resilient hopefulness It is both a plea for exoneration and an act of exoneration an authentic meditation on the terrible difficulty of being human Andrew Solomon author of The Noonday Demon Encyclopaedia Britannica Book of the Year 2010 ,2010 Incident Report, 2017 ,2017 The Search for Heinrich Schlögel Martha Baillie,2014-09-15 The story of a young man who escapes the claustrophobia of small town Germany by travelling to Canada where he sets out on a long solo hike into the interior of Baffin Island Soon time begins to play tricks on him Yanked from the twentieth century and deposited in the twenty first Heinrich lands in a disorienting digital Present where a computer nimble Pangnirtung teenager befriends him She lives with her grandmother who rents Heinrich a room Capacious capricious mischievous The Search for Heinrich Schl gel moves like a quantum experiment defying boundaries of time place chronology Fluid as light itself animated by startling imagery vivid and peculiar characters The Search for Heinrich Schl gel is a hymn to brooding memory the enduring need to inhabit story and a haunting insistence upon endless possibilities within possibility That is to say hope Gina Ochsner author of The Russian Dreambook of Color and Flight The Search for Heinrich Schl gel will be published simultaneously in the U S by Tin House Sister Language Christina Baillie,Martha Baillie,2019 Sister Language is a collaboration a back and forth composed mainly of letters and other writings between two sisters one of whom Christina is schizophrenic She can barely function in the real world partly because though brilliant she has an intense all but all consuming relationship with language that is English but mostly an exploded English of her own For her oral communication using everyday English with almost anyone other than her sister is terribly difficult On the other hand and a Real Big Other Hand it is when she comes by a format that disciplines her linguistic rapids just a little she shows herself to be a virtuoso of written English The difficult writers she exults in reading and in whose writing family she belongs are what she calls the triumvirate of Samuel Beckett Gertrude Stein and James Joyce he of Finnegans Wake especially Writing that is a stretch for the normal English speaking reader comes naturally to Christina Baillie whether as reader or writer because like it or not she is in that linguistic theatre It s actually like it and not Like the triumvirate she has found ways to produce experimental writing unlike them she has only with the utmost difficulty been able to communicate with most other people Martha s version of all this the less medication Christina takes she tells me the more insistently words decompose Appear becomes app and ear seconds later ap and pear send her thoughts in search of a still life When every word she hears or reads shatters upon contact her mind a windshield every word a mess of feather and bone spray of blood imposing order exhausts her To shut this down takes enormous energy which can push me to the edge of passing out So the idea in setting up the conversation between sisters who can communicate with each other was to provide a format in which the sister trapped in her own language might find a way to address the larger world Bridge becomes one of the operative words first between sisters then between their collaborative text and other readers Teaching Arguments Jennifer Fletcher,2023-10-10 No matter wherestudents lives lead after graduation one of the most essential tools we can teach them is how to comprehend analyze and respond to arguments

Students need to know how writers and speakers choices are shaped by elements of the rhetorical situation including audience occasion and purpose In Teaching Arguments Rhetorical Comprehension Critique and Response Jennifer Fletcher provides teachers with engaging classroom activities writing prompts graphic organizers and student samples to help students at all levels read write listen speak and think rhetorically Fletcher believes that with appropriate scaffolding and encouragement all students can learn a rhetorical approach to argument and gain access to rigorous academic content Teaching Arguments opens the door and helps them pay closer attention to the acts of meaning around them to notice persuasive strategies that might not be apparent at first glance When we analyze and develop arguments we have to consider more than just the printed words on the page We have to evaluate multiple perspectives the tension between belief and doubt the interplay of reason character and emotion the dynamics of occasion audience and purpose and how our own identities shape what we read and write Rhetoric teaches us how to do these things Teaching Arguments will help students learn to move beyond a superficial response to texts so they can analyze and craft sophisticated persuasive arguments a major cornerstone for being not just college and career ready but ready for the challenges of the world Alumni
