2014 Regional Convention Notebook For Kids:

Good Kids Isabel Jijon, 2025-07-29 One in ten children worldwide is involved in some form of child labor While almost half are in occupations that put their safety at risk the other half have gray jobs like industrial farming or selling candy on the street Children in these positions often defend the value of their work and some even join social movements to demand the right to work with dignity In Good Kids Isabel Jijon reveals how global campaigns against child labor are often met with resistance from the very children they are meant to protect Conducting interviews in Bolivia and Ecuador with children who defend their labor Jijon explores what they mean by value rights and dignity in this context She finds that working children seek a sense of self worth as well as worthiness in their closest relationships they use work to prove that they are good sons daughters good friends or simply good kids Drawing also on interviews with reformers invested in ending child labor Jijon produces a nuanced picture of the ways that global campaigns can unintentionally undermine these relationships and make working children feel stigmatized rather than protected This fascinating and challenging study of moral meaning making upends simple understandings of harm and worthiness in a vast but poorly understood labor market Handbook of

Children's Rights Martin D. Ruck, Michele Peterson-Badali, Michael Freeman, 2016-12-08 While the notion of young people as individuals worthy or capable of having rights is of relatively recent origin over the past several decades there has been a substantial increase in both social and political commitment to children's rights as well as a tendency to grant young people some of the rights that were typically accorded only to adults In addition there has been a noticeable shift in orientation from a focus on children's protection and provision to an emphasis on children's participation and self determination With contributions from a wide range of international scholars the Handbook of Children's Rights brings together research theory and practice from diverse perspectives on children's rights This volume constitutes a comprehensive treatment of critical perspectives concerning children's rights in their various forms Its contributions address some of the major scholarly tensions and policy debates comprising the current discourse on children's rights including the best interests of the child evolving capacities of the child states rights versus children's rights rights of children versus parental or family rights children as citizens children's rights versus children's responsibilities and balancing protection and participation In addition to its multidisciplinary focus the handbook includes perspectives from social science domains in which children's rights scholarship has evolved largely independently due to distinct and seemingly competing assumptions and disciplinary approaches e.g childhood studies developmental psychology sociology of childhood anthropology and political science The handbook also brings together diverse methodological approaches to the study of children's rights including both quantitative and qualitative perspectives and policy analysis This comprehensive cosmopolitan and timely volume serves as an important reference for both scholarly and policy driven interest in the voices and perspectives of children and youth

The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child John Tobin, 2019-03-28 The United Nations Convention on the Rights

Whelan, 2022-09-30 Unaccompanied child asylum seekers are amongst the world's most vulnerable populations and their numbers are increasing The intersection of their age their seeking asylum and separation from their parents creates a specific and acute triple burden of vulnerability Their precariousness has long been recognised in international human rights law Yet human rights based responses have been subordinated to progressive global securitisation of irregular migration through interception interdiction extraterritorial processing and immigration detention Such an approach necessitates an urgent paradigm shift in how we comprehend their needs as children the impact of punitive border control laws on them and the responsibility of States to these children when they arrive at their borders seeking asylum This book reconceptualises the relationship between unaccompanied child asylum seekers and States It proposes a new conceptual framework by applying international human rights law childhood studies and vulnerability theory scholarship in analysing State obligations to respond to these children This framework incorporates a robust analysis of the operation and impact of laws on vulnerable populations a taxonomy for articulating the gravity of any consequent harms and a method to prioritise recommendations for reform The book then illustrates the framework's utility using Australia's treatment of unaccompanied children as a case study This book illuminates key learnings from human rights law childhood studies and vulnerability theory and transforms them into a new roadmap for law reform As such it will be a valuable practice based resource for practitioners non government organisations advocates policymakers and the general public interested in advocating for the rights of vulnerable populations as well as for academics researchers and students of human rights law refugee law childhood studies and vulnerability studies Urmi: The Journal of the Odisha Society of Americas 49th Convention , Orissa Society of Americas 49th Annual Convention Souvenir for Convention held in 2018 at Dearborn Michigan re published as Golden Jubilee Convention July 4-7 2019 Atlantic City New Jersey commemorative edition Odisha Society of the Americas Golden Jubilee Convention will be held in Atlantic City New Jersey during July 4-7 2019 Convention website is <http://www.osa2019.org> Odisha Society of the Americas website is <http://www.odishasociety.org> Children's Rights Law in the Global Human Rights Landscape Eva Brems, Ellen Desmet, Wouter Vandenhoele, 2017-04-21

