The Ideological Origins of African American Literature Phillip M. Richards, 2025-06-27 Inquiry into African American literature in recent decades has neglected to probe the intellectual structure of the tradition s aesthetics and its underlying ideology In The Ideological Origins of African American Literature Phillip M Richards begins this reconstructive work illuminating the dialectical backstory of black prose and poetry in America Richards argues that the social and political forces that influenced white literature were uniquely reacted to absorbed and often times rejected by African American literary figures from the eighteenth century Puritan notions of a God centered history to the onset of Romanticism and Modernism in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Building his case for ideological continuity Richards surveys a profoundly creative period of 125 years launched by an African American reaction against a racist mid eighteenth century American culture This epoch in African American literature saw a fusion of Puritan Protestant culture into a religious and secular worldview drawing in the poetry of Phillis Wheatley antebellum slave narratives Richard Allen and the periodicals of the ambitious African Methodist Episcopalian movement all of which would form the underlying foundation of a Black Victorian culture A rising black middle class Richards argues would later be secularized by an eroding religious tradition under the pressures of nineteenth century modernity the trauma of Jim Crow and the emerging northern ghetto Richards further traces the emergence of Romanticism which appeared with white American authors such as Emerson Thoreau and Whitman but would not take shape in African American literature until the likes of W E B Du Bois and Langston Hughes took stock of Anglo European culture at the end of the nineteenth century The Ideological Origins of African American Literature illustrates a pattern of black writing that eschews the hegemonic white culture of the day for an evolving black culture that would define an American literary landscape The Routledge today Watts argues that black intellectuals have had to navigate their way through a society that both denied them the resources status and encouragement available to their white peers and alienated them from the rest of their ethnic group For Ellison to pursue meaningful intellectual activities in the face of this marginalization demanded creative heroism a new social and artistic stance that challenges cultural stereotypes For example Ellison first created an artistic space for himself by associating with Communist party literary circles which recognized the value of his writing long before the rest of society was open to his work In addition to avoid prescriptive white intellectual norms Ellison developed his own ideology which Watts terms the blues aesthetic Watts s ambitious study reveals a side of Ellison rarely acknowledged blending careful criticism of art with a wholesale engagement with society Modern North American Criticism and Theory Julian Wolfreys,2006-04-21 Modern North American Criticism and Theory presents the reader with a comprehensive and critical introduction to the development and institutionalization of literary and cultural studies throughout the twentieth century and at the beginning of the twenty first Focusing on the growth and expansion of critical trends and methodologies with particular essays addressing key figures in their historical and cultural contexts the book offers a narrative of change transformation and the continuous quest for and affirmation of multiple cultural voices and identities From semiotics and the New Criticism to the identity politics of whiteness studies and the cultural study of masculinity this book provides an overview of literary and cultural study in North America as a history of questioning debate and exploration Race and Gender in the Making of an African American Literary Tradition Aimable Twagilimana,2014-01-14 This book examines the ways in which race and gender have shaped and continue to inform African American literature African American texts create a black literary and cultural identity interpreting and recording the survival of their cultures shattered by years of slavery Black women writers who have to deal with both racism and sexism use additional strategies to undo this double reduction They strive to invent a new language to talk about their experience and their lives as black and as women After a typology of the African American text the book proposes a reading of major African American writers including Phyllis Wheatley Olaudah Equiano Frederick Douglass Harriet Jacobs Harriet Wilson Charles Chesnutt Booker T Washington James Weldon Johnson Zora Neale Hurston Alice Walker and Toni Morrison The New North American Studies Winfried Siemerling,2005 Winner of the English Book Award Grand Prix du Livre 2006 de la Ville de Sherbrooke In this original and groundbreaking study Winfried Siemerling examines the complexities of recognition and identity rejecting previous nationalized thinking to approach North American cultural transformations from transnational and interdisciplinary perspectives Using material from the United States and Canada as case studies and drawing on a wide range of texts and theorists he examines postcoloniality and cultural emergence from the sixties to the present against earlier backgrounds Siemerling s argument for a retheorization of the field takes on the full history of multiculturalism debates including radical readings of W E B Du Bois and Charles Taylor and their relation to G W F Hegel and challenging many of the models of multiculturalism in use today Tackling controversial subjects such as identity politics The New North American Studies proposes a fresh outlook on the most central issues of North American cultural politics from debates on canon formation to the role of racial and linguistic difference Concluding with a look at the future of cultural difference Winfried Siemerling's study is an innovative rethinking of the whole field of North American Studies Richard Wright's Native Son Andrew Warnes, 2007-01-24 Richard Wright's Native Son 1940 is one of the most violent and revolutionary works in the American canon Controversial and compelling its account of crime and racism remain the source of profound disagreement both within African American culture and throughout the world This guide to Wright's provocative novel offers an accessible introduction to the text and contexts of Native Son a critical history surveying the many interpretations of the text from publication to the present a selection of reprinted critical essays on Native Son by James Baldwin Hazel Rowley Antony Dawahare Claire Eby and James Smethurst providing a range of perspectives on the novel and extending the coverage of key critical approaches identified in the survey section a chronology to help place the novel in its historical context suggestions for further reading Part of the Routledge Guides to Literature series this volume is essential reading for all those beginning detailed study of Native Son and seeking not only a guide to the novel but a way through the wealth of contextual and critical material that surrounds Wright's text Performing Blackness Kimberley W. Bates considers the other conflicts that Americans brought to that war the divisions stemming from differences in race class sex generation and frontier ideology In exploring the rich vein of writing and film that emerged from the Vietnam War era he strikingly illuminates how these stories reflect American social crises of the period Some material examined here is familiar including the work of Michael Herr Tim O'Brien Philip Caputo Susan Sontag Francis Ford Coppola and Oliver Stone Other material is less well known Neverlight by Donald Pfarrer and De Mojo Blues by A. R. Flowers for example Bates also draws upon an impressive range of secondary readings from Freud and Marx to Geertz and Jameson As the products of a culture in conflict Vietnam memoirs novels films plays and poems embody a range of political perspectives not only in their content but also in their structure and rhetoric In his final chapter Bates outlines a politico-poetics of the war story as a genre Here he gives special attention to our motives from the deeply personal to the broadly cultural for telling war stories What Americans refer to as the Vietnam War embraces much more than the conflict with North Vietnam Milton J.
