The Postcolonial Indian Novel in English Geetha Ganapathy-Doré, 2011-01-18 Indian writers of English such as G V Desani Salman Rushdie Amit Chaudhuri Amitav Ghosh Vikram Seth Allan Sealy Shashi Tharoor Arundhati Roy Vikram Chandra and Jhumpa Lahiri have taken the potentialities of the novel form to new heights Against the background of the genre s macro history this study attempts to explain the stunning vitality colourful diversity and the outstanding but sometimes controversial success of postcolonial Indian novels in the light of ongoing debates in postcolonial studies It analyses the warp and woof of the novelistic text through a cross sectional scrutiny of the issues of democracy the poetics of space the times of empire nation and globalization self writing in the auto meta docu fictional modes the musical pictorial cinematic and culinary intertextualities that run through this hyperpalimpsestic practice and the politics of gender caste and language that gives it an inimitable stamp This concise and readable survey gives us intimations of a truly world literature as imagined by Francophone writers because the postcolonial Indian novel is a concrete illustration of how language liberated from its exclusive pact with the nation can enter into a dialogue with a vast polyphonic ensemble

Thinking with the Familiar in Contemporary Literature and Culture 'Out of the Ordinary', 2019-09-24 What grows out of the ordinary This volume focuses on that which has been regarded as ordinary self evident and formulaic in literary and cultural phenomena such as diasporic cuisine pet adoption narratives Prairie writing romance between stepsiblings the program of a political party and everyday shopping in poetry The book argues that by engaging with that which is perceived as ordinary we also gain understanding of how otherness becomes defined and constituted The volume seeks new ways to access that which might lie in between or beyond the opposition between exploitation and emancipation and contests the hegemonic logic of revealing oppression and rebuilding liberation in contemporary critical theory to create new ways of knowing which grow out of the ordinary

Imagined Diasporas South Asian Women Reshaping North American Identity is a study of diasporic South Asian women writers. It argues that the diasporic South Asians are not merely assimilating to their host cultures but they are also actively reshaping them through their own new voices bringing new definitions of identity. As diaspora does not emerge as a mere sociological fact but it becomes what it is because it is said to be what it is. The writings of imagined diasporas challenge national discourses. Diaspora brings to mind various contested ideas and images. It can be a positive site for the affirmation of an identity or conversely a negative site of fears of losing that identity. Diaspora signals an engagement with a matrix of diversity of cultures, languages, histories, people, places, times. What distinguishes diaspora from some other types of travel is its centripetal dimension. It does not only mean that people are dispersed in different places but that they congregate in other places forming new communities. In such gatherings new allegiances are forged that supplant earlier commitments. New imagined communities arise that not simply substitute old ones but form a hybrid space in between various identifications. This book looks into the ways in which diasporic Indian literature handles these issues. In the context of diaspora there is an imaginative construction of collective identity in the making. That a given diaspora comes to be seen as a community is the result of a process of imagining at the same time creating new marginalities, hybridities and dependencies resulting in multiple marginalizations, hyphenizations and demands for allegiance. The study concentrates on eleven contemporary women writers from the United States and Canada who write on South Asian diasporic experiences. The writers are Ramabai Espinet, Jhumpa Lahiri, Amulya Malladi, Sujata Massey, Bharati Mukherjee, Uma Parameswaran, Kirin Narayan, Anita Rau Badami, Robbie Clippner, Sethi Shauna Singh Baldwin and Vineeta Vijayaraghavan.

Encyclopedic Dictionary of Diasporic Indian English Writing Manju Jaidka, Tej N. Dhar, Natasha Vashisht, 2025-05-15. The Handbook of Diasporic Indian Writing in English is an essential reference to Indian literature. It features alphabetical entries of Indian writers who have bridged the gap between cultures and redefined language boundaries. As the field of diasporic writing continues to expand and intersect with various branches of English and Cultural studies, it anticipates a growing market. It offers a unique and compelling perspective on the global tapestry of literature. It draws on various interdisciplinary approaches including postcolonial theory, cultural studies and digital humanities to offer fresh and innovative perspectives on the literature. It is an indispensable resource for research scholars of literary studies and related disciplines like cultural studies and postcolonial studies.

Diasporic Tastescapes Paula Torreira Pazo, 2016. Diasporic Tastescapes seeks to explore the culinary metaphors present in a selection of Asian American narratives written by a variety of contemporary authors. The intricate web of culinary motifs featured in these texts offers a fertile ground for the study of the real and imaginary histories of the Asian American community, an ethnic minority that has been persistently racialized through its eating habits. Thus, this book examines those literary contexts in which the presence of food images becomes especially meaningful as an indicator of the nostalgia of the immigrant, the sense of community of the diasporic family, the clash between generations and the shocks of arrival and return.

