Organizing Information Gobinda G. Chowdhury, Sudatta Chowdhury, 2007 Tomorrow's LIS professionals will have to be conversant with all the tools and techniques for organizing information in different domains from the library's shelves to the web and digital libraries. The most up-to-date textbook yet available on this subject, this comprehensive book covers everything from traditional cataloging through to metadata information architecture and the semantic web. Written by experienced lecturers in the subject who have authored several other successful textbooks, this book provides both an overview of the whole field of information organization as well as an easy-to-understand introduction to each of the individual topics which can be followed up with further study by following the references at the end of each chapter. The chapters cover cataloguing, bibliographic format, classification, subject indexing and vocabulary control, organization of digital information, metadata, mark-up languages, ontology, information architecture, the semantic web, current research issues and trends. Readership: A key student text for all information and library studies courses, the book is also useful for practising LIS professionals who need an understanding of the various tools and techniques they need to master to effectively organize information. Antic Hay is one of Aldous Huxley's earlier novels and like them is primarily a novel of ideas involving conversations that disclose viewpoints rather than establish characters. Its polemical theme unfolds against the backdrop of London's post-war nihilistic Bohemia.
