Constructing a System of Irregularities Chee Lay Tan, 2015-11-25 This book investigates the poetics of three of the most internationally renowned contemporary Chinese poets Bei Dao Yang Lian and Duoduo who were all exiled from China after the 1989 Tiananmen student movement Their poetry was later to be labelled Misty poetry Menglongshi Emphasising polyvalent imagery and irregular syntax Misty poetry engenders a multiplicity of meanings often leading to interpretational indeterminacy This book examines three aspects of the Mistiness of the poets oeuvre the socio historic background where Misty poets live and write imagery and linguistic elements After first identifying the roots of Mistiness this book identifies imagistic and linguistic clues in order to construct a hermeneutical system that examines the irregularities of the Misty poetics and appreciates the polysemy of the poets works Stylometry is used to analyse image frequency and its significance in a stylistic manner and a semiotic approach is then systematically applied to analyse the poets highly irregular images syntax and the different effects of their poems obscurity Through these approaches that unveil the poems evocativeness the irregularity of the poetry s Mistiness is established as its most powerful linguistic and imagistic aspect The book then places the three poets different misty characteristics into contrast Bei Dao s twisted imagery and elliptical syntax Yang s imagery in a classically inspired syntax and Duoduo s integration of images into a rhythmic syntax While the poets progressions from pre to post exile poetics suggest the potential of a non nationally specific or borderless poetics their seemingly irregular poetic Mistiness is the most powerful trait of Misty poetry for evoking its system of multifaceted significations and alternative aesthetics

What Is World Literature? David Damrosch, 2018-06-05 World literature was long defined in North America as an established canon of European masterpieces but an emerging global perspective has challenged both this European focus and the very category of the masterpiece The first book to look broadly at the contemporary scope and purposes of world literature What Is World Literature probes the uses and abuses of world literature in a rapidly changing world In case studies ranging from the Sumerians to the Aztecs and from medieval mysticism to postmodern metafiction David Damrosch looks at the ways works change as they move from national to global contexts Presenting world literature not as a canon of texts but as a mode of circulation and of reading Damrosch argues that world literature is work that gains in translation When it is effectively presented a work of world literature moves into an elliptical space created between the source and receiving cultures shaped by both but circumscribed by neither alone Established classics and new discoveries alike participate in this mode of circulation but they can be seriously mishandled in the process From the rediscovered Epic of Gilgamesh in the nineteenth century to Rigoberta Menchú's writing today foreign works have often been distorted by the immediate needs of their own editors and translators Eloquently written argued largely by example and replete with insightful close readings this book is both an essay in definition and a series of cautionary tales

Language Arts in Asia Christina DeCoursey, 2012-01-17 This volume is the first of a series contributing to the academic study of Language Arts as an English language teaching paradigm Language Arts has been widely used in native English speaking countries including Australia and New Zealand Its recent adoption into the second language teaching curriculum in Hong Kong as well as similar initiatives within secondary and tertiary education in mainland China enhances its interest to scholars studying second language teaching and learning in Asian contexts This book offers many papers and discussions of interest to teachers language professionals scholars and administrators Its chapters explore current topics in Language Arts research including trends in the rapprochement of stylistics and linguistics teaching approaches and learning outcomes At the same time they offer diverse theoretical and methodological approaches of interest to the practitioner and policy maker as well as the researcher The value of this volume lies particularly in strengthening the theoretical and methodological foundations of Language Arts The use of literature and the arts in humanist education has a long history within Europe being traditionally appreciated for its ability to transform leaders instill finer sensibilities and question social ills In its postcolonial incarnations as the traditional subject areas were informed by critical and linguistic theories language arts subject areas were less often used as they were understood to offer opportunities to analyse their functions as apology for leaders coopting the young and pacifying dissent but less often used to teach second language skills Language Arts curricula arising since the 1980s have increasingly embraced authentic voices styles and genres Contemporary Language Arts curricula use literature to teach reading based and communication skills in conjunction with critical and creative thinking The movement of English language education beyond native English shores has placed Language Arts into a World Englishes frame and therefore its curricula have included the teaching ethics civics and intercultural sensitivity The explosion of media and digital communications of the 1990s led to the adoption of media literacy as a crucial Language Arts skill As digital innovations continue to impact the teaching of English Language Arts has adopted multiliteracies These developments are represented in the papers included in this volume
