Divided Power Emily Grafton,2025-10-06T00:00:00Z Reconciliation as set out by the Truth and Reconciliation Commission is a process of understanding the Canadian state s genocide against Indigenous Peoples and creating a new relationship between Indigenous Peoples and settlers based on mutual respect and dignity Given the racism and paternalism embedded in the Canadian state and related institutions building such a relationship is a monumental task but in addition there is a major structural roadblock in the way federalism the political system that organizes Canadian governance Divided Power argues that Canada s system of federalism rooted in settler colonialism has dispossessed Indigenous Peoples for settler benefit Far from being a neutral balanced way to distribute responsibilities and powers the division between the state and provinces and territories obstructs Indigenous Peoples agency and governance Under such coercive political exclusion how can truth and reconciliation be fully achieved Emily Grafton meticulously traces the ways that federalism limits the potential for reconciliation and proposes alternative power sharing models Guiding readers through the terrain of debate Grafton deftly and accessibly merges a political analysis of federalism with a clear assessment of settler colonialism to argue
