The White Album By Joan Didion:

The White Album Joan Didion, 1979 First published in 1979 The White Album is a mosaic of the late sixties and seventies It includes among other bizarre artifacts and personalities the dark journeys and impulses of the Manson family a Black Panther Party press conference the story of John Paul Getty's museum the romance of water in an arid landscape and the swirl and confusion of the sixties With commanding sureness of mood and language Joan Didion exposes the realities and dreams of that age of self discovery whose spiritual center was California New York Magazine, 1979-08-13 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy Chevalier, 2012-10-12 This groundbreaking new source of international scope defines the essay as nonfictional prose texts of between one and 50 pages in length The more than 500 entries by 275 contributors include entries on nationalities various categories of essays such as generic such as sermons aphorisms individual major works notable writers and periodicals that created a market for essays and particularly famous or significant essays The preface details the historical development of the essay and the alphabetically arranged entries usually include biographical sketch nationality era selected writings list additional readings and anthologies The Covert Sphere Timothy Melley, 2012-11-15 In December 2010 the U S Embassy in Kabul acknowledged that it was providing major funding for thirteen episodes of Eagle Four a new Afghani television melodrama based loosely on the blockbuster U S series 24 According to an embassy spokesperson Eagle Four was part of a strategy aimed at transforming public suspicion of security forces into something like awed respect Why would a wartime government spend valuable resources on a melodrama of covert operations The answer according to Timothy Melley is not simply that fiction has real political effects but that since the Cold War fiction has become integral to the growth of national security as a concept and a transformation of democracy In The Covert Sphere Melley links this cultural shift to the birth of the national security state in 1947 As the United States developed a vast infrastructure of clandestine organizations it shielded policy from the public sphere and gave rise to a new cultural imaginary the covert sphere One of the surprising consequences of state secrecy is that citizens must rely substantially on fiction to know or imagine their nation's foreign policy The potent combination of institutional secrecy and public fascination with the secret work of the state was instrumental in fostering the culture of suspicion and uncertainty that has plagued American society ever since and Melley argues that would eventually find its fullest expression in postmodernism The Covert Sphere traces these consequences from the Korean War through the War on Terror examining how a regime of psychological operations and covert action has made the conflation of reality and fiction a central feature of both U S foreign policy and American culture Melley interweaves Cold

War history with political theory and original readings of films television dramas and popular entertainments from The Manchurian Candidate through 24 as well as influential writing by Margaret Atwood Robert Coover Don DeLillo Joan Didion E L Doctorow Michael Herr Denis Johnson Norman Mailer Tim O'Brien and many others

Reading Joan Didion Lynn M. Houston, William V. Lombardi, 2009-08-25 This book is a compelling reference guide for book clubs on the work of Joan Didion with summaries of her major works and discussion questions Reading Joan Didion is the ideal way to enter this extraordinary and versatile author's world a world that counts among its citizens burned out hippies cynical and delusional players in the film and music scene and even members of the Charles Manson family In addition to looking closely at major works of fiction Reading Joan Didion also focuses on Didion the essayist critic and founding member of the New Journalism Movement which uses fiction like narrative techniques to go deeper into subjects that traditional objective reporting allows Also covered is the rich screenwriting partnership of Didion and husband John Gregory Dunne and the overwhelming late career success of The Year of Magical Thinking written in the aftermath of Dunne's shocking death and completed just before the author's daughter also passed away unexpectedly

Complicity in American Literature after 1945 Will Norman, 2025-03-10 Complicity in American Literature after 1945 offers a literary and intellectual history of the idea of complicity in the United States proposing a new frame for understanding American literature in the period The term complicity derives etymologically from the Latin complicare which means to fold If one is complicit one is folded into a larger system of social harm over which one has little or no direct control In the period from 1945 to the early 1970s complicity with structural racism became a central concern for American writing and thought as it grappled with the Holocaust colonialism the Vietnam War and racial domination at home in the United States Writers and thinkers grasped complicity both as a social phenomenon to be represented and as a problem threatening to enfold writing itself In addressing complicity intellectuals were obliged to reconsider their social role and to innovate means of literary expression capable of articulating new experiences of guilt and responsibility Complicity in American Literature after 1945 tells the story of that process as it took place across several genres from highbrow short stories to crime fiction and from experimental metafiction to the reportage essays of the New Journalism It argues that the history of racial complicity is inseparable from the history of liberalism and shows how we can make sense of our present preoccupations with complicity by studying its origins in the past

Changing Minds Ann Jurečič, 2023-12-26 In Changing Minds Women and the Political Essay 1960-2000 Ann Jurečič documents the work of five paradigm shifting essayists who transformed American thought about urgent political issues Rachel Carson linked science and art to explain how pesticides threatened the Earth's ecosystems Hannah Arendt redefined evil for a secular age after Eichmann was tried in Jerusalem Susan Sontag's interest in the intersection of politics and aesthetics led her to examine the ethics of looking at photographs of suffering Joan

