Spee, 2023-02-21 There is significant academic interest in the field of art and neurological disorders Considering how artistic expression may be modified by alterations in neural circuits as well as in our bodies and everyday lives associated with a range of disorders and diseases is a rich territory from which to understand the workings of our brains the unique blend of factors leading to human art making and disease itself This book will be an exposé of how different neurological disorders may influence and or relate to the artistic process with a particular focus on visual art and painting The book will interrogate the question of different aspects of neurological disorders and associated brain changes that may impact artistic expression and vice versa and will include devoted chapters on Parkinson's disease Epilepsy Mood Disorders Autism and Schizophrenia Moreover we will elaborate on the question from the perspective of the artist themselves with chapters that highlight the artistic process in the context of lived experience either directly or indirectly with disease mediated brain changes Finally engagement in creative acts has been linked to therapeutic benefits in multiple disease processes and neuroplasticity which is another line of inquiry directly addressed in the book. As a whole the volume focuses on themes and concepts at the boundary of creativity and neuroscience in such a way as to be relevant to both the medical and broader artistic community.

Art of the Gold Rush Janice T. Driesbach, Harvey L. Jones, Katherine Church Holland, 1998-04-01 The California Gold Rush captured the get rich dreams of people around the world more completely than almost any event in American history. This catalog published in celebration of the sesquicentennial of the 1848 discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill shows the vitality of the arts in the Golden State during the latter nineteenth century and documents the dramatic impact of the Gold Rush on the American imagination. Among the throngs of gold seekers in California were artists many self taught others formally trained and their arrival produced an outpouring of artistic works that provide insights into Gold Rush events personages and attitudes. The best known painting of the Gold Rush era C. C. Nahl's Sunday Morning in the Mines 1872 was created nearly two decades after gold fever had subsided. By then the Gold Rush's mythic qualities were well established and new allegories particularly the American belief in the rewards of hard work and enterprise can be seen on Nahl's canvas. Other works added to the image of California as a destination for ambitious dreamers an image that prevails to this day. In bringing together a range of art and archival material such as artists diaries and contemporary newspaper articles The Art of the Gold Rush broadens our understanding of American culture during a memorable period in the nation's history. Romania, 1971

We Are Made of Stories Leslie Umberger, 2022-10-04 A richly illustrated history of self taught artists and how they changed American art. Artists without formal training who learned from family community and personal journeys have long been a presence in American art. But it wasn't until the 1980s with the help of trailblazing advocates that the collective force of their creative vision and bold self definition permanently changed the mainstream art world. In We Are Made of Stories Leslie Umberger traces the rise of self taught artists in the twentieth century and examines how despite wide ranging societal racial and gender based obstacles they redefined who could be rightfully seen as an artist and revealed a much more diverse community of American makers. Lavishly illustrated throughout We Are Made of Stories features more than one hundred drawings paintings and sculptures ranging from the narrative to the abstract by forty three artists including James Castle Thornton Dial William Edmondson Howard Finster Bessie Harvey Dan Miller Sister Gertrude Morgan the Philadelphia Wireman Nellie Mae Rowe Judith Scott and Bill Traylor. The book centralizes the personal stories behind the art and explores enduring themes including self definition cultural heritage struggle and joy and inequity and achievement. At the same time it offers a sweeping history of self taught artists the critical debates surrounding their art and how museums have gradually diversified their collections across lines of race gender class and ability. Recasting American art history to embrace artists who have been excluded for too long We Are Made of Stories vividly captures the power of art to show us the world through the eyes of another. Douglas, Diane B. Jaquith, 2009 This dynamic resource details the philosophy rationale and implementation of choice based authentic art education in elementary and middle schools To do the work of artists children need opportunities to behave think and perform as artists The heart of this curriculum is to facilitate independent learning in studio centers designed to support student choices in subject matter and media The authors address theory instruction assessment and advocacy in a user friendly format that includes color photos of classroom set ups and student work sample demonstrations and reflections on activities Book Features Introduces artistic behaviors that sustain engagement such as problem finding innovation play representation collaboration and more Provides instructional modes for differentiation including whole group small group individual and peer coaching Offers management strategies for choice based learning environments structuring time design of studio centers and exhibition Illustrates shifts in control from teacher directed to learner directed Highlights statements by children identifying personal relevancy discovery learning and reflection Book jacket      The Literary World , 1891      Continuum Encyclopedia of Native Art Hope B. Werness, 2003-01-01 This lavishly produced volume is the first reference work to focus on the symbols meaning and significance of art in native or indigenous cultures      The Art Collector Alfred Trumble, 1893      The Man Who Broke Michelangelo's Nose Felipe Pereda, 2024-08-20 Renaissance sculptor Pietro Torrigiano has long held a place in the public imagination as the man who broke Michelangelo's nose Indeed he is known more for that story than for his impressive prowess as an artist This engagingly written and deeply researched study by Felipe Pereda a leading expert in the field teases apart legend and history and reconstructs Torrigiano's work as an artist Torrigiano was in fact one of the most fascinating characters of the sixteenth century After fighting in the Italian wars under Cesare Borgia the Florentine artist traveled across four countries working for such patrons as Margaret of Austria in the Netherlands and the Tudors in England Torrigiano later went to Spain where he died in prison accused of heresy by the Inquisition for breaking a sculpture of the Virgin and Child that he had made with his own hands In the course of his travels Torrigiano played a crucial role in the dissemination of the style and the techniques that he learned in Florence and he interacted with local artisanal traditions and craftsmen developing a singular terracotta modeling technique that is both a response to the authority of Michelangelo and a unique testimony to artists mobility in the period As Pereda shows Torrigiano s life and work constitute an ideal example to rethink the geography of Renaissance art challenging us to reconsider the model that still sees the Renaissance as expanding from an Italian center into the western periphery     A Biographical History of the Fine Arts, Or, Memoirs of the Lives and Works of Eminent Painters, Engravers, Sculptors, and Architects Shearjashub Spooner, 1865
