

A full moon is positioned in the upper center of the frame, its light reflecting down a calm body of water. The reflection creates a shimmering path of light that leads from the moon down to the bottom of the image. The background is a deep blue night sky with a few faint stars visible. Silhouettes of trees and foliage are visible along the right and bottom edges of the frame, adding depth to the scene.

Love Me Tender Max Cryer, 2008 Some of the world's best loved songs have had remarkable origins Had Robert Burns not heard an old man sing a quavering version of an ancient Scottish country song we would never have had Auld Lang Syne Miss Jane Ross wrote down the tune she heard played by a piper at an Irish village fair in 1855 Had she not done so the rest of the world would not have heard Danny Boy Marie Antoinette heard a peasant nurse sing an obscure lullaby to her princely son The empress's unexpected promotion of the song resulted in its now being listed by The Guinness Book of Records as one of the three most familiar songs in the world Love Me Tender tells the remarkable stories behind 40 popular and traditional songs Some evolved from folksongs some are from musical theatre while others hit the mark because a particular recording appeared at just the right time In some cases one word made all the difference Paul McCartney composed a tune but could only think of the words scrambled eggs to fit it but fortunately he later came up with the perfect solution Yesterday In a book full of surprises and curiosities Max Cryer reveals stories from all around the world and from artists as diverse as Marlene Dietrich Bing Crosby Judy Garland and Elton John This truly fascinating book makes enthralling reading

The Intertextuality and Intermediality of the Anglophone Popular Song Michael Ingham, 2022-09-07 Popular song is a liminal hybrid form of cultural production As a manifestation of adaptation studies it has lacked visibility by comparison with more dominant adaptation practices especially those for the screen This book serves to fill this gap It investigates what songwriters read and write before they start singing showing that they need either to adapt material from existing sources or write their own lyrics drawn from a wide range of source texts and personal experiences They are subject to myriad influences and among these are other song lyrics poems novels plays films and hybrid cultural forms This deep structure intertextuality is embedded in the cultural flux of language and operates at both conscious and subconscious levels This book thus explores the complex and multifarious intertextual connections between popular songs of various genres styles and eras and literary works including but by no means limited to the Bible and Shakespeare As such it offers a valuable resource by exploring the deep intertextual significance of literary source material for the intellectual and emotional diversity that can be found in the popular song form the inverse reciprocal relationship while much less common is also considered in the study