Didion became a political essayist when she questioned how rhetoric and sentimental narratives corrupted democratic ideals Patricia J Williams continues to write about living under a justice system that has attempted to neutralize race gender and the meaning of history These writers reacted to the stressors of the late twentieth century and in response reshaped the essay for their own purposes in profound ways With this volume Jure i begins to correct the longstanding dearth of scholarly studies on the importance of women and their political essays works that continue to be relevant more than two decades into the twenty first century

When Music Mattered James Wierzbicki,2022-04-27 This book examines the American Sixties and how that period s socio political essence was reflected and refracted in certain forms of the period s music Its five main chapters bear the names of familiar musical categories Folk Rock Jazz Avant Garde Classical But the book s real subject matter treated at length in the Prologue and the Epilogue but spread throughout all that comes between is the Sixties tangled mess of hopes and frustrations of hungers as much for self identity as for self indulgence of crises of conscience that bothered Americans of almost all ages and regardless of political persuasion

A Planetary Lens Audrey Goodman,2021-10 Thomas J Lyon Book Award from the Western Literature Association A Planetary Lens delves into the history of the photo book the materiality of the photographic image on the page and the cultural significance of landscape to reassess the value of print to locate the sites where stories resonate and to listen to western women s voices From foundational California photographers Anne Brigman and Alma Lavenson to contemporary Native poets and writers Leslie Marmon Silko and Joy Harjo women artists have used photographs to generate stories and to map routes across time and place A Planetary Lens illuminates the richness and theoretical sophistication of such composite texts Looking beyond the ideologies of wilderness migration and progress that have shaped settler and popular conceptions of the region A Planetary Lens shows how many artists gather and assemble images and texts to reimagine landscape identity and history in the U S West Based on extensive research into the production publication and circulation of women s photo texts A Planetary Lens offers a fresh perspective on the entangled and gendered histories of western American photography and literature and new models for envisioning regional relations

Through the Window, Out the Door Janis P. Stout,2020-11-10 This informative and provocative study focuses on the centrality of departure in the texts of five major American women novelists An important moment in many novels and poems by American women writers occurs when a central character looks out a window or walks out the door of a house These acts of departure serve to convey such values as the rejection of constraining social patterns the search for individual fulfillment and the entry into the political Janis Stout examines such moments and related patterns of venture and travel in the fiction of five major American novelists of the 20th century Mary Austin Willa Cather Anne Tyler Toni Morrison and Joan Didion Stout views these five writers within a spectrum of narrative engagements with issues of home and departure a spectrum anchored at one end by Sarah Orne Jewett and at the other by Marilynne Robinson whose Housekeeping posits a vision of female transience Through the Window Out the Door ranges over an expansive territory Moving between texts as well as between texts and contexts Stout shows how women writers have envisioned the walls of physical and social structures including genres as permeable boundaries drawing on both a rhetoric of liberation and a rhetoric of domesticity to construct narrative arguments for women's right to move freely between the two Stout concludes with a personal essay on the dilemmas of domesticity and the ambivalence of departure

Vise and Shadow Peter Balakian, 2015-05-06 Peter Balakian is a renowned poet scholar and memoirist but his work as an essayist often prefigures and illuminates all three I think of vise and shadow as two dimensions of the lyric literary and visual imagination he writes in the preface to this collection which brings together essayistic writings produced over the course of twenty five years Vise as in grabbing and holding with pressure but also in the sense of the vise grip of the imagination which can yield both clarity and knowledge Consider the vise grip of some of the poems of our best lyric poets how language might be put under pressure as carbon might be put under pressure to create a diamond And shadow the second half of the title both as noun the shaded or darker portion of the picture or view or perspective partial illumination and partial darkness and as verb to shadow to trail secretly as an inseparable companion or a force that follows something with fidelity to cast a dark light on something a person an event an object a form in nature Vise and Shadow draws into conversation such disparate figures as W B Yeats Hart Crane Joan Didion Primo Levi Robert Rauschenberg Bob Dylan Elia Kazan and Arshile Gorky revealing how the lyric imagination of these artists grips experience shadows history and casts its own type of illumination creating one of the deepest kinds of human knowledge and sober truth In these elegantly written essays Balakian offers a fresh way to think about the power of poetry art and the lyrical imagination as well as history trauma and memory

Literature and the Work of Universality Alice Duhan, Stefan Helgesson, Christina Kullberg, Paul Tenngart, 2024-07-22 In an age of accelerating ecological crises global inequalities and democratic fragility it has become crucial to achieve renewed articulations of human commonality With anchorage in critical theory as well as world literary studies this volume approaches literature and modes of literary thinking as a key resource for such a task Universality is understood here not as an established universalism but as a horizon towards which intellectual inquiry and literary practices orient themselves In the field of world literature there is by now a wide repertoire of epistemological resources through which claims to universality can be both questioned and reconfigured If at one end of the spectrum world literature confronts us with the spectre of homogenisation and the commodification of difference under a regime of global capitalism at another end renewed forms of philological anthropological and ecological attentiveness to the particulars of languages and texts within the crucible of connected histories allow for defamiliarising perspectives both on received historical narratives and aesthetic practices Vernacularity emerges here as a central point of reference for constructing the universal from within the particular the idiomatic and the experiences of social subordination or complicity
