Blobitecture John Kevin Waters, 2003 From apartments that evolved through genetic manipulation to womblike office cubicles from a museum with layered and luminous skin to a house with walls that serve as thermodynamic organs from torso shopping bags to jellyfish barstools from blobjects to gbjects to the Superblob Bibitecture takes readers on a riveting tour of one of the most imaginative landscapes in contemporary architecture and industrial design Jacket Contemporary Architecture and the Digital Design Process Peter Szalapaj, 2014-04-23 Contemporary Architecture and the Digital Design Process introduces the reader to new developments in the computer modelling of design form in contemporary architectural practice through a series of detailed case studies The book illustrates how evolving design practices use and exploit the potential of new computing technologies in a wide range of areas and application A central thesis of this book is that technology follows design demand rather than design adjusting to available new technology Designers are not merely passive recipients of prescribed computing tools and techniques Instead they are increasingly able to express their intuitive design ideas through the rational medium of computing The book features several contemporary building projects each of which introduces a range of CAD and computing issues based upon the work of creative architectural and engineering design practices These include the offices of Frank O Gehry Peter Cook and Colin Fournier Anthony Hunt Associates Peter Hubner Szyskowitz Kowalski and Faulkner Brown All these examples show what architects need to know and the skills they need to acquire to use advanced CAD technology Experiential Visualization in Architectural Design Media Vincent B. Canizaro, 2023-10-30 Experimental Visualization in Architectural Design Media How It Actually Works is a theoretical practical and interdisciplinary account of the tools used by architects and designers The book focuses on the how these tools influence their ability to envision and craft the future experiential reality of buildings and environments The book is structured around two parallel sets of questions The first concerns the effects of various media on the designer s understanding of their work in experiential terms The media considered include the process of design build standard media such as scale model building hand drawing drafting and extends into the now dominant digitally based design media of BIM digital modeling and emerging VR technologies such as Enscape The second line of questioning seeks patterns of use and other attributes designers deploy in practice to achieve an experiential and meaningful understanding of their work with and through each medium To answer these questions the author provides a detailed assessment of the pros and cons affordance and constraint of each form of mediation and a set of recommendations documenting how experienced designers enhance their visualization skills to support such experiential design This work is interwoven with interdisciplinary consideration of technology perception media studies history and bolstered by the direct experiences of design professionals This book will be of interest to researchers working in the field of architecture and design as well as practising architects designers and students who are seeking guidance on how to effectively design and consider the experience of their future built environments      Architectures of Sound Michael Fowler, 2017-10-23 Architects are used to designing visually. In order to expand their basic design tools, this book explores the interactions between sound, space, hearing, and architecture. To this end, the author uses contemporary and historic buildings and projects but also fictional philosophical and theoretical approaches. The idea is not only to define sound as a source but also as an instrument of architectural space. By introducing a metatheory of critical hearing, designers are able to acoustically test their projects and contribute to their design with auditive input already at the design stage.

The Evolution of Designs Philip Steadman, 2008-06-03 The Evolution of Designs tells the history of the many analogies that have been made since the end of the eighteenth century between the evolution of organisms and the human production of artefacts, especially buildings.

Touching Architecture Anthony Brand, 2022-12-30 This book is about perception, emotion, and affect in architecture: how and why we feel the way that we do, and the ways in which our surroundings and bodies contribute to this. Our experience of architecture is an embodied one, with all our senses acting in concert as we move through time and space. The book picks up where much of the critique of architectural aestheticism at the end of the twentieth century left off, illustrating the limitations and potential consequences of attending to architecture as the visually biased practice which has steadily become the status quo within both industry and education. It draws upon interdisciplinary research to elucidate the reasons why this is counterproductive to the creation of meaningful places and to articulate the embodied richness of our touching encounters. A felt phenomenology is introduced as a more than visual alternative, capable of sustaining our physical, emotional, and psychological well-being. By recognising the reciprocal and participatory relationship that exists between atmospheric affect and our phenomenological bodies, we begin to appreciate the manifold ways in which we touch and are touched by our built environment. As such, Touching Architecture will appeal to those with an interest in architectural history and theory as well as those interested in the topic of atmospheres, affect, and embodied perception.

Flexible Forming for Fluid Architecture Arno Pronk, 2021-10-11 This book on flexible formwork for fluid architecture is a multi-faceted research that covers a broad field from design to material and technology and from history to future developments. It offers a pragmatic approach that can be extended with more cases, materials, techniques, and methods for fluid architecture and provides a better understanding of the main aspects of fluid architecture and to help them find the most suitable combinations of all aspects. The book is a challenging experience with many new discoveries, including two patents: one on moulding of fluid surfaces and one on 3D printing of fibre-reinforced ice. It also features two world records: the largest span, 30 meters, and the highest thin shell structure, 30.5 meters in ice, as well as a method for the construction of a fully laminated shell structure in insulated glass.

Antynomie współczesnej architektury sakralnej Cezary Wąs, 2008 Making Dystopia James Stevens Curl, 2018-08-23 In Making Dystopia distinguished architectural historian James Stevens Curl tells the story of the advent of architectural Modernism in the aftermath of the First World War its protagonists and its astonishing almost global acceptance after 1945 He argues forcefully that the triumph of architectural Modernism in the second half of the twentieth century led to massive destruction the creation of alien urban landscapes and a huge waste of resources Moreover the coming of Modernism was not an inevitable seamless evolution as many have insisted but a massive unparalleled disruption that demanded a clean slate and the elimination of all ornament decoration and choice Tracing the effects of the Modernist revolution in architecture to the present Stevens Curl argues that with each passing year so called iconic architecture by supposed star architects has become more and more bizarre unsettling and expensive ignoring established contexts and proving to be stratospherically remote from the aspirations and needs of humanity In the elite world of contemporary architecture form increasingly follows finance and in a society in which the haves have more and more and the have nots are ever more marginalized he warns that contemporary architecture continues to stack up huge potential problems for the future as housing costs spiral out of control resources are squandered on architectural bling and society fractures This courageous passionate deeply researched and profoundly argued book should be read by everyone concerned with what is around us Its combative critique of the entire Modernist architectural project and its apologists will be highly controversial to many But it contains salutary warnings that we ignore at our peril And it asks awkward questions to which answers are long overdue Construction Technology and Architectural Planning Mr. Mohd Saqib, 2024-11-22 Covers construction methods and architectural project planning Cell Tower Steven E.
