Strategy Mix for Nonprofit Organisations Annette E. Zimmer, Christina Stecker, 2013-03-19 In many countries particularly in continental Europe societies have been plagued by high unemployment for several decades Simultaneously due to recent shifts from industrial to service oriented post industrial societies labor as a significant culture code is increasingly losing importance Because of this the third or voluntary sector as a place of employment and as a service agency to society has become important for Europe as indicated by the 1997

Communication of the European Commission and various declarations by the European Parliament and the EU s Economic and Social Council Strategy Mix for Nonprofit Organizations Vehicles for Social and Labor Market Integration explores the role of the third sector in Europe where unemployment is high and in North America where unemployment is rising and exploring the gaps that the third sector is fulfilling both as a social service and as an employer The volume is organized into two distinctive parts Part 1 The Nonprofit Sector and Social Integration highlights the embeddedness of the sector in selected countries it discusses how the sector is currently affected by changes of public policy particularly in the traditional social democratic welfare state regimes and it draws our attention to the sector's potentials to provide avenues for social integration self actualization and civic empowerment Part 2 Labor Concepts and Market Integration refers to the multifunctionality of third sector organizations discussing potentials of workplace as well as community involvement via nonprofit organizations This seminal volume will be of interest to those in the nonprofit sector organizational management and economics political scientists and other researchers working with nonprofit organizations and civil society studies on an international level

Privatization in Four European Countries Ralph M. Kramer, 2019-07-04 This book has a dual focus on how four countries use voluntary non profit organizations to provide services to the physically mentally and sensorially handicapped and on the changing role of the voluntary or third sector in welfare states At the same time it is also a comparative study of privatization in the special sense of using nongovernmental organizations to implement public policy Most comparative studies of the welfare state have neglected this form of indirect public administration because researchers have usually conceived of government as monolithic and consequently overlook the frequent separation of financing from the delivery of public services

The Ambiguous Embrace Charles L. Glenn, 2002-02-10 This is a time of far reaching change and debate in American education and social policy spurred in part by a rediscovery that civil society institutions are often better than government at meeting human needs As Charles Glenn shows in this book faith based schools and social agencies have been particularly effective especially in meeting the needs of the most vulnerable However many oppose providing public funds for religious institutions either on the grounds that it would threaten the constitutional separation of church and state or from concern it might dilute or secularize the distinctive character of the institutions themselves Glenn tackles these arguments head on He builds a uniquely comprehensive and persuasive case for faith based organizations playing a far more active role in American schools and social agencies And most importantly he shows that they could do so both while receiving public funds and while striking a workable balance between accountability and autonomy Glenn is ideally placed to make this argument A leading expert on international education policies he was for many years the director of urban education and civil rights for the Massachusetts Department of Education and also serves as an Associate Minister of inner city churches in Boston Glenn draws on all his varied experience here as he reviews the policies and practices of governments in the United States and Europe as they have worked with faith based schools and also with such social agencies as the Salvation Army and Teen Challenge He seeks to answer key theoretical and practical questions Why should government make greater use of faith based providers How could they do so without violating First Amendment limits What working relationships protect the goals and standards both of government and of the organizations that the government funds Glenn shows that with appropriate forms of accountability and a strong commitment to a distinctive vision of service faith based organizations can collaborate safely with government to their mutual benefit and that of those they serve This is a major contribution to one of the most important topics in political and social debate today

Private Action and the Public Good Walter W. Powell, Elisabeth S. Clemens, 1998-03-30 Governments around the world are turning over more of their services to private or charitable organizations as politicians and pundits celebrate participation in civic activities But can nonprofits provide more and higher quality services than governments or for profit businesses Will nonprofits really increase social connectedness and civic engagement This book a sequel to Walter W Powell s widely acclaimed The Nonprofit Sector A Research Handbook brings together an original collection of writings that explores the nature of the public good and how private nonprofit organizations relate to it The contributors to this book eminent sociologists political scientists management scholars historians and economists examine the nonprofit sector through a variety of theoretical and methodological lenses They consider the tensions between the provision of public goods and the interests of members and donors in nonprofit organizations They contrast religious and secular nonprofits as well as private and nonprofit provision of child care mental health services and health care And they explore the growing role of nonprofits in the United States France Germany and Eastern Europe the contribution of nonprofits to economic development and the forms and strategies of private action
