The Organisation of the Anthropocene Jorge E. Viñuales, 2018-07-03 In The Organisation of the Anthropocene J. E. Viñuales explores the legal dimensions of the currently advocated new geological epoch called the Anthropocene in which humans are the defining force He examines in this context two basic propositions First law as a technology of social organisation has been neglected in the otherwise highly technology focused accounts by natural and social scientists of the drivers of the Anthropocene Secondly in those rare instances where law has been discussed there is a tendency to assume that the role of law is to tackle the negative externalities of transactions e.g. their environmental or social implications rather than the core of the underlying transactions i.e. the organisation of production and consumption processes

Such focus on externalities fails to unveil the role of law in prompting sustaining and potentially managing the processes that have led to the Anthropocene

Restoring Safe School Communities Brenda Morrison, 2007 Restoring Safe School Communities a whole school response to bullying violence and alienation introduces a whole school approach to addressing the problems of bullying and violence in schools Author Brenda Morrison proposes a continuum of responsive and restorative practices for building safe school communities The first most proactive level of practices aims to develop all students social and emotional competencies to enable students to resolve their differences in caring and respectful ways The second level of practices widens the circle of care around the participants Typically this level of response occurs when the problem has become more protracted or has involved and affected a larger number of people and involves other members of the school community stepping in to assist in the resolution of the conflict or concern The third and final level of practices involves the participation of an even wider cross section of the school community including parents guardians social workers and others who have been affected This tertiary level of intervention is normally only used for serious incidents within the school Morrison explains the thinking behind the suggested responses and shows how they can be implemented by practices such as a responsible citizen program and restorative justice circles and conferences

Real Boys' Voices William S. Pollack, Todd Shuster, 2001-05-01 What real boys have to say A lot of people use words like psycho or wacko to refer to people who are feeling glum or think they might want to take their own life I think these sorts of slang terms create further isolation in a teen and that's not what you want to do to a teen who already feels alone Alexander 18 from a small town in the South A guy is supposed to be strong tall and fast and have the qualities of an ideal athlete At the same time he's supposed to be smart He's expected to be nearly perfect Chandler 14 from a suburb in the Northwest What I hate about this school is that I am being picked on in the halls and just about everywhere else Cody 14 from a suburb in New England In Real Boys Dr William Pollack explored the issues that most boys in our nation face today In this fascinating follow up bestseller Pollack goes right to the source boys ages 10 to 20 evoking the secret struggles and passions of America's adolescent males in their own words Their voices are searingly honest and eager to be heard revealing how society's outdated expectations force them to mask their feelings of isolation depression longing love and hope We hear from boys and young men in big cities and small towns including survivors of the Columbine High School massacre who share compelling extraordinarily candid stories about bullying drugs sports school parents sex love and much more Pollack also offers ways to start a dialog and illustrates through templates what to do in many situations This is an eye opening book for teenage boys and girls but with its insights and strategies for dealing with their issues especially invaluable for all the people in their lives

Sexual Violence on Trial

Rachel Killean, Eithne Dowds, Anne-Marie McAlinden, 2021-02-28 Sexual Violence on Trial provides a contemporary critical examination of the investigation, prosecution and cultural contexts of sexual violence. It draws on Northern Ireland as a case study while also drawing on experiences from other jurisdictions across the United Kingdom and island of Ireland. Public and academic debates concerning the high profile Belfast Rugby Rape Trial and the subsequent Gillen review of the arrangements to deliver justice in serious sexual offence cases have been mirrored at a global level with movements such as MeToo and TimesUp. This book brings together the perspectives of practitioners and academics to discuss contemporary challenges surrounding the societal and legal framing of sexual violence. It examines key aspects of the criminal justice process including the challenges of supporting victims of responding to a range of forms of sexual violence such as rape, peer abuse, intimate partner violence and forced to penetrate cases as well as alternative perspectives and future reforms. It also considers broader debates including balancing the interests of victims and defendants, the impact of cultural myths and stereotypes, the challenges of the digital age, models of consent, legal representation for victims and anonymity and publicity surrounding trials. Written by leading authorities in the field, Sexual Violence on Trial will be of great interest to students and scholars of Criminology, Law and Sociology.
