

Biology Unit 4 – Section 3.4.7

During succession a number of common things happen:

- The non-living (abiotic) environment becomes less hostile – soil forms, nutrients are more plentiful and plants provide shelter.
- Greater number and variety of habitats
- Increased biodiversity – as different species occupy the habitats
- More complex food webs
- Increased biomass – especially during the mid-stages

Managing succession

- To reach the climax community the land has gone through a lot of stages
- Most of the species present in the earlier stages are no longer present
- However to get grass to allow cattle to graze we need grass, this is at one of the earlier stages of succession
- To do this we manage succession by not allowing it to proceed past this point
- This can be achieved by mowing or allowing cattle to eat the grass
- If this was simply left shrubs would develop and then trees such as oaks to make deciduous woodland

This is one example but there are many. Succession is managed to allow the plants to grow that we want/are useful rather than letting everything develop to the climax community.