The reading of Asian American edible metaphors from these perspectives will prove particularly revealing in relation to the notions of home identity and belonging all of them mainstays of the diasporic consciousness Series Contributions to Asian American Literary Studies Vol 8 Subject Asian American Literature Literary Criticism Song of the Cuckoo Bird Amulya Malladi,2007-12-18 A sweeping epic set in southern India where a group of outcasts create a family while holding tight to their dreams Barely a month after she is promised in marriage eleven year old orphan Kokila comes to Tella Meda an ashram by the Bay of Bengal Once there she makes a courageous yet foolish choice that alters the fabric of her life Instead of becoming a wife and mother youthful passion drives Kokila to remain at the ashram Through the years Kokila revisits her decision as she struggles to make her mark in a country where untethered souls like hers merely slip through the cracks But standing by her conviction she makes a home in Tella Meda alongside other strong yet deeply flawed women Sometimes they are her friends sometimes they are her enemies but always they are her family Like Isabel Allende Amulya Malladi crafts complex characters in deeply atmospheric settings that transport readers through different eras locales and sensibilities Careening from the 1940s to the present day Song of the Cuckoo Bird chronicles India s tumultuous history as generations of a makeshift family seek comfort and joy in unlikely places and from unlikely hearts From the Trade Paperback edition

Mango Constance L. Kirker,2025-05-15 From the royal Alphonso to the lip smacking Chausa nothing can beat the rush of pleasure from biting into a ripe mango With its endless varieties differing in colour size and flavour the fruit inspires an astounding cultural devotion The mango is the Indian subcontinent s gift to the world its roots in northeast India expanding globally over 60 million years Appearing in the verses of Hindu epics and Ghalib s poetry the food habits of the Harappans and the travelogues of Ibn Battuta the horticultural experiments of Mughal emperors and Jesuit priests the mango has shaped South Asian culture far beyond its culinary uses Its long history is intertwined with European colonization and the transatlantic slave trade even gaining symbolic importance during Mao Zedong s Cultural Revolution and continues to drive innovation in food sustainability and preservation Plunge into the juicy details and surrender to the summery nostalgia of this beloved fruit with Mango A Global History Complete with beautiful illustrations and recipes this is a flavourful journey across epochs of human civilization The Letter Jamuna Devi Advani,2014-05 As I reminisced about my 1940 s childhood days in Jiribam a remote place in the state of Manipur in North East India I couldn t help but scribble all the memories which came flashing back to me like waves on the ocean I have written about those memories in stories in poems and in letter form to my nephew Gojen Some of the names in my stories are fictitious as I reconstruct the stories which I heard from my father and Uncle Chandrahas Also I have included my journal entries since the time I had moved to Canada and later to USA revealing the trials and tribulations I had experienced during that time Also writing is healing no doubt Whatever the resentments I had accumulated during my growing up days about my father or any other individual is now gone permanently from my mind and I am at peace In fact I see the positive sides of all the persons concerned Hence I would like to encourage others who are in similar situations to write and enjoy the healing process When Peacocks Dance Vasanthi Victor, 2003 In these stories there is an interweaving of the past and the present while the main characters women are seemingly engaged in some ordinary pursuit of daily life As in The Long Journey where Kamala is traveling by rail or in the case of Nirmala in The Corner Laundromat Asha waiting to pick up her child outside school in Blessing From Above Uma commuting to work in Silicon Valley in Suburban Mona Lisa the small betrayals or infidelities in their lives whether real or imagined and their effort in surmounting these form the main theme of this collection The stories are short and precise and written in a compelling narrative voice that draws the reader in There are no boundaries here whether it be the U S or India they all celebrate women's lives their trials and tribulations and the heartfelt messages of soul and survival Vasanthi Victor's stories are infused with tastes and textures of India Her ability to transform the mundane and ordinary with her words drew me into her stories and I stayed with her characters through their sorrows their dreams and their victories Amulya Malladi author of A Breath of Fresh Air and The Mango Season The surprises emerge when we realize the skill with which she is able to portray the wide range of characters in her stories short and precise and the narrative voice is fascinating These are the kinds of stories that may become the stitches that keep our lives seamed together from the foreword by Roshni Rustomji Kerns author of The Braided Tongue editor of Living In America and other anthologies