Children's rights law is often studied and perceived in isolation from the broader field of human rights law. This volume explores the inter-relationship between children's rights law and more general human rights law in order to see whether elements from each could successfully inform the other. Children's rights law has a number of distinctive characteristics such as the emphasis on the best interests of the child, the use of general principles and the inclusion of third parties e.g. parents and other care takers in treaty provisions. The first part of this book questions whether these features could be a source of inspiration for general human rights law. In part two the reverse question is asked: could children's rights law draw inspiration from developments in other branches of human rights law that focus on other specific categories of rights holders such as women, persons with disabilities, indigenous peoples or older persons. Finally, the interaction between children's rights law and human rights law and the potential for their isolation, inspiration or integration may be coloured or determined by the thematic issue under consideration. Therefore, the third part of the book studies the interplay between children's rights law and human rights law in the context of specific topics: intra-family relations, LGBTIQ marginalization, migration, media, the environment and transnational human rights obligations. The EU as a Children's Rights Actor Ingi Iusmen, Helen Stalford, 2015-11-16. This edited collection critiques from an interdisciplinary perspective the growing body of EU children's rights activities in the light of broader political, economic and legal processes. Specifically, it interrogates whether EU intervention effectively responds to what are perceived as violations of children's rights and the extent to which EU efforts to uphold children's rights complement and reinforce parallel national and international pursuits. Moreover, it scrutinises the compatibility of EU children's rights measures with the principles and provisions enshrined in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC). Child Behavioral Health in Sub-Saharan Africa Fred M. Ssewamala, Ozge Sensoy

Bahar, Mary M. McKay, 2021-11-22. This book highlights the emerging research and policy development efforts to address child and adolescent behavioral health in Sub-Saharan Africa where mental health policy is at an early stage and in need of context-specific attention to its successes and shortcomings. A diverse range of researchers with expertise on relevant policy in both the region as a whole and country-specific contexts including Ghana, Kenya, Nigeria, Rwanda, South Africa and Uganda outline theoretically informed, culturally appropriate, evidence-based and youth and family-focused service models. The first work of its kind with an exclusive focus on the understudied region of Sub-Saharan Africa, this text provides an overview of the current state of child and adolescent behavioral health in the region, evaluates empirical work on risk and protective factors influencing behavioral outcomes, highlights emerging intervention research and dialogue on what works to improve child and adolescent behavioral health, offers insight and strategies on how to advance child and adolescent behavioral health in policy research and practice. Child Behavioral Health in Sub-Saharan Africa: Towards Evidence Generation and Policy Development is a unique reference that offers guidance for current and future policy makers, researchers, practitioners and students as they seek to invest and engage in the healthy development of a future generation. Reaching and Investing in Children at the Margins National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Board on Global Health, Forum on Investing in Young Children Globally, 2016-07-17 The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals for 2015-2030 strive for a world that is just equitable and inclusive in which everyone receives care, education and opportunities to thrive. Yet many children are living on the margins of society, face multiple disadvantages and are excluded from full participation in all that life has to offer. To examine the science, economics and politics of investing in the health, education, nutrition and social protection of children at the margins, the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine held a workshop in Prague, Czech Republic, in November 2015. Held in partnership with the Open Society Foundations and the International Step by Step Association, the workshop convened a diverse group of stakeholders from around the world for 2 days of discussion. This report summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop.

