Kohli, Camille Schmoll, 2011 Family related migration is moving to the centre of political debates on migration integration and multiculturalism in Europe It is also more and more leading to lively academic interest in the family dimensions of international migration At the same time strands of research on family migrations and migrant families remain separate from and sometimes ignorant of each other This volume seeks to bridge the disciplinary divides Fifteen chapters come up with a number of common themes Collectively the authors address the need to better understand the diversity of family related migration and its resulting family forms and practices to question if not counter simplistic assumptions about migrant families in public discourses to study family migration from a mix of disciplinary perspectives at various levels and via different methodological approaches and to acknowledge the state's role in shaping family related migration practices and lives Rear cover

The Struggle for Female Suffrage in Europe, 2012-06-07 Whilst scholarship on women's suffrage usually focuses on a few emblematic countries The Struggle for Female Suffrage in Europe casts a comparative look at the articulation of women's suffrage rights in the countries that now make up the political unity in the making we call the European Union The book uncovers the dynamics that were at play in the recognition of male and female suffrage rights and in the definition of male and female citizenship in modern Europe It allows readers to identify differences and commonalities in the histories of women's disenfranchisement and sheds light on the role suffrage has played in the construction of female citizenship in European countries It provides the background against which a new European paradigm of parity democracy is gradually asserting itself

Analysing Social Policy Concepts and Language Daniel Béland, Klaus Petersen, 2014 Social policy scholars and practitioners have long employed concepts such as welfare state and social security but where do these concepts come from and how has their meaning changed over time What characterizes social policy language in different places and how do some social concepts travel between them Addressing such questions in a systematic manner the contributors to this collection analyze the concepts and language used to describe contemporary social policy Combining detailed chapters on particular countries with broader comparative chapters the book offers a variety of perspectives on just what we mean when we use these terms

The Headscarf Debates Anna C. Korteweg, Gökçe Yurdakul, 2014-06-18 The headscarf is an increasingly contentious symbol in countries across the world Those who don the headscarf in Germany are referred to as integration refusers In Turkey support by and for headscarf wearing women allowed a religious party to gain political power in a strictly secular state A niqab wearing Muslim woman was denied French citizenship for not conforming to national values And in the Netherlands Muslim women responded to the hatred of popular ultra right politicians with public appeals that mixed headscarves with in your face humor In a surprising way the headscarf a garment that conceals has also come to reveal the changing nature of what it means to belong to a particular nation All countries promote national narratives that turn historical diversities into imagined commonalities appealing to shared language religion history or political practice The Headscarf Debates explores how the headscarf has become a symbol used to reaffirm or transform these stories of belonging

Anna Korteweg and G k e Yurdakul focus on France Germany and the Netherlands countries with significant Muslim immigrant populations and Turkey a secular Muslim state with a persistent legacy of cultural ambivalence The authors discuss recent cultural and political events and the debates they engender enlivening the issues with interviews with social activists and recreating the fervor which erupts near the core of each national identity when threats are perceived and changes are proposed The Headscarf Debates pays unique attention to how Muslim women speak for themselves how their actions and statements reverberate throughout national debates Ultimately The Headscarf Debates brilliantly illuminates how belonging and nationhood is imagined and reimagined in an increasingly global world The Family and the Nation

Sarah van Walsum,2008-12-18 Until recently migration policies primarily targeted labour migrants and asylum seekers Family migration was taken for granted But now many nations are restricting family migration particularly from poorer countries The Netherlands have even gone so far as to require family migrants to pass an integration test before being allowed to enter the country How can this shift in policies be explained Does it as some suggest indicate a new trend towards racist exclusion This book places family migration policies in the broader perspective of changing family norms In doing so it shows the added value of studying immigration law not as an isolated field but in connection with other fields of law and policy Taking the Netherlands as an example it shows how family migration policies have evolved from a system premised on the male breadwinner citizen s right to domicile to one granting and restricting freedom of movement according to individual merit Although grounded in a different ethos the techniques of power now being used to enforce the emerging distinctions of a globalising world are in fact reminiscent of those once used to enforce the racial and gendered distinctions of the colonial past Solidarity and Justice in Health and Social Care Ruud ter Meulen,Ruud H. J. Meulen,2017-09-07 This book presents a new view on the concept of solidarity and explains how it complements justice in health and social care A Tiny Spot on the Earth Piet Rooy,2025-10-01 In this survey of the Dutch political culture of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Piet de Rooy reveals that the polder model often used to describe economic and social policymaking based on consensus is a myth Instead modern political culture in the Dutch Low Countries began with a revolution and is rife with rivalries among political and ideological factions De Rooy argues that because of its extremely open economy the country is vulnerable to external political cultural and economic pressures and Dutch politics is a balancing act between profiting from international developments and maintaining sovereignty The sudden rise of populism and Euroscepticism at the turn of the millennium then indicated a loss of this balance Shining new light on the political culture of the Netherlands this book provides insights into the polder model and the principles of pillarization in Dutch society The Dutch edition of this book Ons stipje op de wereldkaart was awarded the Prinsjesboekenprijs for the best book on Dutch national politics in 2014 Survey of the Dutch political culture of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries
