, 2016-09-24 This revelatory study explores how Scottish history plays especially since the 1930s raise issues of ideology national identity historiography mythology gender and especially Scottish language Covering topics up to the end of World War Two the book addresses the work of many key figures from the last century of Scottish theatre including Robert McLellan and his contemporaries and also Hector MacMillan Stewart Conn John McGrath Donald Campbell Bill Bryden Sue Glover Liz Lochhead Jo Clifford Peter Arnott David Greig Rona Munro and others often neglected or misunderstood Setting these writers achievements in the context of their Scottish and European predecessors Ian Brown offers fresh insights into key aspects of Scottish theatre As such this represents the first study to offer an overarching view of historical representation on Scottish stages exploring the nature of

Liberating Histories Claire Norton, Mark Donnelly, 2018-07-11 Liberating Histories makes an original scholarly contribution to contemporary debates surrounding the cultural and political relevance of historical practices Arguing against the idea that specifically historical readings of the past are necessary or are compelled by the force of past events themselves this book instead focuses on other forms of past talk and how they function in politically empowering ways against social injustices Challenging the authority and constraints of academic history over the past this book explores various forms of past talk including art films activism memory nostalgia and archives Across seven clear chapters Claire Norton and Mark Donnelly show how activists and campaigners have used forms of past talk to unsettle common sense thinking about political and social problems how journalists artists curators filmmakers and performers have referenced the past in their practices of advocacy and how grassroots archivists help to circulate materials that challenge the power of authorised institutional archives to determine what gets to count as a demonstrable feature of the past and whose voices are part of the historical record Written in a lucid accessible manner and combining insightful critical analysis and philosophical argument with clear consideration of how different forms of past talk influence the narration of pasts in a variety of socio political contexts Liberating Histories is essential reading for students and scholars with an interest in historiography and the ethical and political dimensions of the historical discipline

The Future of History Alun Munslow, 2010-07-30 In this radical reassessment Alun Munslow challenges conventional notions of history and offers a new vision of historical thinking and practice Deploying a range of concepts such as scepticism aesthetics ethics standpoint irony authorship and a new understanding of truth The Future of History examines history as a form of knowledge in itself arguing that in the future the multiple forms of its expression will be as significant as its content This thought provoking challenging and unique book offers a way forward for history after postmodernism and is essential reading for anyone asking the question what is history

Dating Acts in Its Jewish and Greco-Roman Contexts Karl Leslie Armstrong, 2022-09-22 Karl Armstrong addresses the long established scholarly debate surrounding the precise dating of Acts arguing that a historiographical approach offers a stronger framework for evaluating primary and secondary sources

Historical Imagination Paul Fairfield, 2022-06-27 Historical Imagination defends a phenomenological and hermeneutical account of historical knowledge The book's central questions are what is historical imagination what is the relation between the imaginative and the empirical in what sense is historical knowledge always already imaginative how does such knowledge serve us and what is the relation of historical understanding and self understanding Paul Fairfield revisits some familiar hermeneutical themes and endeavors to develop these further while examining two important periods in which historical reassessments or re imaginings of the past occurred on a large scale The conception of historical imagination that emerges seeks to advance beyond the debate between empiricists and postmodern constructivists while focusing on narrative as well as a more encompassing interpretation of who an historical people were how things stood with them and how this comes to be known Fairfield supplements the philosophical argument with an historical examination of how and why during late antiquity early Christian thinkers began to reimagine their Greek and Roman past followed by how and why renaissance and later enlightenment figures reimaged their ancient and medieval past

How to Write About the Holocaust Theodor Pelekanidis, 2022-05-05 How to Write About the Holocaust is a contribution to ongoing debates in historiography and Holocaust studies More specifically it combines the theoretical framework that has developed in historiography in the last half a century with the demands of Holocaust representation The first part of the book analyzes the newest trends in theory of history focusing especially on postmodernism starting from the works of the American historian and theorist Hayden White and tracing the genealogy of the postmodern influence in history both from an epistemological and from a political perspective The second part continues by incorporating these theoretical developments into specific written examples on the Holocaust By analyzing major works about it including Saul Friedlander's and Dan Stone's histories of the Holocaust the book attempts to answer questions like what is the most appropriate way to write about the Holocaust and what can theory teach us about the practice of history To conclude the volume explores the connection between history and literature and asks if the distinction between fact and fiction has become outdated

Pink-Slipped Jane M Gaines, 2018-02-23 Women held more positions of power in the silent film era than at any other time in American motion picture history Marion Leonard broke from acting to cofound a feature film company Gene Gauntier the face of Kalem Films also wrote the first script of Ben Hur Helen Holmes choreographed her own breathtaking on camera stunt work Yet they and the other pioneering filmmaking women vanished from memory Using individual careers as a point of departure Jane M Gaines charts how women first fell out of the limelight and then out of the film history itself A more perplexing event cemented their obscurity the failure of 1970s feminist historiography to rediscover them Gaines examines how it happened against a backdrop of feminist theory and her own meditation on the limits that historiography imposes on scholars Pondering how silent era women have become absent in the abstract while present in reality Gaines sees a need for a theory of these artists pasts that relates their aspirations to those of contemporary women A bold journey through history and memory Pink Slipped pursues the still elusive fate of the influential women in the early years of film