Women and Children as Victims and Offenders: Background, Prevention, Reintegration Helmut Kury, Sławomir Redo, Evelyn Shea, 2016-06-01 This work compiles experiences and lessons learned in meeting the unique needs of women and children regarding crime prevention and criminal justice, in particular the treatment and social reintegration of offenders, and serves as a cross-disciplinary work for academic and policy-making analyses and follow-up in developing and developed countries. Furthermore, it argues for a more humane and effective approach to countering delinquency and crime among future generations. In a world where development positively depends on the rule of law and the related investment security, two global trends may chart the course of development: urbanization and education. Urbanization will globalize the concepts of justice and fairness; education will be dominated by the urban mindset and digital service economy, just as a culture of lawfulness will. This work looks at crime prevention education as an investment in the sustainable quality of life of succeeding generations and at those who pursue such crime prevention as the providers of much-needed skills in the educational portfolio. Adopting a reformist approach, this work collects articles with findings and recommendations that may be relevant to domestic and international policymaking, including the United Nations Studies and their educational value for the welfare of coming generations. The books address the relevant United Nations ideas by combining them with academic approaches. Guided by the Editors' respective fields of expertise and in full recognition of academic freedom and organized scepticism, it includes contributions by lawyers, criminologists, sociologists and other eminent experts seeking to bridge the gap between academic and policy perspectives as appropriate against the international background, including the United Nations developments. The first volume opens with a foreword by Marta Santos Pais, the United Nations Special Representative of the Secretary General on Violence against Children, and a general introduction by the editors. Part I provides an overview of United Nations principles for crime prevention and the treatment of women and children. Part II concentrates on education and the social learning of children and adolescents. The importance of quality education is stressed, as is its impact on the behaviour of children of all ages It also includes a discussion of the factors that still hinder access to good schooling in many parts of the world Part III presents international research findings on children juveniles and women both as victims and offenders Statistics show overwhelmingly that these groups are more often victims than offenders

The Tourism We Do Not Talk About. A Study on Sexual Exploitation of Children in Tourism, with a Focus on Argentina and Brazil Alana Hartmann Matschulat, 2018 Countries facing substantial socioeconomic problems where tourism acts as an engine for development often become vulnerable to the phenomenon known as sex tourism South America is a region that shows a high incidence of commercial activities of this kind which also hides many forms of exploitation sex trade of children being one of the most serious What leaves room for its occurrence often are the gaps present in the legislations along with the obsolete applicability of such laws or even our indifference as actors capable of provoking social change This book contains a study that seeks to identify the origins of the occurrence and the legal apparatus available to deal with the incidence of commercial sexual exploitation of children in the region focusing on Brazil as a pioneer and Argentina a recent country dealing with such an issue Through an analysis of the evolution of the legal framework in both countries and the international mechanisms the book is also an invitation to the reader to reflect on this unmentioned side of tourism

Children, Human Rights and Temporary Labour Migration Rasika Jayasuriya, 2021-06-22

This book focuses on the neglected yet critical issue of how the global migration of millions of parents as low-waged migrant workers impacts the rights of their children under international human rights law. The work provides a systematic analysis and critique of how the restrictive features of policies governing temporary labour migration interfere with provisions of the Convention on the Rights of the Child that protect the child-parent relationship and parental role in children's lives. Combining social and legal research, it identifies both potential harms to children's well-being caused by prolonged child-parent separation and State duties to protect this relationship, which is deliberately disrupted by temporary labour migration policies. The book boldly argues that States benefitting from the labour of migrant workers share responsibility under international human rights law to mitigate harms to the children of these workers, including by supporting effective measures to maintain transnational child-parent relationships. It identifies measures to incorporate children's best interests into temporary labour migration policies, offering ways to reduce interferences with children's family rights. This book fills a gap that emerges at the intersection of child rights studies, migration research, and existing literature on the purported nexus between labour migration and international development. It will be a valuable resource for academics, researchers, and policymakers working in these areas. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and thrilling novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
