Teicholz, 2015-12-22 In Kohut Loewald and the Postmoderns Judith Teicholz using the contemporary critique of Kohut and Loewald as a touchstone of inquiry into the current status of psychoanalysis focuses on a select group of postmodern theorists whose recent writings comprise a questioning subtext to Kohut's and Loewald's ideas Acutely aware of the important differences among these theorists Teicholz nonetheless believes that their respective contributions which present psychoanalysis as an interactive process in which the analyst's own subjectivity plays a constitutive role in the joint construction of meanings achieve shared significance as a postmodern critique of Kohut and Loewald She is especially concerned with the relationship both theoretically and technically between Kohut's emphasis on the analyst's empathic resonance with the analysand's viewpoint and affect and the postmodern theorists' shared insistence on the expression of the analyst's own subjectivity in the treatment situation Her analysis incorporates fine insight into the tensions and ambiguities in Kohut and Loewald whose work ultimately emerges as a way station between modern and postmodern viewpoints and her appreciation of Kohut and Loewald as transitional theorists makes for an admirably even handed exposition She emphasizes throughout the various ways in which Kohut and Loewald gave nascent expression to postmodern attitudes but she is no less appreciative of the originality of postmodern theorists who address genuine lacunae in the thought and writings of these exemplars of an earlier generation Teicholz's examination of what she terms two overlapping partial revolutions in psychoanalysis that of Kohut and Loewald on one hand and of the postmoderns on the other throws an illuminating searchlight on the path psychoanalysis has traveled over the last quarter of the 20th century The Gender and Psychology Reader Blythe Clinchy, Julie K Norem, 1998-04 In The Gender and Psychology Reader Blythe McVicker Clinchy and Julie K Norem have culled through a diverse group of readings to provide a wide ranging exploration of both progress made and problems encountered as psychologists grapple with gender The volume includes both classic and contemporary readings drawn from all branches of psychology social developmental personality cognitive history physiological biological as well as from other disciplines including sociology philosophy and anthropology The essays cover a gamut of subjects including epistemological issues the study of difference the embodiment of gender autonomy and connection in relationships and clinical implications A concluding chapter by the editors considers themes that can be traced through the different sections gaps in current perspectives and future directions The Gender and Psychology Reader includes contributions from an array of distinguished scholars from varying methodological and disciplinary backgrounds Among the contributors are Laurel Furumoto Jeanne Marecek Laura S Brown Anne Fausto Sterling Sandra Lipsitz Bem Michelle Fine Joseph H Pleck J G Morawski Daniel A Hart Barrie Thorne and Aida
