

Thinking Beyond the Five Paragraph Essay

The following can be applied to virtually any academic, post secondary essay/paper that you will have to write. In addition to all of the information provided, please keep in mind that you will need to cater your essays to your professors' specifications.

1.) Establish Your Topic

Try to pick a topic that's fun and interesting. If your topic genuinely interests you, chances are you'll enjoy spending time working on it and it won't seem like a chore. Finding a topic can be difficult. Give yourself plenty of time to read and think about what you'd like to do (assuming that you have a choice and the topic has not been assigned to you). Trying to answer questions you have about a particular subject may lead you to a good paper idea.

What subject(s) are you interested in?

What interests you most about a particular subject?

Is there anything you wonder about or are puzzled about with regards to that subject?

Once you have a topic, you will probably need to narrow it down to something more manageable. For example, say you are assigned to write a 10-paged paper, and you decide to write it on Ancient Egypt. However, since Ancient Egypt is a big topic and you only have a limited number of pages, you will have to focus on something more specific having to do with that topic.

Too general: Ancient Egypt.

Revised: The building of the pyramids of Ancient Egypt.

One method for coming up with a more specific focus is via brainstorming (or free-writing). Brainstorming is a useful way to let ideas you didn't know you had come to the surface. Sit down with a pencil and paper, or at your computer, and write whatever comes into your head about your topic. Keep writing for a short but specific amount of time, say 3-5 minutes. Don't stop to change what you've written or to correct spelling or grammar errors.

After a few minutes, read through what you've written. You will probably throw out most of it, but some of what you've written may give you an idea that can be developed. Do some more brainstorming and see what else you can come up with.

2.) Develop Your Thesis

No matter what type of essay you're writing (5 paragraph or 20-page research), your thesis is CRUCIAL. Your thesis outlines what you will be proving throughout the entire essay. It can be written in much the same way no matter what type of essay you're producing. For a five-paragraph essay, each point in your thesis will be a body paragraph in your essay. For a longer essay, each point in your thesis will be anywhere from two to twenty paragraphs.

DO NOT SKIP THIS STEP! When you are writing your essay, your thesis will guide you and make sure that you are on track. Each and every body paragraph should contribute to your thesis and proving that your argument is valid.
